

GOVERNOR'S DAY HELD AT PROVO

Notable Gathering at Brigham Young University in the Garden City.

TRIBUTE PAID TO SCHOOL.

Visiting Party is Met and Welcomed by Mayor Decker and Other Officials.

(Special to the "News.")
Provo, May 21.—This is Governor's day at the Brigham Young University, and it is being celebrated with great enthusiasm on the part of old and young. The governor and party, consisting of Governor William Spry, General and Mrs. Wedgwood, Colonel A. P. Kesler, Colonel and Mrs. Booth and daughter, Colonel and Mrs. Wright and daughter, Colonel and Mrs. Badger, Colonel Daynes and Colonel and Mrs. Lund, arrived at 9:45 this morning. They were welcomed by Mayor Decker and George H. Brimhall, chairman of the committee, who is also president of the B. Y. U. faculty. They were then escorted to the university, being greeted on the way by about 4,000 school children, who were lined upon the streets.

On reaching the university the party was taken to College hall, where about 1,000 students were assembled to witness the exercises. The guests were seated on the stand, and as soon as this was done the whole audience rose and sang "America" under the leadership of Prof. A. C. Lund. The invocation was offered by Prof. A. Osmond, which was followed by a vocal selection by the B. Y. U. choir.

President George H. Brimhall then delivered the address of welcome, in the course of which he said that the faculty and students represented 45 states in the union and two foreign countries. They also represented the leading institutions of America and Europe.

GOVERNOR INTRODUCED.

President Robert Robertson of the student body then made a few remarks after which Governor Spry was introduced by President Brimhall. The governor expressed his appreciation of the good work that is being done by the men and women who have graduated from the B. Y. U., and who are an honor to the institution. He also spoke of the adversity and trials through which the institution had struggled, and paid high compliments to Dr. Mauser, the first president of the institution. He praised the students for their work in beautifying the grounds, and referred to the changed feeling of the people of the east and west towards Utah. He also spoke of the splendid work now being done by Senator Smoot in the senate, where he is recognized as a great authority on the tariff question. He referred to conversation with a gentleman on his last trip east, who told him that he considered there was no one in the senate better able to fill the position of secretary of the treasury than Senator Smoot, who is also a graduate of the B. Y. U. He also spoke in terms of praise of Senator Sutherland, who is also an alumnus of this institution, and others who are filling honorable positions in the field of endeavor at home and abroad.

After a selection by the B. Y. U. band, Gen. Wedgwood made a number of humorous remarks which put the audience in extreme good humor, ending with a serious talk on the value of education in accomplishing the world's work.

The guests were then taken through all the departments of the school, ending with a visit to the domestic science department, where a substantial feast was provided.

This afternoon the party is being taken to the B. Y. U. farm, which was donated by "Uncle" Jesse Knight. This evening a grand ball will be given in the college gymnasium.

FREIGHT TRAIN MILE LONG.

Record Established for Canyon Road on Union Pacific.

(Special to the "News.")

One of the longest freight trains that has ever run into Ogden on the Union Pacific railroad arrived yesterday forenoon. The train had 90 cars and was a few hundred feet short of being a mile in length. Under the perfect control of the engineer and the train crew the big train was brought down the hill through Weber canyon. The sending of such a large train over the road was made as an experiment which has proven satisfactory.

Frequently trains containing from 80 to 100 cars are sent west over the Southern Pacific across the lake and to Montello as there is comparatively no grade whatever. In the past few months the Harriman officials have been giving their freight trains greater tonnage than ever before and for this purpose are having engines of greater capacity built. Two locomotives of this new class passed through Ogden last Sunday en route to Sparks, Nevada, and will be used on trains over the Sierra Nevada mountains.

Clara Orsel Says She Was Deserted Just Before Son Was Born.

Charging her husband, John Orsel, with being an idle, dissolute and intemperate person, Mrs. Clara E. Orsel seeks a divorce in a complaint filed this morning in the Third district court. They were married on July 2, 1904 in Salt Lake and have two children, Paul, 2-years-old and Chester, 1-year-old. About a month before their last child was born, Orsel left her penniless, she alleges, and since that time has failed to provide for her. Several times in their married life Orsel has deserted her for months at a time and she has been compelled to live on the charity of her friends, she says.

DISTRICT COURT NOTES.

W. B. Loebe filed suit in the Third district court this morning against A. Scott Chapman and Sarah A. Chapman to foreclose a mortgage given as security on two promissory notes for $3,000. The notes were executed on August 1, 1907 and became due in one year.

Thomas Zorzi instituted suit in the Third district court this morning against the Newhouse Mines & Smelter company to recover $1,000 for personal injuries. It is alleged in the complaint that while Zorzi was working on the 400-foot level that the roof caved in upon him and discharged a blast which he was tampering. He was injured by the flying debris.

John Dubel, the tailor, who squandered several thousand dollars in promoting baseball leagues, was committed to the state mental hospital this morning by Judge Armstrong upon the recommendation of the lunacy commission. The charges were preferred by Mrs. Anna L. Dubel, his wife, who testified that he had practically thrown away his fortune in business enterprises. Dubel is possessed by the hallucination that somebody is whistling at him.

Austrian Miner Weds Bride His Mother Sent Across Sea

Her face beaming with happiness over the prospect of marrying her true love, whom she never had seen, Mary Draznovich, a healthy and beautiful young Bohemian girl, stepped off the train yesterday afternoon into the arms of her intended husband, George Karlich, a miner from Bingham. There was joy in her heart and gladness in his eyes when the meeting took place, and for which they had both been preparing for several weeks.

It was like this: Several years ago George quit his Austrian home and came to America to seek his fortune. The town where he lived was thickly populated and work was scarce and labor was poorly paid. Conferring with his mother, to whom he had always been a dutiful son, George gathered up a few belongings, shouldered his pack and with enough Austrian florins in his pocket to pay for a steerage passage, he made his way to America, the land of the free and the home of the foreigner. Drifting westward, George finally found himself in Utah, and following scores of his countrymen, secured employment in the mines at Bingham. Here, with the memory of his mother ever before him, George labored faithfully and manfully, and after a few years, was able to materially assist his mother with little money contributions in return for her kindness to him.

Time went on, and George continued to save money. He had come to man's estate, and yearned for a bride. Pondering his "shack" on the side hill and his hard-earned savings from his labors in the mine. Like the dutiful son he was, he consulted with his mother on the all-important subject, and in reply to a long communication in which the desires of his heart were poured out he received the information that his wishes had been complied with, and his mother had selected a bride for him, and she would be dispatched to America on the next steamer.

Time elapsed and the happy day of her arrival approached, with increasing anxiety on the part of George, who was waiting for his bride. Finally, as above recorded, the train bearing his own true swarthy love arrived at the Salt Lake station, and then the happy couple were joined in the bonds of wedlock.

Karlich and his bride will live at Bingham, where he has a "shack," and there they will continue to labor and save enough to have gathered to send for the mother, when the happiness of this Austrian family will be complete.

Plans of the building are in the hands of the bishop's office and those who desire may call and inspect them. There are in all 130 rooms in the building, all of which have outside light.

The excavation contract for the new addition to Z. C. M. has been let to R. E. Hildison, of Hildison, W. H. Bywater, who bought the old building, is finishing his work today by the removal of the wall of the old building and the place immediately west of the shoe factory. The building committee of the new Commercial club building decided yesterday afternoon to cut out one of the private diningrooms in the new building and to have a library instead. This place will be a place for the valuable books the club already has, which are stored away in the basement, and provide for the enlargement of the list in the future which is desired by many of the members.
