DON'T LIKE LONG PRAYEES.

THE grave and 'reverend Senato of the United States appear to have no relish for long prayers, especi-ally when it is a custom to take them standing. The Washington correspondence, dated Dec. 9, of the New York Herald mys-"Having isposed of Carpenter, Senators to-lay reminded the Vice President that Chaplain Sunderland's prayers were altogether too long for the exncies of the occasion. Some of the Senators, are in the habit of tanding during prayer, but, with the exception of Senators Chandler and Sumner, none were able to stand it out. The chaplain was re-minded by the Vice President that he would grew popular in propor-tion to the brevity of his invocations and he would please the Senate if he would talk a little

Or Country Contemporaries. Ogden Junction, Dec. 15— John T. Williamson was return-ing to his lodgings, near the Union Depot, last night, after the close of the lecture at Child's Hall, and had reached the foot of Fifth street, when he slipped and fell with great force to the ground, which is cover-ed with ice. His head struck the edge of the Utah Central platform, and he was, for a few minutes, ren-dend senseless. He revived how-ever, benumbed with cold, and his injuries, although not serious, are still very painful. Last night a gentleman entered the Post office to call for his mall, and deposited his lattern on the foor. After procuring his papers and letters he left, forgetting to take the lantern, but had not gone very far, when he missed that con-venient companion during these dark nights, and retraced his steps to the office to secure it.
