

RUSSIA'S POLICY IN THE FAR EAST

Will Develop Peaceful Relations
That Have Been Re-established
With Japan.

RUSSIAN AMBASSADOR TALKS

Amoor Railroad Society an Enterprise
Furthering Civilization and Progress.

Washington, June 11.—Administration officials unofficially have been made acquainted with the essential features of an important interview recently had by the representatives of a Moscow newspaper with Mr. Melevsky-Malevitch, recently appointed Russian ambassador to Tokyo, which touches upon Russia's policy in the far east. The views expressed by the ambassador, it is said, meet with the hearty approval of the Russian foreign office. The tenor of Mr. Malevsky-Malevitch's observations are pleasing also to the administration and to the diplomatic corps here, as it indicates a desire and intention on the part of the Russian government to develop the peaceful relations established with Japan.

The Russian ambassador took the view that with the conclusion of the treaty of commerce, the fisheries convention and the political agreement, all entered into between Russia and Japan during the past year, the peaceful aims of the policy of Russia with regard to Japan have been definitely established. Then he continued:

"My instructions are very definite. I am called upon to uphold and develop the peaceful neighborly relations which we have at last succeeded in re-establishing with Japan. My task will therefore be to bring about a series of agreements on questions of international private law, which have become necessary in view of the fact that consular jurisdiction on Japanese territory has ceased to exist, and in order to meet the growing requirements of our industries and our trade. Of these future agreements some are provided for by the treaty of commerce, while others have been outlined in my negotiations with Mr. Motono, the Japanese ambassador at St. Petersburg."

The ambassador said he was accused of being to pro-Japanese, a strange reproach he thought to be addressed to a Russian. Yet, though remaining a Russian, he said he could not deny that Japan always had interested him keenly, and he was unable to withhold to that friendly nation his esteem and appreciation of such qualities as had been and are constantly manifested by its people.

Reference was made to the Amoor railroad, which recently has been approved by the duma and now awaits action by the council of the empire. "It is solely an enterprise furthering the interests of civilization and progress," the ambassador said, and added:

"It is strange to qualify as 'venture-some policy' a scheme having for its object the linking together of the center of a country with its own outlying possessions by means of a railroad built on its own territory. The Amoor provinces were sorely grieved when the Siberian line turned suddenly to the side and left to lie idle a costly, full of natural wealth and possibilities."

CURED HEMORRHOIDS OF THE LUNGS.

"Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ake, Wood, Ind. "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar and my lungs are now as sound as a bell. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble. Foley's Honey and Tar stops the cough and heals the lungs, and prevents serious results from a cold. Refuse substitutes. For sale by F. J. Hill Drug Co., 'The Never Substitutors.'"

COURT OF APPEALS ADJOURNS.

San Francisco, Cal., June 11.—The U. S. circuit court of appeals yesterday adjourned for the term, and will meet again on July 6. Before adjourning they affirmed the decision of the lower courts in the following cases:

Alaska-Treadwell Gold Mining company vs. L. R. Cheney, administrator of the estate of Ole Linge from Alaska; Title Guaranty and Trust company, vs. Puget Sound Works, et al.

The court also granted a rehearing in the case of Charles Nickell vs. The United States from Oregon. This is one of the land fraud cases.

BOUND WITH LOG CHAIN.

Chicago, June 11.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Perry, Okla., says: With a log chain, to the end of which was attached a cowbell, fastened by a lock and secured around his neck and the key purposely thrown away, Louis Barnes of Ponca City, with his bride of an hour, Miss Mammie Davis of Perry, was forced by friends aboard a Pullman coach last night en route to Chicago on their honeymoon trip. It will be necessary to have a link of the chain sawed in order to free Barnes.

GRAIN ELEVATOR BURNED.

Chicago, June 11.—In a spectacular fire which destroyed the great grain elevator of the Tri-State Grain company at Hammond, Ind., last night, 250,000 bushels of corn were destroyed and property valued at $200,000, including the corn, was burned. The fire was caused by a hot box on a small wheel on a grain belt, which was being used to hoist grain into the elevator.

Before the fire could be controlled, telegraph and telephone wires along the Chicago Junction tracks and more than a score of freight cars were destroyed. The elevator was owned by Richard Fitzgerald, president of the Chicago Junction railway.

SOLDIERS ARE MARCHING

From All Directions Towards Defieret, N. Y., to Perform Military Feat Unparalleled in Am. History.

New York, June 11.—Unless something goes wrong in the calculation of Gen. Frederick D. Grant, the 3,000 soldiers of the regular army under his command, who are marching from every point of the compass toward the village of Defieret, Jefferson county, N. Y., will perform a military feat unparalleled in the history of the American army.

When Gen. Grant announced that he intended to march 10 detachments of men from points hundreds of miles apart and have them meet at a common center within three hours of one another, military men of experience were inclined to say it could not be done. After looking over the telegraphic reports from the commanding officers of the 10 detachments, Gen. Grant stated that he fully expected to have his troops arrive at the big camp at Pine Plains within one hour of the time set, which is next Saturday noon.

The effort to reduce the marching of troops to a scientific basis is only one of the interesting features of the annual maneuvers of the department of the east, which are to be held at Pine Plains, a 12-mile square tract of land in Jefferson county. More than 15,000 soldiers, regulars and militia, will participate.

One of the important problems which the war department will try to work out will be the availability of the automobile for military purposes. To this end, officers started early this morning from the Governor's Island ferry to make the run to Pine Plains in an automobile, and the same car, with possibly others, will be used throughout the maneuvers in every possible way that military exigencies may require, thus undergoing a thorough test under both camp and campaign conditions.

Lieut.-Col. Edwin F. Glenn, of the Twenty-third infantry; Capt. William T. Johnson and Maj. Charles G. Woodruff, will be the chief sanitary officer of the camp, making the automobile trip to Pine Plains. They expect to reach Albany tonight and tomorrow a daybreak to start on the 170-mile trip from the state capital to the camp, arriving there tomorrow night.

Gen. Grant will leave for the camp tonight.

POLICEMAN MAKES RESCUE OF TWO CHILDREN

Chicago, June 11.—Lucille and Gilbert Beggs, aged six and four years respectively, were rescued from almost certain death last night, when John W. Blaik, a mounted policeman, spurred his horse on to the tracks of the Evanston extension of the Northwestern elevated railroad at the Bryan Mawr crossing and snatched them from the front of a rapidly moving train. With sparks flying from the wheels as the brakes were ground against them, the line of cars sped past, being stopped a hundred feet distant.

The rescue was seen by scores of persons, and the mounted policeman was cheered loudly as he urged his horse to its utmost and then leaped far out in his right arm. Although slightly injured, Blaik carried his charges to their home.

The children had been left in a buggy by their father, Joseph, who stepped into a store. An instant later the animal had taken fright and was dashing along the street.

When the railroad crossing was reached the gates were down to permit a train to pass, but with a wild lunge the horse crashed through the barriers. The children were thrown to the tracks as the vehicle was overtaken, and the horse sprang over the gates on the east side and collided with another buggy driven by Gustave Swanson. Swanson was thrown to the street and suffered slight injuries.

At the time Blaik was a block west of the crossing. He reached the crossing a second after the conveyance was overturned and the rescue of the children followed.

A TREE ON A TOWER.

A tree growing on the top of the 110-foot tower of the courthouse at Greenburg, Ind., is a curiosity which is said by a writer in St. Nicholas to have no duplicate in the world.

There were formerly four trees, but when the courthouse was remodeled in 1887 the largest tree, then about fifteen feet high, was removed, as its size was thought to render the tower unsafe.

Two others on the south side perished from the intense heat. The tree left is found at the northwest corner of the tower, where the reflection of the heat of the tower is not so intense as at the point where the two others died. As there is a grove of soft maples growing in the courtyard, the grove on the tower is supposed to have been started by the wind blowing the winged maple seeds into the crevices where, catching root in the sediment of dust and watered by the rain, they sprouted.

The trees were first noticed sprouting more than thirty years ago. A recent examination of the tower shows no damage done by the spreading growth of the roots. This tree is fifteen feet in height and three inches in diameter. It is found that the trees were nourished by a layer of growth a few feet below where the roots emerge.

A large crack on the south side of the tower where one of the trees was removed is noticeable from the ground. Because of the lone tree, Greenburg is some times known as the "Lone Tree."

JURY ACQUITS ACTOR HITCHCOCK

Was Charged With Improper
Conduct Towards Girls Scarcely in Their Teens.

FOUR OTHER INDICTMENTS.

He Was Remanded to the Tombs Prison But Probably Will Be Released on Bail.

New York, June 11.—The jury in the case of Raymond Hitchcock returned a verdict of not guilty at 2:50 o'clock this morning.

The jury returned to the courtroom about 2:40 o'clock and asked to have read to them the testimony regarding the presence of a curtain behind which Hitchcock's valet was said to have hidden in the Forty-first street house. Helen Von Hagen and Elsie Voeks testified that there was no such curtain.

The jury retired after the reading, and in a few minutes reached their verdict of not guilty.

Mrs. Hitchcock was in court when the verdict was returned, and, bursting into tears, embraced her husband, who was also congratulated by many friends who had waited in the courtroom for the verdict.

There being four other indictments against Hitchcock, he was remanded to the Tombs prison by Justice Goff. It is expected that he will be admitted to bail when court convenes this morning.

The trial of Raymond Hitchcock, who was charged with attempted assault upon young girls, was concluded late today, the case being given to the jury at 7:30 p. m.

The greater part of the day was taken up with the submission of evidence for the defense to controvert the charge that Hitchcock mistreated either the complainant in the case, Helen Von Hagen, or Elsie Voeks. His chauffeur and valet, Herman H. H. Rucke, was an important witness in corroborating Hitchcock's testimony that there was no misconduct on his part on any of the occasions instanced by the state.

William Astor, chairman, the former congressman, was another witness of the day to controvert the evidence of Helen Von Hagen that she saw him at the actor's home at Great Neck upon one of her visits there. Documentary evidence was produced to show that Hitchcock on one occasion at least was in New York city when one of his girl accusers declared he was with them at his summer home on Long Island.

Atty. Steur in his argument dwelt strongly upon the testimony of Hitchcock's valet regarding the visit of the two girls to the "house with green blinds" in West Forty-first street. The valet testified that Hitchcock's conduct at that time was exemplary; that the actor taxed the girls with circulating base stories about him and dismissed them with a warning when they denied having done so.

In summing up, Prosecutor Garven declared that Hitchcock had confessed his guilt "to me and to you."

A TYPEWRITER EXPERT.
Thomas A. Edison criticized at Atlantic City a scientific writer.
"He is a fine chap," said the inventor, "but he knows nothing about machinery. His knowledge of machinery is like that of a business man to whom I talked one day. It was at the time when typewriters had first come out, and the man had taken several on trial, and was testing them to see which, if any, he should buy."
"Oh," he said, "they're all about alike. They print well enough, but they don't spell one word in three correctly."
