

GOV. PEABODY TO THE LEGISLATURE.

Dwells at Length on Fraudulent Conduct of Election Under "Our Present System."

SUGGESTS VOTING MACHINES.

Would Have Compulsory Arbitration—Deals With Strikes and Boycotts.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 5.—A long caucus was held this afternoon by the Republicans prior to the afternoon session of the legislature. One element was in favor of proceeding at once with the canvass and of postponing the receipt of the governor's message until later. It was finally determined, however, to put the canvass over until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The senate put the matter squarely up to the house by sending in to that body a resolution providing for a joint session to canvass the vote at 2:30 this afternoon. The notification of the passage of the resolution was not given to the house until after 3 o'clock, and it was accepted by the house with the amendment that 10 o'clock tomorrow morning be substituted for the canvass of this afternoon.

Clerk Harper of the house was then sent to inform the senate that the house was prepared to enter into joint session for the purpose of hearing the message of Gov. Peabody.

The message, read by the governor, dealt, for the most part, with recommendations concerning and reports from the various state institutions. On the subject of the militia he touched briefly, referring to the legislature to the executive report of Adj. Gen. Sherman Bell, which was so large, the governor declared that he could not attempt to epitomize it. On the question of elections, the message was as follows:

"The fraudulent conduct of elections under our present system demands your immediate and concerted action. In a general way, it seems sufficient to say that a modern primary and registration law should be enacted and the advisability of introducing voting machines should be considered. In some cases we must admit that the elective franchise, especially in Denver, has been sadly misused and prostituted. A patient people protest and these outrages should be ended."

The governor recommended consideration of a constitutional amendment providing for compulsory arbitration, and urged the establishment of the present arbitration board, and it is without power to enforce its decisions.

On the labor troubles, the governor, after urging the adoption of a reasonable eight-hour law, said:

"Early in my administration a certain organization known as the Western Federation of Miners, claiming public consideration under the name of labor, whose officers and those in direct charge of its management are bold, careless, reckless men, attempted to ferment trouble in several industrial sections of Colorado, to the end that that particular organization should have recognition in the operation and management of the mines, mills and smelters, wherever located in the state, which efforts culminated in the arbitrary cutting of the most senseless, causeless, unjustifiable and inexcusable strikes ever known in this or any other country."

"Believing that my duty to the people of this state lay in protecting life and property in advance of annihilation, I proceeded to stop the unlawful methods of this reckless band of men. Suffice it to say, law and order were maintained, peace and prosperity immediately followed."

"I recommend the passage of an act by your honorable body prohibiting boycotting, picketing, unfair lists or other interference with the lawful business or occupation of others, and providing a suitable penalty therefore."

"The principles upon which I stand and which have caused me to take the action I have in maintaining law and order in this state, are that the rights of every citizen to enjoy life and liberty and the right to acquire, possess, enjoy and protect his property, are inherent and indefeasible. The right of the working man to sell his labor to anyone wishing to purchase it for lawful purposes is equally his inherent right. Labor has undoubted right to organize and to cease work, either as individuals or as an organization, for such reasons as may seem to themselves satisfactory, but when they attempt to prevent others from performing the same work, or to prevent the employers from employing others to carry on his work, their actions are unlawful and cannot be tolerated."

There has been so far no indication of any violence or trouble likely to come from either the canvassing of the vote or the declaration of the final result. Both Democrats and Republicans insist that everything will pass off peacefully. The sole prophet to the contrary was Representative Bromley, who with some seriousness objected to a rallying being placed across two of the three archways in the rear of the house.

Representative Bromley, who sits in the last row, declared that he wished no rallying behind his seat. "There may be things doing in this room before long," he asserted, "and I may want to get out quick."

The roar of laughter that followed his words effectually disposed of the proposition to build the rallying.

RAILROAD LEGISLATION.

Matter Under Consideration at The White House

Washington, Jan. 5.—A conference was held at the White House today between the president and Senator Ekins of West Virginia, chairman of the interstate commerce commission of the senate, on the subject of proposed legislation regarding railroad freight rates. "This is a big question," said the senator as he left the White House, "and it behooves us to think about it carefully and to move slowly. Whatever legislation may be enacted eventually must be just to all in this and must not be a shock to any. It is impossible to say now whether or not action will be taken by Congress at the present session, but we have an immense amount of work that must be done and, as I suggested, there are too many conflicting ideas and policies to harmonize to warrant hurried action that might prove to be ill considered."

Boise, Ida., Jan. 5.—Both branches of the legislature organized and got down to business this morning. They met in joint session and listened to the reading of the governor's message. The governor recommended liberal policy towards state institutions, opposition to a twenty-cent extension of the timber franchise and asked that party divisions be carried out. He called attention to the fact that adultery is not a crime in Idaho and asked that a law be passed making it such, and advised that a law be passed making polygamy a crime and the two-mile limit law be left intact.

BEST QUALITY OF SUGAR BEETS.

Temperature and Sunshine Are the Chief Factors in Producing Them.

THE EXPERIMENTS PROVE THIS

For Five Years Department of Agriculture Has Been Gathering Data.

Washington, Jan. 5.—That temperature and sunshine are the dominant factors in producing the best quality of sugar beets, is announced as the result of five years' experiments which have just been concluded by the chemistry division of the department of agriculture.

The data obtained are expected by agricultural officials to save immense amounts to capital by pointing out in what section sugar-beet industries should be instituted. The experiments were made in localities ranging from New York to North Carolina and entirely across the continent. The environments, the influence of which sugar beets require, the soil, cultivation and the area of artificial fertilization, temperature, hours of sunshine and of cloudiness, elevation and altitude and longitude. The results indicate that a low temperature is the greatest of these factors in producing beets, with sunshine next in importance.

The average temperature of the localities, according to these results, not exceeding 70 degrees Fahrenheit during the three growing months, June, July and August. Above this figure richness of the beets constantly diminishes, and the longer day and consequent longer hours of sunshine makes a location best fitted for high-sugared beets.

Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hale preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff or scurf by digging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it sets the vitality, causing itching scalp, falling hairs, not falling hair. MRS. CHADWICK IS A FEDERAL PRISONER

Conflict of Opinion as to Who Has Jurisdiction Over Her is Finally Settled.

HOW THE QUESTION AROSE.

U. S. Judge Gave Orders no One Was To See Her Without His Written Permission.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 5.—As the result of a clash between the federal and county authorities that has been on since Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick arrived in this city from New York, as to who had jurisdiction over the prisoner's care while she is in the county jail, the federal authorities tonight definitely announced that they would assume such control in full authority.

The dispute has arisen because of the privilege assumed by former Sheriff Barry in permitting her husband and other persons to call on Mrs. Chadwick, contrary to an order to the federal judge that written permission for such interviews or calls must not be given without orders from that court.

Sheriff Barry retired from office last Saturday. He was succeeded by George G. Mulhern. As a county official, Sheriff Mulhern today obtained from the county solicitor an opinion to the effect that, inasmuch as the jail was a county institution, a United States prisoner while confined therein and was under the authority of the sheriff.

An opinion was handed to the sheriff by Dist. Atty. John J. Sullivan later in the day, to the effect that the federal authorities controlled Mrs. Chadwick's case and that no person be allowed to see her without their permission. It was maintained by Dist. Atty. Sullivan that Mrs. Chadwick is a federal prisoner and the sheriff is, for the time being, a federal keeper.

To enforce its order two deputy marshals have alternated in the county jail today and tonight in guarding the way to Mrs. Chadwick's cell. Not even her attorney, J. P. Dawley, was allowed to see her today, because he had not obtained permission from the federal officials.

Dawley, who is a prominent lawyer, asserted the prerogative of his calling to see his client, but a powerful deputy marshal refused him entrance to the woman's corridor of the jail. Dawley was furious and said to the marshal that if he had but as much physical strength as he had determined he would throw the marshal out of the window.

The trunk belonging to Mrs. Chadwick was opened today by Atty. Louis Grossman. It contained only wearing apparel for Mrs. Chadwick, consisting of four dresses and an entire suit of mole-skin, the whole being worth, Mr. Grossman thought, perhaps $5,000.

Both the trunk and satchel which were carefully guarded while Mrs. Chadwick was in New York city have been opened and their contents examined by Mr. Grossman. The result shows nothing that will add materially to Mrs. Chadwick's assets.

Negro Assaults Young Woman.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 5.—Miss Alice Brightwell, a protegee in the family of John T. Bate, a bank teller, was assaulted today by a negro in Mr. Bate's residence at Crescent Hill, a high class residence portion of Louisville. The young woman was badly injured. A detail of police was at once sent to the scene and four officers with bloodhounds have taken up the trail of the negro. The Crescent Hill district is in a state of high excitement, and Capt. Reilly of the Louisville police has given order if the negro is found that he be brought to the county jail here instead of being taken to the police station.

Hops Thrown on Market.

Portland, Jan. 5.—A Tacoma hop firm with large holdings in this city today placed on the market 3,000 bales of hops. Although the market has been sluggish of late, the hops found ready sale and were all taken at 23¢ and 30¢. This is probably the largest amount of hops ever thrown on the market by a single firm without causing a slump in the market. The reason for the selling is not known.

gave at its Broadway theater tonight. A large audience received the parody with much enthusiasm. Marie Dressler, cast as Tillie Nutting, a halfback, and Joe Weber as Stubby, a tough girl, were fitted with parts that gave good opportunity for fun-making, and both were heartily received. Aubrey Bowditch, Charles A. Bigelow, Almee Angeles and other members of the cast were also given an enthusiastic welcome.

CRUM'S CASE.

Senate Commerce Committee Reports Favorably on It.

Washington, Jan. 5.—The senate committee on commerce today authorized a favorable report on the nomination of W. B. Crum to be collector of the port of Charleston, S. C. Confirmation of the Crum nomination has been opposed for three sessions of Congress by Senator Tillman on the ground that "a colored man is objectionable to many of those who conduct business through the Charleston customs house."

Crum is filling the position of collector on a third recess appointment, and the indications are that he will now be confirmed by the senate, despite the objections of Senator Tillman.
