

HIGH JINKS FOR U. OF U. FOOTBALL.

Celebrate the Victory Over Three States in a Manner Most Earnest.

REGULAR REJOICING SPIRIT.

Called it "Hurry" Day and Then Set About to Give the Title a Realistic Interpretation.

Yesterday was "hurry day" at the University. The whole school from Acting President Merrill to the greenest freshman got the habit and it resulted in the first college demonstration ever seen on a Utah college campus. The immediate cause of the "buckets of joy" that overflowed in the great bonfire rally in the evening was the return of the twice victorious football team from the first away from home triumph yet acquired by the University. Prof. Lyman characterized the celebration as the dawning of first light after eight years of darkness.

AT THE DEPOT.
The team, its manager, and the coach were met at the depot by the men and women of the University. After a rousing welcome which put the din of the engine whistles to shame the team was comfortably seated on the top of a big bus. The procession moved up to East Temple street, leaving the center of town. The bus was pulled by the 500 men present, and behind it came the women, unashamed to yell at the top of their voices for the victorious team. The rear was brought up by express wagons carrying their full capacity of coeducation on display. At the Kenyon the procession paused while the routers rent the air with a thousand yells expressing something of a feeling only known to college men who are young and 20 and in school at the same time. The cheer then sprang a surprise by chanting from its seats a surprise while on the train coming home. It ran something like:

"What have we done? What have we done?"
We've put Montana on the bum.—
That's what we've done.
"What have we done? What have we done?"
We've put Old Denver on the bum.—
That's what we've done.
"What have we done? What have we done?"
We've put Wyoming on the bum.—
That's what we've done.
"What will we do? What will we do?"
We'll do it to the Aggie too.—
That's what we'll do.

The last verse ended up in a great shout of approval, for the "Varsity men" do not take kindly to the fact that the Aggie aggregation are advertising themselves as champions of the state and putting up a brand of football in the west that is heart-breaking to those who have an interest in the state's good name in the field of college sports.

The bus, which had been decorated by the women students, while the men had gathered around for the bonfire, was a handsome affair in red and white, with the scores of the two games displayed in large letters. After the pause in front of the Kenyon it moved on up East Temple to South Temple street, and then adjourned to the campus, where luncheon was served to the team by the College Women's club.

THE RALLY BY THE BONFIRE.
With the shades of darkness there came from everywhere to the flag pole where the University emblem floated on the night wind all the enthusiasm who had forgotten at the depot in the afternoon. The approach of the Port Douglas band was the signal to light the big pile of lumber stacked in front of the buildings, and while the flames kept up high into the air, the collegians danced in mad glee around the first sets of four, led by the music of the uniformed band. Then the team was produced, and escorted to the stand erected around the flag pole for the occasion. Ben Tibbey was there with his big megaphone to signal yells, and Maddock, who now assumes the name of his great master in football, Coach Yost, was there to tell how every man had done his duty in winning the game over Denver, and how it took the whole effort of the team to stop Denver on the four-yard line and turn the tide of battle our way. Wade—Captain Jimmy Wade—was there to tell how Denver had expected to make easy money out of the team, how the boys were two to one in Denver's favor, and how the team leaped up the field, overtook the Utah men in giant proportions, Riser was called to tell of the trip, and of the treatment Denver gave the team when she found she was licked on her feet, and had lost her easy money on the game. Bennion, the big fullback, who made the longest run of the day on a split buck through guard, was summoned to blush, and tell how the others helped him to it.

After these speeches the serious talks began from the faculty, who wanted to impress on the students what this rally meant as a beginning of a University spirit on the campus, and the awakening of a new life, that would mean the rescue of the school from its long deadness. Prof. Lyman spoke first, going over the eight years of defeat, and poor spirit that had been the University's portion, and the coming years of success and true college life. He was followed by Prof. Roylance, who wanted to show that he was a "dead one," and despite all implications to the contrary, lived up to the end of thought started by Prof. Lyman, attempting to impress on the students what support of the team may mean, and what it can bring in the way of victory and college life. The celebration concluded with another parade around the fire, and a general singing of college songs on the part of those present.

WANTED TO DIE.
Commercial Street Woman Attempts Suicide After a Quarrel.

Leona Bartell, an inmate of 28 Commercial street, made an unsuccessful attempt at suicide last night by drinking a bottle of medicine prescribed for heart trouble. She fell in a stupor after she drank the medicine and a physician was summoned, who worked with her for some time, and it is believed that she will recover. The girl had quarreled with her lover, and hence her rash act. Early in the morning she tried to take laudanum.

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of research and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"There are thousands of sick women dragging out a weary, miserable existence, who would be well and happy did they but have my experience with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription." writes Mrs. Annie Leeman of 105 Jackson St., Chicago. "Four years ago I was nearly dead with inflammation and ulceration. I endured daily untold agony, and life was a burden to me. I had used medicines internally and externally until I had made up my mind that there was no relief in sight for me. A friend of mine endorsed your 'Favorite Prescription,' and I determined then to give it a trial. I took patience and perseverance for I was in a condition, and had to use your medicine for nearly four months before I was cured, but what a change it brought! From despair to happiness, from misery to the delightful exhilaration of feeling that only health brings. I would not change back for a thousand dollars. Your 'Favorite Prescription' is a grand medicine. I wish every sick woman would only try it and be convinced."

but was prevented from doing so by officers of the city, who in and took the bottle away from her. She then sent for a messenger, and sent him for some morphine, but when he returned the other inmates of the house would not let him give her the drug. She then made up her mind to attempt the medicine which she had in her room for heart trouble. Although the physician called did not know what the medicine contained, it is not thought that the woman is in a serious condition.

MORE OLD-TIMERS.

Josiah Reynolds and Orange L. Wight Add Their Names to the List.
Editor Deseret News:
Paragonah, Oct. 26.—I noticed in your paper some time ago a request to the old Missouri "Mormons" to send in their names. I am one of them. My father, John Reynolds, was living in Jackson Co., Missouri, when the Saints first came there, and in a short time he and the first "Mormon" Elder preached, and in a few days my parents were both baptized. Their names are John and Phebe Ramsay Reynolds. I, Josiah Ramsay Reynolds, was born in Jackson county, Missouri, in 1830. My father and family were in all of the Missouri troubles, and were finally compelled to leave the state. We went from there to Illinois, where we remained there for two years. At that time I was baptized into the Church, and from there we moved to Nauvoo in 1840, and in '42 moved out in the country east of the city 25 miles, near Carthage, and were living there when the Prophet and his brother Hyrum were killed. That fall we moved back into the city, and in the spring of '46 we crossed the river and headed for the west and got into Salt Lake valley Sept. 10, 1850. There is a brother, Squire Reynolds, on the Gila river in Arizona, and a sister in Mount Pleasant, Sanpete county, that are younger. They were born in Missouri. My home is in Paragonah, Garfield Co., Utah.
JOSIAH RAMSAY REYNOLDS.

Bunkerville, Lincoln Co., Nevada, Oct. 25.—Editor Deseret News—I was born in the state of New York, Allegheny county, on the 29th of November, 1823. My parents moved to the state of Ohio, near Kirtland, when I was four years old. My father, Lyman Wight, and mother, Harriet Wight, joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in the fall of 1830. They moved to Jackson Co., Mo., in 1837. I was baptized in the waters of the Big Blue, three miles west of Independence, in the spring of 1832. Soon after I was eight years old, I participated in all the persecutions of the Saints in Jackson, Clay, Caldwell and Daviess counties, Mo. I was driven from the state with the Saints all the time up to the time of the martyrdom of the Prophet Joseph Smith and his brother Hyrum. If I am found worthy to be numbered with the old-timers of Jackson county, I would appreciate the honor.

NEW SCHEDULE FOR PRINCIPALS.

Mr. Nelden Submits Resolution Making Individual Merit a Basis of Increase.

IS REFERRED TO COMMITTEE.

Scheme to Call In School Bonds—Arrangements for School Election December 7.

At the meeting of the board of education last night W. A. Nelden brought forward an amendment to the contemplated increase in salaries of public school teachers. The resolution of Mr. Nelden agrees with the protest of those who objected to the former proposed schedule on the ground that it promoted some and lessened the salaries of others. His resolution reads:

"The salaries of high school principals shall not be governed by a schedule, but shall be determined by individual merit, but the minimum salary paid a high school principal or assistant high school principal shall be not less than the maximum paid a grammar school principal. A high school principal must be the holder of a state high school diploma and must be able to teach all the branches in at least one high school course other than the commercial course.

"The buildings of this city shall be grouped into classes and the salaries as herein set forth shall be paid to principals, provided that no principal shall attain the maximum salary until he has had two years' experience in a building of 15 or more teachers. If this experience is lacking the appointee to a maximum building shall receive $150 per month for the first year and $160 per month for the second.

"The salary of any principal shall be increased $45 per month when he becomes the holder of a state high school diploma."

WHAT IT MEANS.

The proposed plan will mean the following increase:

| School. | Old Salary. | New Salary. |
|------------|-------------|-------------|
| Franklin | $145 | $190 |
| Grant | 145 | 150 |
| Lowell | 145 | 150 |
| Quincy | 145 | 150 |
| Union | 145 | 150 |
| Wasatch | 145 | 150 |
| Washington | 145 | 150 |
| Webster | 145 | 150 |
| Jackson | 145 | 150 |
| Lafayette | 145 | 150 |
| Hamilton | 144 | 150 |
| Sumner | 144 | 150 |
| Emerson | 132 | 140 |
| Lincoln | 132 | 140 |
| Fremont | 120 | 125 |
| Riverside | 120 | 125 |
| Whittier | 114 | 110 |
| Utrich | 92 | 95 |
| Twelfth | 94 | 95 |
| Bonnyville | 92 | 95 |
| Jordan | 84 | 85 |

Totals $2,710 $2,895
Net increase $185

In explaining his plan Mr. Nelden said that the former schedule gave an increase to principals in the larger buildings only, while men just as capable in the smaller buildings were made to suffer from the fact that there were not enough big buildings to go around. "This scheme," he declared, "gives those principals who have been drawing maximum salary hitherto a maximum also under the raise, and not as under the plan suggested, a maximum to some who haven't had it up to now, while demoting others who have had the maximum. They are still as capable as ever, and the mere fact that they haven't had a room added to their schools should not stand in the way of their getting a maximum."

The matter of final action on the resolution was referred to the committee of the whole, upon motion of Mr. Geoghegan.

SCHOOL BONDS.

Mr. Geoghegan had a plan to submit looking to the saving on a per cent on school bonds to the taxpayers. He moved that instead of buying bonds from the sinking fund, and thus adding profit to the note shavers, the matter be referred to the finance committee with a view of calling in the present bonds which are out at 5 per cent, and issuing in their stead 4 per cent bonds. The matter was referred to the committee as moved.

The school election was scheduled for Dec. 7, and Mr. Geoghegan, the secretary of the board, was authorized to prepare for the election.

The report of the committee, recommending that the contract of printing the annual report be given to the Ackerman Printing company at $1.05 per page, was adopted.

NEW TEACHERS.

Several new teachers were appointed—Miss Mary Tensdel to teach art in the East Side High school at $50 per month; Mrs. A. B. Stephens, $72.50; Miss Martha P. Smith, $80; C. A. Angell, $40; Miss Kate James, assistant, the matter be referred to the finance committee with a view of calling in the present bonds which are out at 5 per cent, and issuing in their stead 4 per cent bonds. The matter was referred to the committee as moved.

MINIMUM SALARIES.

Considerable discussion occurred over the raising of the minimum salaries of the grade teachers from $30 to $40 per month. Mr. Geoghegan objected to the raising of the grade teachers, and teachers ought to first show their ability before being advanced. Superintendent of Schools Christensen explained that good teachers were frequently lost to the city schools because $30 was not inducement enough to obtain their services upon graduation from the normal school. Mr. Nelden and Prof. Cummings concurred in this view. Upon the taking of the vote the objection of Mr. Geoghegan had no support. G. W. Anderson was awarded the contract for taking care of the blackboards of the city schools this year for $1,000.

RANSACKED THE HOUSE.

Burglar Steals Clothing and Silverware from T. S. Kinnerley.

A burglar entered the home of T. S. Kinnerley at 5 Center's court last night about 7 o'clock, and carried away about $50 worth of clothing and silverware. Mr. and Mrs. Kinnerley left home about 8 o'clock and did not return until about 8 and immediately upon their return they discovered their loss. It is supposed that the burglar gained entrance through the front door by means of a skeleton key, as the neighbors saw a man coming out of the front door about 7 o'clock, but thought it was Mr. Kinnerley. The burglar secured two suits of clothes, three pairs of trousers, some women's apparel, a set of silver knives and forks, a carving set and several napkins. The matter was reported to the police and Detectives Shannon and Raleigh are working on the case trying to locate the burglar and the stolen goods.

IRISH PLUCK.

Irishmen stand high in the regard of Admiral Schley. He likes to tell stories of the indomitable, reckless pluck of the Irish. Thus, at a dinner at Col. McClure of Philadelphia gave in his honor, he said: "An American merchantman once lay in a Dutch port, and a number of Dutch sailors came aboard to have a chat with our men. By-and-by a spirit of rivalry arose. The sailors tried to outdo one another in athletic tricks. The honors for a long while lay with the Americans, but finally a Dutchman climbed to the very top of the mainmast, and there stood on his head. 'The Americans' spirit fell at once.

A NOTABLE PERSONATION OF CALIBAN.

Mr. Beerbohm Tree, the well known English actor, has recently been playing the difficult role of Caliban in Shakespeare's "Tempest." This mythological character was a deformed monster, the son of the witch Sycorax and a devil. He originally had claim to the sovereignty of the enchanted island, but was reduced to servitude by Prospero, the rightful Duke of Milan, who had been deposed and, with his daughter, Miranda, set adrift in a small boat. Landing on the enchanted isle, he proceeded to put into active service the art of magic, which he had once learned as a pastime. He made a slave of Caliban and began to call upon supernatural agencies with such effect that he finally triumphed over his enemies.

It was plain that the Dutch had outdone them. They looked at one another sheepishly. They were silent and ashamed.
Suddenly a young Irishman leaped to his feet. "Begob," said he, "I won't let a Dutchman beat me."
"And the reckless fellow ran like a monkey up the mast, and got ready to stand on his head on the top. He put his head down and gave a push with his legs. The first push wasn't heard enough and he dropped back. Up went his legs again. But the second push was too hard, and he fell head over head. His back struck the first rope, his legs the next, his neck the next, and so on, somersault after somersault, till eventually he landed on his feet on the deck."
"Do that," he shouted immediately, and he looked triumphantly at the Dutchmen.
"All the sailors crowded round him and praised his pluck and agility warmly."
"Och," he said, "say nothing about it. Sure it's an old, old trick with me. Sure it's a trick the little children do in my country."

STAMPED THE ANGELS.

George is four years old and has just arrived at the dignity of his first knickerbockers—with suspenders, just like papa wears. They were the pride of his heart, and at night he would take them off his trousers and clasp them tight in his arms when he went to bed. His mother found them there the other night, and as they seemed to be making the little chap uncomfortable, she took them away and laid them on a chair by his bed.
"The next morning he had a long interview with his mother."
"Didn't you tell me, mama," he said, "that angels watched everything I did?"
"Yes, George."
"Are they watching me when I sleep?"
"Yes, my son, they watch over you always, whatever you are doing."
"Do they come right in my room at night?"
"Yes, dear, the good angels are everywhere always."
"Then," said George meditatively, "let 'em be monkeyin' with my suspenders!"—Detroit Free Press.

A SHARP TRICK.

"I used to know," said Tom Sharkey, the pugilist, an old man named Mac-Nab who had a fighting badger. Mac was proud of his badger. He claimed that it had killed seven bulldogs, and he was always trying to arrange matches for it.
"Seldom, though, could a man be found with a bulldog that he would risk against the strange animal. But one day such a man turned up, and amid a great deal of excitement he and Mac settled on a finish fight between the badger and his bulldog. The stakes were to be $100 a side, and the fight was to come off in two months. Meantime the dog and the badger were in training."
"Well, as time passed on and the day of the fight drew near, persistent rumors arose that all was not right with the dog. Mac's friends were pleased. They foresaw that Mac was bound to win the money. From all sides as the stories of the dog's bad shape multiplied, congratulations poured in on the old man.
"Well, you can imagine the disgust of everyone when, three days before the fight, it was given out that Mac had compromised. There would be no match. He had compromised with the bulldog's owner for $100—half the stakes."
"Well, Mac," I said meeting him on the street the next morning, "you have been a fool. That bulldog isn't in condition to fight a rat. You have been done out of $100 money. If all means you should have insisted that the fight come off."
"Maybe I should," Mac answered, and he chuckled. "Maybe I should. Tom, only you see, my badger's dead."

QUEEN OF ACTRESSES PRAISES PE-RU-NA.

MISS JULIA MARLOWE
Heartily Approves of Peruna For the Nerves.

In a recent letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., "Miss Julia Marlowe, of New York City, writes the following:

"I am glad to write my endorsement of the great remedy, Peruna, as a nerve tonic. I do so most heartily."—Julia Marlowe.

Nervousness is very common among women. This condition is due to anemic nerve centers. The nerve centers are the reservoirs of nervous vitality. These centers become bloodless for want of proper nutrition.

This is especially true in the spring season. Every spring a host of invalids are produced as the direct result of weak nerves.

This can be easily obviated by using Peruna. Peruna strikes at the root of the difficulty by correcting the digestion.

Digestion furnishes nutrition for the nerve centers. Properly digested food furnishes these reservoirs of life with vitality which leads to strong, steady nerves, and thus nourishes life.

Peruna is in great favor among women, especially those who have vocations that are trying to the nerves.

Thousands of testimonials from women in all parts of the United States are being received every year. Such unsolicited evidence surely proves that Peruna is without an equal as a nerve tonic and a vital invigorator.

Buy a bottle of Peruna today. If you do not receive all the benefits from Peruna that you expected, write to Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.
