> REMARKABLE ESCAPE. An Insane Man is Struck by a Locomos

tive. A man apparently insane, and evidently a tramp.narrowly escaped being run over by a freight locomotive on the Short Line near the Twenty-third ward meeting house yesterday afternoon. Some of the citizens in that vicinity had been attracted by the atrange demeanor of the man. He started up the railroad track with a train following closely behind him at a lively rate of speed. The engineer saw him, but naturally supposed that he would get out of the way. But he did not, and the next moment the engine struck him and he was thrown over into the frog pond. The train came to a stand-still, and several men ran back to take up the mangled corps, but the "mangled corpse" was making his way to the bank having sustained only a few minor bruises and a shaking up.

The shock did no however, restore his reason, and he talked in a rambling way. He said, however, that he was name, but he said he halled from Lead-ville. Bishop Jones and D. P. Felt took care of the unfortunate man, who was later brought to the city by two
