EVENING NEWS.

FATHER GERDEMANN AND THE CATHOLICS.

The Catholics have tried to frighten me in vain, and I will stay in their midst and follow my business, and if they disturb me I have not the least doubt it will soon be decided who reigns in this good city of Philadelphia, the Catholic mob or law and order. They have tried to bring me back with money. Priests told me if I only would leave that woman, meaning my wife, they would do everything for me. But I spurned their base, immoral advice. One layman offered me as much as $10,000 if I would return. Another one said he would settle the charge in twenty-four hours if I would return. I asked that man whether he knew priests. "Indeed, I do," he answered. "I have been in their company frequently in former years. No set of men can swallow as much whiskey as they. I know of their immorality. I despise hishep Wood. In fact," he continued, "I don't allow priests as visitors to my house, that they may not corrupt my children by their bad examples. I know they can he very obscene. Yet, Gerdemann, come back if you want to, support a mistress, but come back, I'd sooner now see you committ adultery every week than help those damned [CONCLUDED.]

now see you committ adultery every week than help those damned Protestants." I need not tell you that I left the man in disgust. In conclusion let me say a few words about the status and aim of the Catholic Church in this coun-try. Their numbers are greatly over estimated, and they make very few converts among the Americans.
Calculating in their manner, that is, including every man, woman and child, we will not find five millions. Of the children they lose at least fifty per cent, eventyfive per cent of boys and twentyfive per cent of girls. If the immigration of Cathelies should crase oday, in less than twenty-five years three fourths of the Catholic churches would be closed for want of worshipers. Among all the pewholders in the Roman Church of the city there are not six per cent. this city, there are not six per cent.

G. W. DAVIS.

native Americans. Catholicism is not an indigenous plant here, but of foreign growth, and does not thrive. But the leaders are shrewd. They know how to display to the best advantage. It is a blessing indeed for our glorious country that things are not as they want to make us believe. Rome and its emissaries would like to centrol this country. In fact they will attempt to rule it When I saw the parades on St. Patrick's day in '73 and '74 I was how many voters we have now, Rocky Mountain Pills. and how many fighting men we will command when the fight commences, and commence it will on the school question," he said repeatedly. If they praise our free Republican institutions now, don't be deceived. The Church of the Inquisition will never be the admirer and supporter of liberty. The Pope denounces and condemns that very corner stone of our Republic—liberty of conscience. If Rome has abandoned the stake and the tortures of the Inquisition, it is not on account of want of will, but want of power. Give it the power o-day, and the dungeons will bebrown wide open on to-morrow, or all heretics and unbelievers.

Catholics like the laws very well as long as they please and help them. The Gatholics may outrage the sense of the Protestant community by Sunday parades and nelsy music; they may denounce Protestantism every day of the year, and we Protestants are silent; but one word said against them, they get perfectly crazy.

Our Country Contemporaries Ogden Junction, August 3-

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Mason, vice of Mr. O. E. Mason, agent in his city for the Singer sewing machine, was about to alight from the chines around town when the horse run. The lady's foot caught in one of the wheels and at the same time she grasped the wheel and held on locking the wheel and held on, locking the wheel for about six rods, when Mr. Thomas Biddle came to her assistance and released her from her perilous position. Mrs. Mason is badly bruised and is not able to attend to business.

On Wednesd y as a sixteen year old daughter of Jimmy Bond was drawing water from a well near the Court House, she lost her balance and tumbled into eight feet of water. There was no one near to help her, but the girl with extraor-dinary presence of mind grasped the walls of the well and with her desperate effort crawled out of her dangerous bath, dripping like a rat, but safe and sound.

On Tuesday evening as one engine on the C. P. and one on the U. C. were using energetic efforts to pass the crossing the two collided. The one on the C. P. was No. 126. the one on the C. P. was No. 128, the yard engine here, she struck the U. C. No. 6 amidships. A hole was made in the tank of No. 128, and her hind trucks knocked off the track, while the tank of the U. C. was thrown off. The 126 was backing down switching a heavy train. The No. 6 was backing up light. No person injured.

H. B. Forbes, of Ogden, has shown us a model of a window fastener, adapted to houses, cars, etc. The weight of the thumb-bolt holds the window in its place, while, for greater security, a spring acts on the thumb-bolt. Mr. Forbes will send the model to Washington and apply for a patent at once.

which cost in laber $500. There are bluffs that form a natural fence three miles long. The cost of the water is $15 to the nere. The party was sent out by the local authorities of Brigham City. And it is expected that machinery for man ufacturing the cotton will be put up in the cloth mills already in operation at Brigham (ity. The party met with remarkable success, and expect to erect dwelling houses pext fall. From present appearances the yield of cotton will be from eix to eight thousand pounds.
