A DECISION OF VAST IMPORTANCE

It Was Rendered in Spokane by United States Judge Whitson.

WATER FOR IRRIGATION.

Case in Which Montana Claimed a Prior Right Over Wyoming—Suit Brought by Ranchmen.

(Special to the "News.")

Cheyenne, Wyo., May 22.—A decision of vast importance to the users of water for irrigation in Wyoming was rendered in Spokane a few days ago by United States Judge Edward Whitson in a suit brought by the ranchmen of Sage creek, in Big Horn county, Wyoming, against appropriators in Montana. Sage creek rises in southern Montana, crosses the line and flows into the Stinkingwater river in Big Horn county. The Montana appropriators claimed a prior right to the water by virtue of the fact that the stream had its source in their state. The evidence showed that W. A. Morris and T. N. Howell appropriated water from Sage creek three or four years prior to the appropriation of S. N. Bean and others in Montana. The diversion of water to the Bean and other Montana ranches used almost the entire flow of Sage creek and cut the Wyoming men short, hence the suit.

The decision was in effect that Morris and Howell had prior rights to the waters of Sage creek, regardless of the fact that the contending parties are in different states. The decision is a big victory for Wyoming people. In commenting on the case Judge Whitson said:

"A riparian owner on the Mississippi river might seek to join the diversion of the waters of Sage creek in Montana because the waters of Sage creek eventually reach the Missouri river, and through that stream flow into the Gulf of Mexico."

The Sage creek situation exists in southern Albany county, in Uinta county, this state, and the Kansas-Colorado water suit is very similar. The users of water from the Laramie river, or rather from Sand creek, a tributary, which rises in Colorado, contend that they have the prior right to the waters of Sand creek for the reason they appropriated some years prior to the appropriation by Colorado users, and the Albany county ranchmen feels that when the final decision comes, it will be the same as that of Judge Whitson in the Sage creek case.

MEETING OF YOUNG FAMILY.

There will be an important meeting of the Young family held at the Lion hotel, Wednesday evening, May 23, at 8 o'clock. B. MORRIS YOUNG, President.

A YEAR OF BLOOD.

The year 1903 will long be remembered in the home of F. N. Tackett, of Alliance, Ky., as a year of blood; which proved so costly to Mr. Tackett's lungs that death seemed very near. He writes: "Severe bleeding from the lungs and a frightful cough had brought me at death's door, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, with the astonishing result that after taking four bottles I was completely restored and as time has passed I have been able to do all my usual work." More MOUNT'S PARK & Beans being sold every day. More people have been trying it lately. Try some yourself.

NOT IF AS RICH AS ROCKEFELLER.

If you had all the wealth of Rockefeller, the Standard Oil magnate, you could not buy a better medicine for bowel complaints than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The most eminent physician can not prescribe a better preparation for colic and diarrhoea, both for children and adults. The uniform success of this remedy has shown it to be superior to all others. It never fails, and when reduced with water and sweetened is pleasant to take. The family should be supplied with it. Sold by all druggists.

AMUSEMENTS.

Orpheum—The opening performance of "The Girl I Left Behind Me," to be presented by the Orpheum stock company, has been postponed until tomorrow's matinee. In explanation of this Manager M. J. says, "everybody is up in their line and we could put the drama on tonight, but two of my leading people got here late, and I do not intend to run any chances. I would much rather wait for some receipts, than to present anything but a perfect production. The public is entitled to the best we have and will get it, and those who have bought seats for tonight can change them for some other night, or get their money back if they desire. I have promised the best stock company and presentations that Salt Lake has ever had, and the goods will be delivered tomorrow afternoon."

Grand—"Knobs O' Tennessee" was witnessed by a large and enthusiastic audience at the Grand last night. The play is a melodrama, founded on southern life, and abounds in the thrilling scenes that characterize the haunts of "moonshiners." Whit Brandon, as Joe Preston, the brave, big-hearted and typical man of color, is a real success. He was cast in a role entirely suited to his abilities, while Miss Tucker, as Madeline Bailey, the city-bred girl who loves the rough mountaineer, and for her love sacrifices her time and even her large fortune, enacted her part so well that she won most hearty applause time and again. The support throughout was good, with very few exceptions. The play is on for tonight and tomorrow night, with the usual Wednesday matinee. Thursday evening the "Pearl of Savoy" will be played for the first time in Salt Lake for a generation.

Casino Park—One of the largest openings that any summer resort has ever had in Salt Lake is predicted for the new Casino park tomorrow night. The improvements are rapidly nearing completion, and everything will be in readiness for the opening. The seating capacity now is over 1,500, the front part of the house being laid out in a large dining hall, and the billiard and billiard box parties will probably be in "fad" as the season advances. The first show promises to be an attractive one, as under A. M. Zinn's careful eye no detail is overlooked. The bill each week will be of a refined and clever order, and every effort will be made to make the Casino a popular resort all summer for the men, women and children alike. The opening of the Casino will be a week; the first entertainment is styled "Peczy-Wezy," or "A Trip to the Trail." The second week "The Mascot," one of the standard comic operas, will be given.

SCIATICA CURED AFTER TWENTY YEARS OF TORTURE.

For more than twenty years Mr. J. B. Nassey, of 322 Clinton St., Minneapolis, Minn., was tortured by sciatica, the pain and suffering which he endured during this time is beyond comprehension. Nothing gave him any permanent relief until he used Chamberlain's Pain Balm. One application of that Balm relieved the pain, and after a few more applications he was free from the disease. He has been a permanent cure. Mr. Nassey relates his experience for the purpose of showing that the balm is a sure remedy for sciatica and rheumatism which no other remedy will cure.
