LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

FROM TUESDAY'S DAILY, MARCH 27

Everything Done.—In the late case of accidental poisoning of the son of Mr. William R. Scott, at Santaquin, the physician who were applied to by the parents, stated that everything that could be done to save the lad was done, and they could not have operated more intelligently or effectively if they had been present at the time of the occurrence.

A Rotary Boiler.—This morning a large rotary boiler, which arrived in this city on Saturday, was hauled to the new paper mill on Big Cottonwood Creek. It is a mammoth affair, weighing 14,000 pounds, and the only boiler of the kind west of Omaha. It is not designed for use in the propulsion of the mill machinery, as that will be driven by water-power, but is for the purpose of preparing the paper making material.

Progressive.—On a trip to the capital city of Utah county, we are pleased to note the evidences of thrift, in the various towns passed through en-route. Numbers of new residences are erected, which besides having a cosy appearance, are very redeeming features of the non-picturesqueness of the brush and sterile land taken over by the enterprising settlers, and marked by a contrast to the wooden balloon shanties called residences which are common to the primary railroad and mining towns.

Vicious Horses.—Here is something from the Prairie Farmer worthy the attention of persons having the care of horses:

A very simple method and an improvement upon the Raley system of training vicious horses was exhibited at West Philadelphia recently, and the manner in which one of the wildest horses was subdued was astonishing. The first trial was that of a kicking or "balky" mare, which her owner said had allowed no rider on her back for a period of at least five years. She came tame in about as many minutes, and allowed herself to be ridden about without any sign of a former wildness. The means by which the result was accomplished was a piece of light rope which was passed around the front jaw of the mare just above the upper teeth, passed in her mouth, thence secured back of her neck. It was claimed that no horse would kick or jump when thus secured, and that a horse receiving the treatment a few days, will abandon his vicious ways forever.

Examination Concluded.—The pending Roach-Donnelly shooting case was at last concluded, so as the Justice's Court was convened, to-day. R. M. Pyper was the only eye-witness of the affray, and he was the principal, who was the stand. His testimony substantially sustained the statement made by Donnelly, the prosecuting witness. It was to the effect that the night of February 28th, as Donnelly and Davis were walking on the east side of West Temple street, Roach approached from behind and a scuffle ensued, the latter throwing Donnelly to the ground, and then firing his pistol on him, and threatening to kill him if he attempted to move. On Donnelly attempting to get up Roach fired a second shot from the sidewalk to the street. Both the parties then fired simultaneously, and Roach was quickly across the street and behind a tree, in front of the Continental Hotel. In the meantime Cass Davis had left his comppanion in the beginning of the affray, having entered an adjoining alley, and disappeared.

Roach was held to answer to the grand jury in the sum of $300, and Donnelly was held in his own recognizance in the sum of $200 to appear as a witness in the case in the District Court.

Provo Points.—The present year will add very much to the appearance of Provo City, in the completion of several large buildings, work on two of which has already been commenced. We refer to the new Tabernacle and the elegant bank block. The new Tabernacle will be erected on the same square or block and immediately south of the present Tabernacle, to be constructed of red brick with white sandstone ornate facings and water table, on a black rock foundation. W. H. Folger, of Mantel, is the architect. The design embodies desirable improvements and has four octagon shaped corner towers, the recesses of which will afford space for the stair approaching to a gallery running all around the inside of the building, and permitting egress and ingress without interfering with the entrances to the lower part of the building, which otherwise will be very similar internally to the Assembly Hall in this city. The outside dimensions of the building will be 165 feet by 64 feet, with a seating capacity of over 3,000, somewhat larger than our Assembly Hall. It is contemplated to have the structure reared and roofed in before next winter, a considerable quantity of building material being already on the ground. It will undoubtedly be a fine building, of which the Provo people will have good reason to be proud.

The bank building, will be erected on the southeast corner of the block directly north of the Tabernacle square, and comprises the premises for the use of the First National Bank of Provo, and a store on the west side of it, the latter being put up by A. O. Smoot, Esq. The two buildings are one continuous design, by Architect John H. Burton, of this city. Red brick, with stone window sills, caps and cornices, surmounted by a neat balustrade along the front of the roof, go to make up a very effective and imposing appearance. The upper rooms are designed to be used as offices, etc. The cellar excavations are completed, and mason work is expected to commence right away.

Death of Elder Solomon Mack.

Patriarch John Smith has been applied, by letter, from Mrs. Adaline R. Mack, of Gilsam, N. H., of the death at that place, of her husband, Solomon Mack, cousin to the Prophet Joseph Smith. The cause of his demise was pneumonia, from which he suffered severely for nine days, and expired on the 30th of last January. Although not gathered with the Saints he took a deep interest in the affairs of the work, and with that object in view, was a regular subscriber to the News. Before expiring he expressed implicit faith in a risen Redeemer and was reconciled to meet death.

At the time of his demise deceased was aged 77 years 3 months and 8 days, having been born at Gilsam, N. H., on May 23rd, 1805. He was the son of Solomon Mack (brother to the Prophet's mother) and Esther Hayward. He was married to Adaline Knight Sept. 22nd 1829. He was baptized June 12th, 1841 by Eli P. Maginnis and confirmed by the latter and Ormus Bates; ordained a Teacher by Elder Austin Cowles, Feb. 17th 1842; April 30th, 1843 he was ordained a Priest under the hands of Wm. Hyde and Charles A. Adams; Feb. 10th, 1849 he was ordained an Elder, under the hands of Brigham Young, Jesse O. Little and L. W. Hardy. On Dec. 25th, 1856, he was ordained a High Priest by President John Taylor and Elder N. H. Felt.

FROM WEDNESDAY'S DAILY, MARCH 28

Locomotive Cylinders.—The first two broad-gauge locomotive cylinders made in Utah were cast at the Utah Central Railway Foundry, the last one being made on Saturday. They are for the new locomotive now being built at the railway shops; weight 1,800 pounds; bore 17 inches.

Implemental War.—Mr. Mattison has accepted Mr. Warnock's challenge for a trial of the respective plows sold by them. Since war has been declared hostilities may be expected to begin at any moment. It is to be hoped the plowshares will not yet be beaten into spears, but it appears certain that some one of these implements is likely to be badly beaten. See advt.

Salt Lake and Denver.—Officials of the Denver and Rio Grande R. R. in this city state that they know of no reason to prevent through freight trains running between Salt Lake and the capital of Colorado on or about the 1st of April, and passenger trains shortly afterwards, as the road will be completed between those two important points by that time. There is some talk of celebrating the finishing of the road by an excursion from both ends of the line at an early day.

Home Enterprise.—Wm. Devey & Son, of Alpine, Utah County, having for some time past been successful in the manufacture of iron chains, have now added another branch to their business—that of making tubular iron wheel-barrows. The barrows have their own patented improvements of steel spokes to the wheels, strengthening braces, and improved shape, and are pronounced the equal of any made elsewhere. They make several sizes for use of smelters, mines, factories, and for domestic purposes.

Farewell.—Mr. Phil. Robinson, the brilliant journalist, who has made many warm friends in Utah by his outspoken and intelligent expressions of the true situation of Utah affairs, combined with his affable and courteous manners, expected to leave for the East this afternoon, but it was not improbable that his departure would be delayed till to-morrow morning. He goes direct to New York, where he will be joined by his wife, and from thence proceed direct to England. He anticipates before long taking a trip to China and Japan. On his journey back to England from those portions of the world he will travel via San Francisco, and may possibly call this way. We wish him success.

Plans of Competitors.—In answer to the invitation of the City Council, requesting plans for the improvement of public parks, seven were sent in for Liberty Park, premium $100, Don C. Young successful competitor; Washington Square 3 plans, premium $20, Wm. Hedges successful competitor; Tenth Ward Square, 2 plans, premium $20, Chas. S. Wilkes, son of Major Wilkes, successful competitor; Pioneer Square, (Old Fort) 2 plans, premium $10, Wm. R. Jones successful competitor.

All the successful competitors are young men. All of the plans submitted possessed a high degree of merit, in point of taste, ingenuity and artistic design and execution.

The Remains of a Man.—A few days ago we published the fact of the remains of a man having been found near Clear Lake, Millard Co., by a lad named William Crockwell. In accordance with the notification sent him by Dr. J. D. M. Crockwell, Coroner James McMahon assisted by the doctor, his son and Mr. Peter Woolsey, gathered up the bones and buried them under a cedar tree. In the pockets of the clothing were found a copy of the Ogden Times of Jan. 2nd, 1879, and an envelope on which was the post mark of Blackhawk, Col. It also had on it the address of John Nolan, Denver City, Colorado. The articles now named, the clothing together with the watch and chain and the six dollars found at the time the remains were discovered, were placed in the custody of the Coroner.

Plans for Improvement.—Considerable public interest has been manifested regarding the plans for the improvement of public parks of the city, especially those in relation to Liberty Park. Some of those furnished by competitors for the premium offered by the City Council are splendid specimens of art and ingenuity, and as many people would doubtless be delighted to have the opportunity of viewing them, it has been suggested that they be placed in some part of the City Hall, where they would be accessible to the public, that they may be open to general inspection for a few days. The suggestion is worth consideration. The only apparent obstacle is that those who were unsuccessful might not wish to exhibit their designs. As they are splendid specimens, we see no reason why they should object.

Probable Fatal Affray.—The Ogden Herald states that on Tuesday night, on Lower Fourth Street, five tramps quarrelled. From bluster they got to blows, and in the fracas one of the drunken rowdies received two gashes on the upper part of the left arm and a fearful stab wound in the lower part of his body, just above the pubic bone. The wounded man falling to the ground, where he lay groaning with pain, the other four fellows ran off; but shortly after two returned and took him to Dr. A. S. Condon who lent all the surgical assistance in his power. Meanwhile the police officers had got wind of the affair, and they appeared on the scene, arresting the two tramps referred to and setting out in search of the other two, whom they soon found, hidden in a ditch, one with his head bleeding from a severe blow with a rock. His wounds were attended to, and the four fellows were then marched off to the city jail.

The man who was stabbed is fatally wounded. His age is twenty-two years, and his name is given as William Henry.

Forest Fires.—Since Dec. 1st, a Mr. Thomas, representing the land office department at Washington, has been in the Territory. His special business is to ascertain what steps can be taken for the prevention of forest fires, so destructive to the timber of the West. In pursuance of his investigations he has been pretty generally over Utah, and has discovered that most of the fires started in the mountain fastnesses are the result of criminal negligence or carelessness, and occasionally of design, and that two classes are responsible for most of them—tramps or "cowboys," and hunting parties, and occasionally people camping out in the mountains engaged in ordinary pursuits are, through lack of caution, the cause of starting destructive conflagrations in the timbers.

It is found also that parties in different places are guilty of infringements of the law which forbids the cutting down, for any purposes whatever, of timbers less than eight inches in diameter.

It is to the interest of the Territory that the timber should be protected and preserved especially in view of the fact that it is already none too plentiful in this region. The young trees should be allowed to remain and develop as they are not only the source of future supplies, but serve to hold the snow in the mountain passes, and thus are a means of preserving a water supply for the agricultural lands below. It is to be hoped that Mr. Thomas will receive all the assistance from the people that they can render him, as the accomplishment of the object of his mission is necessarily local in its beneficial effects.

Lady Notaries.

Editor Deseret News:

In your Monday evening's paper an article appeared under the heading of "A Lady Notary" stating that the appointment of Miss Mary Greenwood, of American Fork, was the "first instance so far as you could recollect, of a lady receiving an appointment of that character." In the year 1874, two ladies, Miss Joan M. Campbell and Miss C. Georgianna Snow were elected Notaries Public for Salt Lake County by the Legislative Assembly of that year.

Very Respectfully,

In countries where malaria is prevalent, or where the climate is subject to sudden changes—should be found in every house Brown's Iron Bitters.

If every individual and every family would bestow a tithe of the care requisite in any ordinary attack of acute disease, in striving to prevent and ward off its attacks, there would rarely be any use for calling in the aid of the physician. In all ordinary derangements of the stomach, bowels, liver or kidneys, you need only a few doses of Emil Freese's Hamburg Tea.

THE TESTIMONY OF A PHYSICIAN.

James Beecher, M. D., of Sigourney, Iowa, says for several years I have been using a Cough Balsam, called Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and in almost every case throughout my practice I have had entire success. I have used and prescribed hundreds of bottles ever since the days of my army practice (1863), when I was surgeon of Hospital No. 7, Louisville, Ky.
