Editor News: It is remarkable how quickly one man will take the advantage of the absence of another to question his veracity. "Riordon lied!" shouted ex-Gov. W. J. McConnell of Idaho, discussing an interview in the "News," and every word printed was correct. Mr. Riordon left for British Columbia before the morning paper containing Mr. McConnell's assertion was printed. He has had no chance to was printed. He has had no chance to answer. The gentieman and twice-governor of Idaho refers to the para-graph which quotes Mr. Riordon (and it is correct) as saying, "I know that no miners' union nor sensible miners have sanctioned crime or crimes." Then he goes on to describe the riors participated in by the Coaur the riots participated in by the Coeu d'Alene miners during the trouble there. He did not mention the fact that "ne-gro" soldiers were brought in to shoot down men. What white man will subdown men. What white man will sub-init to the arcogance of a negro? But does Mr. McConnell mean 'to tell us shat the miners and miners' union looked upon the rloting with favor; that the blood shed and injury done pleased them? I will not use Mr. Mc-Connell's words and shout 'Llar!' He is mistaken. Mr. Riordon's statement still stands. Because he came along with a good word for the workingmen with whom he associates and of whom he is a leader. Mr. McConnell sits up and shouts "Liar." Mr. Riordon spoke homestly and meant every word; years honestly and meant every word; years of constant association with the work-ing classes enable him to speak from the view of one who knows

PAT A PUBLIC ENTERTAINER.

Latest Attraction a Swamp at Intersection of First South and Sixth East

A new and delightful summer resort has been found-it is known as the American Party summer resort, the American Party summer resolu-and the location is at the intersection of Sixth East and First South streets. Thanks to that most delightful pur-veyor of public pleasure. Pat Moran, the entire intersection has been as the entire intersection has been as though a car of dynamite had axplod-ed there, and a great hole torn in the roadway, very much after the style of the impromptu excavation at Eeck's Hot Springs on a recent ex-traordinary occasion. Water from the streets above has run in there, only to become stagnant, turn green and make the entire neighborhood smell worse than a New Jersey swamp. The make the entire neighborhood smell worse than a New Jersey swamp. The residents are up and in arms over the nuisance, and propose moving en column on the city council and the city board of health for relief. In ad-dition to the auisance of the stagnant water, the street car tracks are of the elevated kind because of the deep ditches on either side, and step ladders would be a convenience in getting on or off the cars. Residents say they have suffered under this burden for three or four months, and wonder if it isn't about time for re-lief.

much needed rest and change. As the much needed rest and change. As the recording cierks took down the number of the tickets winning prizes at the time of the drawing, the making of a few mistakes could hardly have been avoided. Moreover, in setting up the lists on the machines, further mistakes were made, and in passing through the hands of proof readers, and attempts at correction afterwards, the liability to yet further errors was by no means les-sened. But the purchasers of tickets can not be made to understand this and the wrong parties with the right numbers are hurrying into the chamber of commerce asking Secretary Perkes for their prizes, and don't understand at all how they can be mistaken. The fact that their numbers are in print is, to their minds prima facie evidence that they have won certain prizes, and they want them. Secretary Perkes is having hard lines and troublous times in trying to ex-plain that they did not win prizes, and recording clerks took down the number
