Therefore, the treatment of the bill in the Senate was much ado about nothing. The said of republicants for reform of the civil service seemed to result from death-bed repents ance, brought about not by hatred of their sins, but by fear that they would not be allowed to indulge in them much longer; and the democrats were soothing the sufferings of the death-bed with the exthetic gruellof politics. Who had swer heard of "any political scandal occurrings among the lower grade clerks? They were not the public officials who figured in star route or whisky ring transactions. Yet this bill propose BATES, REED & COOLEY, important and jointenance of these poor minor officials, leaving the strong, arrogant, corrupt higher officers undisturbed.
