Great Damage Done By a Cloudburst In Arizona.

A BILL AGAINST A CORPSE!

Peachday Celebration in Colorado—A Daring and Successful Robbery.

The Idaho penitentiary garden is said to have produced the prize watermelon. It weighs 42½ pounds.

The Salmon City (Idaho) Recorder says Albert Shields, of Leesburg, had his skull crushed by a stranger who was going to Yellow Jacket to start a saloon. Shields was struck with a rock. There seemed to be little chance for the recovery of Lee Robinson.

Two hundred and fifty carloads of Arizona cattle have been ordered for Chas. Sprecklis's ranch. Mr. Sprecklis had been on Van Ness avenue, the fashionable thoroughfare to San Francisco, says the Albuquerque Citizen. Orders for the Topeka hospital are expected. Quarrymen to the number of forty are now required, it being necessary to advertise for them.

To realize the damage done at Fairbank last week by the cloudburst, says the Sulphur Valley (Ariz.) News, it is really necessary to view the scene of destruction. The devastating torrent swept through the town, filling cellars and lower floors of the buildings with muddy water, causing serious loss to household goods, etc., beyond conception. The railroad tracks were covered with mud, in many instances to a depth of two feet or more.

For some time past letters have been missed from communities tributary to the postoffice at Greeley, Colo., and officers have been on the lookout for the guilty party. On Tuesday Officer Camp saw a young man named C. F. Duval opening several of the boxes. The officer at once arrested him and lodged him in the county jail. Upon the person of the accused were found two letters addressed to District Attorney Garrigues. Duval confessed that he had been wabangled in the practice for several months past.

H. B. "Shorty" Allen is again in Boise, says the Statesman. "Shorty" has had some exciting experiences during his absence from the city. He was an active participant in the Colorado mining war, serving as a deputy sheriff. During the initial engagement at Altman he was shot and seriously wounded. He was one of those who was taken to in the dregs not when the officials were endeavoring to find somebody to prosecute for the Tarsney affair. He was promptly discharged.

The committee in charge of the Peach day celebration, which takes place at Grand Junction, Colo., on the 11th of this month, are busily at work perfecting arrangements for the public exercises and the entertainment of the thousands of visitors who are expected. Cottonwood park, a beautiful plot of several acres in the heart of the city, is being utilized as a site for the pavilions in which the guests will partake of the county's hospitality. The immense arbor is being built in the midst of the trees about which will have a seating capacity of nearly 5,000.

One of the most daring and successful robberies ever perpetrated in Ouray county, Colo., took place about 1 o'clock on Monday morning at Ridgway. Three men entered the saloon of P. Martinelli and held him up for about $100 in cash and a gold watch. There were likewise four other men engaged in a game of cards at the time in the saloon and they were relieved of their cash and other valuables, including two gold and two silver watches. Mr. Martinelli also lost two valuable Persian bloodhounds, which were shot by the robbers, who made good their escape. No clew has yet been found of the men.

Mrs. Margaret McNamara attended the wake of her brother-in-law, James O'Mara, with the result that next morning she occupied a prominent position in the San Francisco police court, charged with disturbing the peace. According to the statement of the officer who made the arrest, the wake was exceedingly lively for a time, and it was only with difficulty and the combined endeavors of mourners present that Mrs. McNamara was prevented from dragging the corpse out of the coffin and hauling it through the streets. Mrs. McNamara had a bill against the corpse and she gave forth a loud proclamation that unless it was paid she would pull the corpse out in the street and sit on it.

The new railroad to go through Nevada, says the Carson (Nevada) Appeal, is an extension of the Santa Fe. It goes through Lincoln county. The state of Nevada owns the public lands in Lincoln county, and has recently developed a large trade in them. They are being bought by eastern capitalists and others and the Nevada Southern company has been buying a quantity on its own account, to hold to settlers. This land the Nevada Southern to Los Angeles are selling to early and eagle acre tracts almost wholly to eastern investors. The company has already disposed of nearly 6,000 acres in this way. It has no land grant of its own, but is simply buying and selling lands along the route at placing settlers on state lands.

An old man named Kogan was robbed at Leadville, Colo., on Monday night of $70 by a couple of toughs, one a kid-born gambler named Amy Gordon and Charles Edwards, a scrub prize fighter. The three men went into a saloon on State street, where they called for beer. The beer was placed on the bar, the men chatting pleasantly the while, when one of the men, it is alleged, stepped around and standing over dropped a powder into the glass in front of Kogan. In some unexplainable manner Kogan did not touch the beer, but started for the door, closely followed by the two men, also unaware to any of the party by Officer Conboy, who had witnessed the proceedings. They took the old man down to Pine street and were in the act of going through him when Conboy stepped up and asked what was wrong. The men said their friend was drunk and they were taking him home, that he had just fainted. The officer moved on a few feet and then turned back to find Kogan lying unconscious and his "friends" gone. The officer followed the men and found them in a saloon playing faro. This is London's second street on this same outrage. He comes of a good family.
