BREVITIES.

The British Museum has twenty-five miles of library shelves.

A Parisian belle bathes in a $10,000 silver tub.

Men of the period—Those who stop often to take something.

France has this year produced 1,584,696,024 gallons of wine.

The more polished the society is the less formality there is in it.

The name of Jeddo, Japan, has been changed to Tokio.

The eldest daughter of Josh Billings (H. G. Shaw), has married a young Wall Street broker.

It is said that Napoleon is inclined to permit the Marseillaise to resume its old place as the national air of France.

Men think little of what is said, unless they think much of him who says it.

The Spanish revolution set free a Madrid editor who was serving a term of 102 years in prison.

A Vermont village makes half a million dollars worth of wooded ware a year.

English scientific papers pronounce our new war steamers the most expensive, cumbersome and ridiculous afloat.

The Grecian Bend is the most humiliating stoop that female folly has yet condescended to.

A tenant wanted. Posters placed on the palace at Madrid, by the Revolutionists, read, "This house to let."

The people of Weedsport, N. Y., have invented a new church entertainment—a "mush and milk sociable."

American missionaries are working hard at the church in Tarsus, the birthplace of the apostle Paul.

The number of thieves in New York is about ten thousand, exclusive of the defrauders of the revenue.

Earthquakes were of frequent occurrence in New England during the first century after its settlement by the Puritans.

The artesian well at St. Louis is now 3,375 feet deep. The drills are still in a limestone stratum, and there is no water.

The 1,200 active members of the Paris Anti-Tobacco League each contribute three francs toward publishing pamphlets denunciatory of the weed.

The copper coinage of 1867, in England, consisted of 5,483,520 pence, 2,598,800 halfpence and 5,017,700 farthings.

The ladies in Poland are not permitted to wear black or gray dresses, and are flogged for non-compliance with the law.

A Baltimore lady has forwarded two cents to the Treasury, the interest on which is to pay off the public debt, 1,000 years hence, and thus obviate repudiation.

"Is that what the ladies wear round their waists?" asked a country youth of a friend who was a clerk in a dry goods store. "Of course it is," returned the counter-jumper, with a mischievous wink.

Mrs. Polly Stockwell, aged 105 years, a resident of Delaware county, Ohio, recently walked six miles in one day. She can weave from ten to twenty yards per day, and enjoys excellent health.

Among the festivities when the Marquis of Bute came of age, was the performance of a goat trained to pick up from the alphabet the letters of the noble name of Bute.

The titled ladies of England have adopted the fashion of angling for salmon. Angling for cornets, diamonds and guineas, however, have not been abandoned.

A credulous man said to a wag who had a wooden leg: "How come you to have a wooden leg?" "Why," answered the wag, "my father had one, and so had my grandfather. It runs in the blood."

The question why printers do not succeed as well as brewers is thus answered: "Because printers work for the head and brewers for the stomach—and where twenty men have stomachs but one has brains."

Mount Ortel, one of the Rhaetian Alps, in the Tyrol, 12,552 feet above the above the ordinary world, has been lately climbed by an Austrian lady of rank. She is the first woman who has succeeded in the attempt.

New York city will be full of celebrities about the holidays. Miss Braddon, Chas. Reade, Hans Andersen, Max Muller, Anthony Trollope, Miss Cushman, Miss Hosmer and Miss Emma Stebbens will be among the throng.

A lady, who was desperately addicted to play, was confessing herself. The priest, among other arguments to dissuade her from gambling, said she "ought to consider the loss of time." "Ah, father," said she, "that is always what vexes me, so much time is lost in shuffling."

Rather a severe comment on summer tourists was that of the stage driver at Lake George, who being obliged to sit on the footboard from the crowd of passengers, was hailed by a gentleman with, "Why don't you sit on one of the travelling bags, driver?" "Well, I would, but they carry a bottle in 'em now, an' it hurts a feller."

A letter bearing the following superscription, was recently received at the Silver City Post Office, from Iowa: "Augustus Jones, a webfoot scrub, To whom this letter wants to go, Is chopping cordwood for his grub In Silver City, Idaho."
