

SOCIAL CHAT

The week has been tinged with the red, white and blue, the national holiday dominating the tone of festivities. The day itself was celebrated with numberless social gatherings, among the pleasantest being those given at the country homes. Among those who entertained were Mrs. E. F. Holmes, whose party numbered about 15 guests. These drove out to Oakwood in the afternoon, enjoying a luncheon and afterward a delightful time in the spacious grounds of the ideal summer retreat and later attending the dance at the Country club.

The club dance is numbered among the most notably delightful affairs of the holiday, the night being an ideal one, a large number being present, and all details conspiring to make it memorable.

At Glenwood, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Walker entertained a party numbering about 15, the entire day being spent there.

The near canyons were scenes of many picnic and camping parties during the Fourth, a large number seeking the cool retreats as a refuge from the omnipresent din of horns and crackers.

The week was marked by an interesting wedding, the event taking place on Tuesday night in the marriage of Miss Sue Clark and Henry Bowles, the latter of North Dakota, the ceremony being performed early in the evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark, with Rev. H. J. Talbot officiating, and a reception following. The parlor was done in white and green, the bridal party standing under a bower of palms and ferns with white roses and syringa, while festoons of the same were strung from the chandeliers to the four corners of the room. The hall was in pink and white and in the diningroom red alone, with crimson ramblers strung from the chandelier and adorning the table. The bride wore a handsome gown of champagne colored silk with trimmings of real lace, and carried bride's roses. Her bridesmaid, Miss Stella Clark, was gowned in dainty white, and carried marguerites. R. J. Shields was best man. During the ceremony, Mrs. Ernest Fowler played appropriate music, and others who assisted at the pretty affair were Mrs. Presnell, Miss May Shields, Miss Marie Meloy, Miss Emma Brown, Miss Ella Murphy, Miss Winifred Reese, Miss Maud Stevenson, Miss Ada Ferguson and Miss Marguerite Taylor. Mr. and Mrs. Bowles left later for Duluth, whence they sail on a cruise of the lakes. They will be at home in Velva after Aug. 15.

The date set for the marriage of Miss Cicilia McCready to David A. Nelson is Wednesday, July 18.

Miss Sue Clark and Mr. Henry Bowles, whose marriage took place this week, were guests of honor at a luncheon on Monday, given by Robert Shields, at the Commercial club, the table being effectively decorated, and about a dozen being present.

Among the many parties who enjoyed the Hawaiian band at Saltair this week was that comprising Dr. and Mrs. Barber, Miss Minnie Keisel, Miss Elsa Green and others of Ogden.

One of the largest events of the week was the luncheon given at the Country club on Tuesday by Mrs. J. L. Franklyn and Miss Webb in honor of Miss Franklyn, about 50 guests being entertained. The table was artistically decorated in green and yellow, wild mustard being used with trailing greens. The place cards were water-color pictures of summer girls. After luncheon, bridge was played on the veranda.
