GILLET'S
FLAVORING
EXTRACTS.
 PURE AND DELICATE.

"Words and their Uses."

From Richard Grant White's new volume bearing the above title, we quote a few paragraphs, showing a nice sense of discrimination, founded on practical views of the subject:

Aggravate. This word should never be employed in reference to persons, as it means merely to add weight to—to make an evil more oppressive; injury is aggravated by insult. It is sometimes improperly used in the sense of irritate, as, "I was much aggravated by his conduct."

Balance, in the sense of rest, remainder, residue, remnant, is an abomination. Balance is metaphorically the difference between two sides of an account—the amount which is necessary to make one equal to the other. * *
 Yet we continually hear of the balance of this or that thing; even the balance of a congregation—of an army.

Bountiful is applicable only to persons. A giver may be bountiful, but his gift cannot—it should be called plentiful, or large. "A bountiful slice" is absurd.

Fetch expresses a double motion; first from and then toward the speaker. It is exactly equivalent to "go and bring," and ought not to be used in the sense of bring alone.

Calculate, besides its sectional misuse for think, or suppose, is sometimes in the participle form calculated, put for likely, or apt:—"That nomination is calculated to injure the party." It is calculated (designed) to do no such thing, though it may be likely to.

Citizen should not be used except when the possession of political rights is meant to be applied. Newspaper reporters have a bad habit of bring it out on all occasions when "persons,"
 "man," or "bystander," would express their meaning much better.

Couple applies to two things which are bound together or united in some way. "A couple of apples" is incorrect; two apples is meant.

Dirt means filth; and is not synonomous with earth or soil. Yet people sometimes speak of a dirt road, or of packing dirt around the roots of trees they are setting. They mean earth.

Execute. When a murderer is hanged, his sentence is executed, the man is not. A man cannot be executed—that is, followed out or performed.

Expect looks always to the future.
 You cannot expect that anything has happened or is happening; but only that it will happen.

Get means to obtain, not to possess:
 "He has got all the numbers of the Country Gentleman;" "Have you got good molasses?" "They have got good manners." Why will people persist in introducing the word in such sentences as these, where it is so evidently superfluous?

Help Meet. An abusive use of these two words, as if they together were the name of one thing—a wife—is too common. The sentence in Genesis is:— "I will make him an help meet for him."—i. e., a help fit for him. There is no such word as helpmeet.

Lie-Lay. Persons not grossly ignorant sometimes say they will lay (meaning lie) down, that they have laid (lain) an hour or that the hammer is laying (lying) by the tacks. Lie means to recline; its past tense lay—"I lay there all that night;" its participles, lying and lain. Lay (used of present time) means to put something down—one lays a carpet; its past is laid—"I was interrupted while laying it and it was not laid until night."

Love rules the heart, not the stomach.
 You love your wife, or ought to; but favorite articles of food you like.

Observe should not be used for say, as in the oft-heard sentence, "What did you observe?"

Sit, often mispronounced set, is occasionally written so, but is to be hoped rarely.

A FINE PLACE FOR A CAMP MEETING.— The Council Bluffs Nonpareil, gives the following description of the conduct of a portion of its citizens, on a recent Sunday, which makes one think that Council Bluffs would be an excellent place for a religious camp meeting:

"Toward evening loads of beastly drunkards, uttering such obscene and blasphemous language as would make Old Harry squeal upon his gridiron, drove by the residences of our most respectable citizens in a most debased state of intoxication, and shouting at the tops of their voices language unmentionable to ears polite. Toward the middle of the afternoon a crowd of disreputable females—some of them on horseback and half nude—were riding, and driving, and prowl to and from beer gardens and carrying on in a manner disgraceful even among the wildest barbarians of the Hindoos."
