

son's outcome, is very fine, being of a light color and a good flavor. The gross results of the season's work will reach about $2,250.

Plain Bitters.—Dr. E. L. Plant, of this city, having read an article in the News entitled "Disguised Intoxicants," recommends the following simple preparations to the public as among the best bitters that can be taken. The first is one ounce of quassia chips, with one quart of cold water added to it, to be drunk half an hour afterwards. A wine-glassful three times a day, it is claimed, will cleanse the stomach and purify the blood. Another plain bitters of a milder nature is as follows: Take one ounce of Gentian root, add one quart of cold water, and let it stand for half an hour, when it will be ready for drinking. A wine-glassful three times a day will be found an excellent remedy for the liver and stomach. The Doctor claims that there is no need of alcoholic agencies in preparing these bitters, which are amply sufficient for every purpose. Cold water draws the strength from the medicinal material much better than any intoxicant that could be used. To say the least, the preparations suggested are plain and simple, and so far recommend themselves for a trial to those who have need of them.

Railway Accidents.—On Wednesday morning, about 11 o'clock, a painful accident befel a young man named James Love, son of David Love, storekeeper, of the 6th Ward. The young man, who resides with his parents near the Denver & Rio Grande Railway depot, was employed as a brakeman on the gravel train of that company, operating in the vicinity of Ogden. The gravel train, at the time the accident occurred, was entering Ogden to make way for the Springville passenger train which was following close behind. Mr. Love was running alongside of the engine of his train, attempting to jump upon the steps, holding on at the time to the handles of the locomotive, when his foot slipped upon a third rail which had recently been laid, and the next moment was under the front wheel of the tender. The wheel, however, did not pass over it, but simply pushed it along, under a most painful pressure, for a short distance, when Mr. Love loosened his hold and fell backwards. This undoubtedly obviated a serious accident, for the foot was thereby released, and though some small bones were broken and the shoe lacerated, nothing more happened. How he escaped so easily is a mystery to himself, as when he fell he fully expected to see his foot dismembered and lying on the inner side of the track. Dr. Condon of Ogden, bandaged the wounded member and the patient was brought down home the same afternoon. He had a restless night on Wednesday, but last night slept better, and is now getting along favorably. It was rumored on the streets this morning that Mr. Jas. Hunter, yard master at the Denver & Rio Grande depot, had met with an accident. This report was simply an outgrowth of the accident above described, Mr. Hunter being an uncle to the injured boy.

A similar mishap, though not so serious, occurred at the Utah Central depot this morning. A young man named Fred Wilson, nicknamed by his associates "Cookney," while engaged in coupling an engine to some cars, had the middle finger of his left hand smashed. Dr. Richards dressed the injury.

The Wanship Burglary.—On last Monday morning a telegram was received at the police station in this city, respecting the burglary of E. R. Young's store at Wanship, Summit County. The dispatch was brief, simply stating that the safe had been broken open and $800 and some county warrants stolen, and giving a description of the supposed burglar, who had succeeded in making his escape. Since then Mr. E. R. Young, the owner of the store that was robbed, has come to town and gives the following details: On last Friday night, a man who was a stranger came into the store and bought some crackers and cheese, and inquired of Mr. Young who was in there alone, at what time the place would be closed. After having been told he went away and put up at Bishop Roundy's for the night. He told the Bishop that he had some business that same night with the old gentleman at the store. Next morning he left, and passed by Mr. Young's, when the latter saluted him with "Good morning," whereupon he hung his head, colored up, and went on his way. It subsequently transpired that he did not return to the store at all, but it is supposed had simply been loitering around the premises taking observations. He was seen on Saturday in Coalville. On Saturday night, Mr. Young, who had closed up and retired rather earlier than usual, heard a noise in the direction of the store (only a short distance from his house) and got up, but did not think enough of it to leave the house. Next morning, on entering his place of business, he discovered that the safe had been tampered with, and on opening it, which was accomplished with some difficulty as the combination had been changed, he found out the extent of his loss. The thief or thieves left a punch behind, which is the only clue had of them excepting the description of the stranger who visited the store on Friday evening. An iron box, belonging to the safe, was thrown into the river, where it was afterwards found, and the papers it contained were scattered all along the banks. Besides the money and documents above mentioned, the burglars got away with a $1,000 bond on the Utah Eastern Railway.

FROM SATURDAY'S DAILY OCT. 13.

A Bad Fall.—This afternoon a carpenter by the name of Joseph Morris, working on Col. Kahn's new residence in the Seventh Ward, had the scaffolding give way under him and was precipitated to the ground. His left leg was either broken or badly sprained (it was not ascertained which, at the time the NEWS representative appeared on the scene) and the injured man was conveyed home in a wagon.

Head Cut Off.—The Revere River Reveille gives the particulars of a fatal accident which occurred on the Central Pacific Railway, at Bridge 26, about 23 miles from Truckee. At 10.30 p. m. a man named Chas. Beeler who was in the employ of Mr. Wilson, a large stock owner, while in charge of cattle which were being shipped west, from some cause slipped from one of the cars, and when picked up, his head was completely severed from the body and the body was badly mangled. The trunk and separated head were brought to Truckee where Deputy Coroner Keiser was in waiting, who took the remains in charge.

Badly Injured.—On the premises of Mr. John Haslam, Nineteenth Ward, near the railroad track, there are two animals, a mare and her colt, in a most distressing condition. They have been badly injured by one of the D. and R. G. Railway trains, and while the mare might be saved, there is no hope of the colt's recovery. It would be a mercy to dispatch the poor creature at once, and thus put an end to its misery. Its right forward leg is cut off below the knee, and is dangling by the skin, while the bones about the knee are protruding. The right hip and forward foot of the mare are badly peeled, but no bones are broken. The ownership of the animals is unknown.

District Court Cases.—James Smith has been indicted by the Grand Jury for burglary on the premises of an old gentleman named Maden, on Commercial Street, on the 2nd of last April. He was arrested at the time of the robbery, but after being bound over in $800 to await the action of the Grand Jury was allowed to go on his own recognizance. He soon afterwards disappeared and could not be found until the other day, when he was arrested by the police for stealing clothes from Buckle & Son's tailoring establishment. After being fined by Justice G. D. Pyper $75 and costs, he was taken before the District Court to plead to the indictment found by the Grand Jury on the score of the former burglary, and is now in custody, waiting for trial before that court.

The case of Charles Hanks, for assault and highway robbery, is in progress before Judge Hunter this afternoon. Hanks, it will be remembered, is the individual who attacked Mr. Fred Good, near the Seventh Ward Meeting house, on the 14th of last April, beating him badly and robbing him of money and other valuables.

Burglary in Ogden.—Our younger sister on the Weber has been indulging in a bona fide burglary, which furnishes excitement sufficient, to say nothing of opportunities for aliteration, to satisfy even the fastidious taste of friend Herald itself. The bold, bad burglary began at the Broom hotel, at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. A young man of slim build and light complexion, about 22 years of age, registered at the hotel, engaged a room, and gave the name of Ed. Gray, from Eureka, Nevada. Not content with taking possession of the room assigned him he extended his explorations through several others, the occupants of which were absent, wiggling his body through the transoms and making himself unduly familiar with the contents of several trunks deposited in the apartments. He opened them by means of an iron bar or "Jimmy," about 12 inches in length, and ere long was in what then appeared to be the full and undisturbed possession of a silver watch, a gold chain, and various other articles of lesser value. There is no telling where he would have stopped, had not a chamber maid happened to go into her room and discovered him there. She ordered him to leave, but he declined, and closed the door in her face, shutting her on the outside. She then forced it open and he slid under the bed, from which entrenched position he threatened to shoot her if she made a noise. He also ordered her to go down stairs by one way, while he proposed to skulk down the other, but the brave girl, undaunted by his threats, instead of complying, screamed loudly for help, which brought timely assistance. Sheriff Stevens was called in, and the thief was taken into custody. He proved his familiarity with the weird ways of the wild and wondrous west, by assuming another cognomen, and giving his name to the officer as Ed. Brown. Two pistols and a small sum of money were found on his person when arrested, and after his incarceration he revealed to the Sheriff where he had secreted the stolen articles. He now lies in jail awaiting his examination.

A Veteran Gone.—A synopsis of the life and labors of Elder John S. Fullmer, Senr., who died at Springville on the 8th inst., has been forwarded by Brother J. M. Peirce. The deceased, who had attained the advanced age of 78 years, was stricken with paralysis on the 21st of September, 1882, and this attack was followed by two more on the 22nd and 23rd, respectively. He never afterwards recovered the use of his left arm and leg, but his intellect remained unimpaired up to the moment of his death, when he passed away peacefully. From the time he received the first stroke up to his very last breath on earth, he suffered no bodily pain. The funeral services were held at the Springville Meeting-house. The deceased left a numerous posterity, and was universally esteemed as a man of integrity and a faithful Latter-day Saint.

He was born on the 21st of July, 1807, in Luzern County, Penn., became a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in July, 1839; emigrated to Nauvoo in 1840, and from that time until the martyrdom of the Prophet and Patriarch, was intimately associated with them. He was in Carthage jail with the Prophet the night previous to the assassination, and was sent by him to subpoena witnesses for the approaching trial. When the Saints were driven from Nauvoo, the deceased, Almon W. Babbitt and Joseph L. Heywood were appointed Trustees-in-Trust to transact all the Church business in Nauvoo, and to help move the remainder of the Church. He arrived in the Valley in the fall of 1848, and when the Territory was organized, was a member of the Legislature, until the fall of 1852, when he was called on a mission to England, where he remained until honorably released, in 1855. While in England he was President over three large Conferences, namely: Liverpool, Manchester and Preston. After returning home he was reappointed a Colonel in the Nauvoo Legion (which office he had held in Nauvoo, where during the raid of the mob on that city, Captain Wm. Anderson expired in his arms) and held that position for a number of years, when his resignation was reluctantly received by Lieut. Gen. D. H. Wells. He was a man of unswerving integrity and never faltered, when he knew his end was approaching he called all his family that were present together, blessed them, and admonished them to be true to their covenants, and stand firm in the Church and Kingdom of God. Among his last words to them were "I cannot remain any longer with you; I am going on a great mission."

FROM THE NORTHWESTERN STATES.

RAILROAD WRECKS AND MOB VIOLENCE.

Elder Wm. M. Palmer, who presides over the Northwestern States Mission, returned this morning with another small company of Saints, thirty in number, from that region. The principal portion of the new comers are from Indiana, and the residue from Michigan and Minnesota. One family remained in Ogden, others intend going south with Elder Palmer to Sevier County, but the most of them will settle in Salt Lake. The company left Council Bluffs on the evening of the 10th inst. and had a pleasant trip westward with the exception of a delay of twelve hours at Laramie, the cause of which was encountering railroad wrecks between that point and Evanston. The night before they arrived at Laramie, the east bound passenger train ran into the rear end of a freight train about 40 miles west of that place, telescoping the caboose and several other freight cars, badly hurting the conductor, and it is thought, fatally injuring the engineer of the passenger engine. The engine was totally demolished, the boiler and its appurtenances lying on one side of the track and the tender on the other. Several baggage cars on the passenger train were likewise damaged but not so as to unfit them for service. After passing this wreck, which they were unable to do for twelve hours while the debris was being removed and the track repaired, the company came upon the scene of a similar disaster, where thirteen or fourteen freight-cars were piled in a ruinous heap on both sides of the track. Our informant did not learn the cause of this accident, as the road employes, with characteristic tactfulness declined to say much about it. At any rate it may be presumed that these wrecks have had something to do with the frequent delays in the arrival of eastern trains, so much complained of at present.

The feeling in the North-western States, towards the Elders, was very bitter at the time Brother Palmer left, especially in Indiana, where Elders Marks and Davis were tarred and feathered. In fact no Elder had labored in that State during the past season without being subjected to the grossest of insults and outrages. In many instances the brethren were pelted with rotten eggs and tobacco quids, while preaching indoors. Still they felt determined and zealous, not in the least discouraged, and were rewarded by seeing a spirit of inquiry manifested among a great many of the people. The press and pulpit were persistent in pouring out abuse and calumny, even when perfectly apprised to the contrary of the slanders they put in circulation. President Palmer believes it will all result in benefit, and that a good work will be done there, although in some places there is a more murderous and mobocratic spirit abroad than ever before.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is understood that President Arthur has a list of about 800 postmasters who have been appointed since Congress adjourned. They will be sent to the Senate for confirmation as soon as Congress meets.

The measure prohibiting the immigration of the Chinese to this country has caused a great influx of Japanese to this country. The Golden State is likely to be soon overrun with them. As one door shuts another opens.

The Chicago Tribune nominates Edmunds of Vermont and Miller of California, as the Republican ticket for 1894. Edmunds says he does not want the nomination. We do not recollect of any prospective candidate ever admitting that he did.

Henry Study, of Ransom, Ill., left $65,000. He was a cripple from birth. At the close of the war he donned a soldier's uniform, invented a pathetic story, and began to travel as a beggar. In three years he got over $50,000, and on the interest he lived in luxury.

Will some of the advocates of sewerage for Salt Lake City be kind enough to suggest where the water for flushing could be obtained from, and what disposition could be made of the sewage? It appears inconsistent to advocate sewerage without exhibiting its feasibility.

An exchange says, "the prospects of the nomination of Gen. Logan for the presidency by the republican party are becoming brighter. He will certainly be nominated if Blaine or Arthur, or some other man, is not." The "some other man" condition gives the prospect plenty of scope.

Five thousand people poured into this city over the Utah Central Railway last week to attend the General Conference. Reckoning the number who came in by the Denver & Rio Grande and Utah and Nevada lines and by teams at three thousand more, would run the number of visitors up to eight thousand.

Spain, it seems, is determined to wring from France an abject apology for the insults offered to its King by the Paris mob. This, taken in connection with the congratulations showered upon Alfonso by the Powers since his triumphal entry into Madrid, shows how thoroughly friendless the French republic is in monarchical Europe.

Prof. E. Fazio says he has ascertained that in general those who were excavated alive at Ischia were stupefied, their organic functions paralyzed, their sight weakened or altogether suspended for some time; most had felt extreme thirst while under the masonry. All asserted that they had never lost hope of rescue.

A fashion exchange says: Among the latest new tints which delight fashionables are "dusty dun," "huckleberry haze," "watermelon mauve," and one shade of yellow, which promises to become a special favorite, is "boiled cabbage." The latter is described as being a delightful tint, somewhere between that of a yellow tea rose and an underdone pancake.
