AN EXTRAORDINARY EXPERIENCE.

THIRTEEN SNATCHED FROM DEATH, HE REMAINS AT LAST.

Brother John Knowle, who died at Joseph, Sevier County, on November 8th, at the age of 49 years, 9 months and 15 days, was one of the early settlers of Southern Utah, and the cause of his death was superinduced by accidents and exposure, sustained while acting the part of a pioneer in that region. He passed through a remarkable experience.

The second winter after the settling of Beaver, where he then resided, in going to and returning from mill in Paria, he was so badly frozen that life became nearly extinct, and he was only saved by being put into a barrel of cold water, and was thus relieved of frost and resuscitated.

After that he was drowned in Provo River, while on his way to Salt Lake City, but his body was rescued and through timely help and the most strenuous efforts of friends, who rolled him upon the ground until most of the water he had swallowed ran out of him, he was once more brought back to life.

A few years ago he was struck by lightning, two horses being killed at the same time, one on each side of him. He was picked up for dead, but again he recovered. Thus, being snatched three times from the grasp of the destroyer, and enduring ordeals which seldom fall to the lot of one mortal in this life, his mind and body became weakened and debilitated, so that he was an invalid for a number of years prior to at last falling asleep. Peace to his ashes. Our informant is G. A. Murdoch.

Growth of a Music House.—No doubt there are citizens who recollect the small stock of musical merchandise exhibited and for sale by John B. Kelly, in the bindery of this establishment, in 1851. The stock belonged to Mr. David O. Calder, and did not exceed $500, first cost. It was the first importation of the kind into the Territory, and although small, was sufficient to meet all demands during the next twelve months. About the same time Mr. Calder organized vocal classes and taught 800 pupils, giving several concerts in the Tabernacle and Theatre, all of which created a market for the sale of musical goods.

During the years 1853 to 1863, Mr. Calder imported quite a number of pianos and organs from New York and Boston. Notwithstanding they had to be conveyed in wagons from the Missouri River, over the plains, through rivers and over the Rocky Mountains, at an expense of $270 for the transportation of a piano, and $30 for an organ, Mr. Calder's business so increased during those years that it became necessary to enlarge his premises, and the result was the erection of his two-story house, at 72 East Temple Street, in 1871.

In September, 1879, it became evident that the growing importance of his business required his undivided personal attention, consequently he resigned his position as Treasurer and Secretary of Zion's Co-operative Mercantile Institution. Since that time his labor, by intelligent, fair and honorable dealing, has been crowned with much success, so that the business has completely outgrown the accommodations at 72 East Temple Street and has been compelled to erect a larger building on his premises on First South Street, next to Henry Dinwoody's furniture store, which is now about completed and will be opened on Monday, December 17th, at 6 o'clock p. m., with a large and magnificent stock of everything known in the music business.

The building is said to be one of the most substantially constructed stores in the city. It is thirty feet wide, ninety feet long and fifty-five feet high from the first floor. The two front plate glass windows each measure nine feet by twelve. The basement and three stories are heated with steam by the most approved appliances. The interior arrangements, fittings and decorations are very fine and reflect Mr. Calder's intelligent taste. Altogether the new music warehouse will be a credit to any city in the Union. We congratulate the proprietor on his success and enterprise, and hope that he may continue long to prosper.

House-numbering and Free Delivery.—In response to an inquiry by Postmaster Lynch, in relation to house numbering and its bearing upon the establishment of the free postal delivery now in contemplation, City Recorder H. M. Wells replied with the following communication:

John T. Lynch, Esq., Postmaster, Salt Lake City.

DEAR SIR:—In reply to your inquiry of this morning, I take pleasure in reporting that the work of numbering houses is nearing completion. I ride about the city yesterday for the express purpose of noting how many numbers were up, and was pleased to observe that unnumbered houses were very much like "angels' visits." But in every public requirement of this nature, there are always procrastinators. To urge this class into action, the City Marshal to-day put on a force of men to examine each house in the postal district and ascertain if the law has been complied with; if any are found who have not taken steps towards placing their numbers as the law provides, they will be immediately prosecuted; those who have ordered numbers, but neglected to put them up, will be given two days in which to do so. The force is large enough to permeate the city "cellar" in two days. The City Marshal authorizes me to say that he will make the required certificate of completion inside of ten days. While every effort is being made to compel the earliest possible compliance, the ordinance allowing thirty days from the date of notice cannot be overreached. This ten day rule is final. The report you require will be made before then.

Very respectfully,
 HERBERT M. WELLS, Recorder.

The members of the 4th quorum of Seventies and the scattered Seventies residing in the 21st Ward are requested to meet on Tuesday evening at 7.30, in the 21st Ward meeting house, those who have not already done so are requested to bring their recommendations.

RETURNED MISSIONARY.

Elder Soren Jacobson, of Mount Pleasant, Sanpete County, returned last evening from a mission to the United States, upon which he started a year ago the 20th of November. He labored till last spring in Minnesota, and was then changed to Dakota, where he remained until he was released.

In Minnesota he labored conjointly with Elder Jacob Fisher, but found little opportunity to preach during the winter. The residents were much scattered and the snow very deep. He narrowly escaped freezing on one or more occasions. In this state however the people were more willing to listen than in Dakota, although the only baptisms effected were in the latter district. These were a man and his wife in Grand Forks.

He labored all the time while in Dakota with Elder N. L. Lund, of Mount Pleasant, and operated in several other Counties, besides the one above mentioned. His health failed last spring, and he was afflicted with rheumatism, which was the cause of his being released to come home. He leaves for Sanpete to-day.

Our musical friend, Evan Stephens, was presented yesterday with a beautiful glass from about fifty of his present and past children pupils. It was doubly precious, coming as an acknowledgment from the little ones, of their appreciation of the ever flagging interest he has taken in their behalf.
