Frozen Fog.—This morning open-ed tolerably clear overhead, but a slight fall of feathery particles con-tinued the whole forencon, being a sort of congealed mist, which the Arctic temperature had frozen into large crystalline formations of the most beautiful shapes. In the glow of the rising sun they made the air teem filled with innumerable diamend-like crystals. Very beautiful.

A Mill Creek Sociable.—A Mill Creek correspondent writes:

"On Friday last upwards of two hundred people, old and young, were assembled in the Mill Creek Ward meeting house. They commenced to dance at 1 o'clock p. m. The prompter called plain dances so that the old folks were enabled to participate. folks were enabled to participate. folks were enabled to participate. The dancing was intermingled by speeches, songs and recitations. At 5 o'clock two tables were spread the length of the hall, with delicacles which the eleters had brought from their homes. After all had partaken heartly the tables were cleared away and dancing resumed until nearly 12 o'clock. The proceeds were handed over by the Relief Society of the ward to the Salt Lake Temple fund."

Huntsville Heard From.—Bishop Hammond, of Huntsville, Weber County, looked in npon us this morning. The Bishop is an old "whaler," and has been inthe Arctic regions, where was more than once surrounded by icebergs. He states that the weather at Huntsville was more severe than he ever experienced in the regions of eternal ice and snow. On the first day of the cold spell, January 19th, the mercury in the thermometer was frozen and the temperature must have and the temperature must have been down toward 60° below zero. Children had their ears, fingers and toes frozen in going a distance of a few rods to school.

We learn also that the people of Huntsville are in general good condition. All the associations instituted for the improvement of the companity are doing much good, and a circulating library is of special cenefit to all classes. A late visit to the settlement by President Woodmissionaries.

Elder Cannon was, at the time of writing, visiting the Saints in Munich, the Bavarian metropolis, previous to entering upon the performance of his duties in North Germany. He says the last meeting which he held in that city was betrayed to the authorities and the President had been summoned to appear before the magistrate, for having permitted such a meeting to be held in his house. What the result would be was still a matter of doubt. Elder C. thought it very probable that he thought it very probable that he would be interviewed by an officer before leaving the city, as his presence there was already known.

A Disgraceful Fracas.—J. W. Peterson forwards the following account of a diagraceful affair:

At Tooele City, Jan. 26th, a school party was given at the close of the first term of D. E. Harris's school. The party was to be interspersed with dancing, songs, recitations, a speech, a piculo, etc. The affair went on very nicely until about 10 o'clock, when in came a mob with their faces blackened and coats turned wrong side out. As the doorkeeper did not expect that kind of company he was not at his poet. The "darkles" were kind of company he was not at his poet. The "datkies" were John R. Gillespie, James Gowan, Heber Bevan, Peter Mckellar, Daniel Gillespie and James Gillespie. They marched to the upper end of the hall, formed a circle, and commenced playing their clappers and singing a song that favored their complexion. The manager kindly invited them to occupy the outside of the hall. They marched back towards the door and wished to continue their song, when J. A. Bevan, tione their song, when J. A. Bevan, the floor manager, told them they would not be permitted to do this. They then threw their coats off, and said, 'then you can have some of this.' Three or four of the school that they had been they at the school that they had be boys took what little they had in etore of 'this,' as they termed it, in-somuch that Mr. Gowan had to be carried out, and although the "dark-ies" are adapted to a warm cli-mate, they became thoroughly convinced that it was too warm for them in there. The parties will have a hearing in the Justice's Court of Tooele Precinct.

The weight of his body struck upon his left arms bearing it hat ween his left arm, breaking it between the elbow and wrist. With the many friends of Brother Robert, we greatly regret this accident, by which he is partially disabled. The injured limb is progressing favorably.

Terrorism at Weeksville.—Stories of blood and murder continue to come from Weeksville, Montans, the present terminus of the Northern Pacific Railroad. On the 22nd of January a "committee of safety finished a job of hanging seven desperadoes," three that morning and four the day previous. Returned from Washington. — District Attorney P. T. Van Zue is in the city, having returned from his trip to Washington. He has been operating against the interests of a good community, but fortunately for himself, as well as them, has been unsuccessful. Had he succeeded his course would have resulted to his own ultimate injury. As it is, his attempt reflects discreditably upon him. We wish him no harm, however, and have no desire to indulge in exultation on account of the disappointment he must naturally feel because of his failure. We hope he has learn-ed a lesson that will be of benefit to him in future. Few if any men have ever taken the course he has

Road to the San Juan Settlements.—We learn from Brother F. W. Young, of Loa, Plute County, that Charles Hall, of Escalante, Garfield County, had come from Hall's Ferry, on the Colorado, to the first mentioned place in a wagon in four days—a little over a hundred miles. He report—it an excellent route for a wagon road and claims it will shorten the distance from the Sevier settlements a hundred miles. Better Prospect.—Again, as we are pieased to announce, the prospects of our getting rid or small-pox are good. As we go to press the latest news is that the only probable new case since last Tuesday is the daughter of the woman who hid the daughter of the woman who hid up while she had the disease. This is not really a new case, as it has been expected by the quarantine board. Up to 2 o'clock this p.m. she had not actually developed the disease, but was quite sick and was expected to show positive signs of it within 12 hours.

Particular pains have been taken to ascertain the name of every person who has been exposed. It is believed that this has been done, and that all such are under surveillance.

Some of the quarantined families

Some of the quarantined families have been released, the period of incubation having expired, and releases it is expected will continue daily, as the limits of the contagion become distinctly defined.

The toll house will be disinfected, not burned. Mr. Hansen went up to it this morning for that purpose, having received full and detailed instructions how to do it effectu-
