

BAD ACCIDENT AT SALT PALACE

Floyd McFarland Falls in Motor
Paced Race, Sustaining
Serious Injuries.

SPLINTER PENETRATES SIDE.

Tire Blows Up, Precipitating Rider,
Who is Rendered Unconscious and Carried from Track.

A serious accident occurred during the 20-mile motor-paced race between Floyd McFarland and W. E. Samuelson at the Salt Palace last night in which the former rider fell and sustained a broken rib and a deep gash on his left side, caused by the penetration of a large splinter from the track. McFarland was rendered unconscious and was carried from the track to his dressing room where he was given medical attendance and was restored to consciousness. He was then taken in a carriage to St. Mark's hospital, where it is expected he will soon recover from his injuries.

The motors were traveling at about 150 miles an hour and covered six miles, four laps and 180 yards when McFarland's tire blew up and he rolled down the steep bank of the track on the north end for a distance of 40 feet. Samuelson, and his motor following close behind, barely missing him. McFarland's left side was pierced by a large splinter which barely missed his heart. After being carried to the dressing room, Dr. White was called and extracted the splinter and upon making a close examination found that one of the rider's ribs was broken, so he was sent to the hospital.

SECOND SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

This is the second serious accident to McFarland in a motor-paced race, the first one occurring in New York several years ago. After the accident in the east, McFarland declared he would never ride behind a motor again, but appeared in the event last night against Samuelson only to meet with another accident. It is very probable that he will again suffer following the race of a motor. Unless blood-poisoning or some other complication sets in as a result of the wound caused by the splinter, he will not be confined in the hospital very long. At the time of the accident, he was in the lead but the race was awarded to Samuelson.

LAWSON WINS MILE OPEN.

Iver Lawson won the mile open professional event with Downing and McFarland following in the order named. The time was two minutes. Kramer and Clarke were suffering from the effects of the spill of Tuesday night and did not ride last night at all.

In the two-mile handicap race, five of the limit men caught following the race of a motor. Lawson, Krebs, Pye, fourth, time 2:00.

Half-mile invitation, professional—Dorian first, Munroe second, Burris third, W'coo fourth; time 1:59 1-5.

STILL GIVEN THE DECISION

Lightweight from Lowell, Mass.,
Clearly and Fairly Defeats
Thompson.

FOUGHT TWENTY ROUNDS.

Contest Was a Gruelling One from
Start to Finish and Another
Match is Probable.

After twenty rounds of fierce and vicious fighting at the Ogden Greenwood park summer track last evening, Pete Sullivan of Lowell, Mass., was given the decision by Referee Jimmy Burns, over "Cyclone" John Thompson of Chicago. The decision was just and fair. Sullivan earned it.

Where there is no knockout there is always a howl from some quarter about the decision. Last evening's decision was no exception to the rule, but Sullivan was entitled to the decision just the same. Some thought the bout should have been declared a draw. It was not close to a draw. Here are some of the reasons why Sullivan got what he was entitled to:

OUTCLASSED THOMPSON.

He outclassed Thompson in ring generalship. His defensive work was superior to that of "Cyclone" Sullivan's. Sullivan was cleaner, better timed and did more damage than those delivered by Thompson. While it is true that Thompson was a better boxer, Sullivan would then displayed rare judgment by letting his heavier opponent fight himself out. In blocking and footwork Sullivan was far and away ahead of Thompson. In addition to all this Sullivan was entitled to the decision because Thompson repeatedly fouled him, especially in the last round when he butted and struck Sullivan with his elbow. Sullivan has not been given due credit for this remarkable fight made. But he got the decision and he deserved it.

Thompson appeared to be about 10 pounds heavier than Sullivan, and he was working for a few days, but he managed to get himself in condition to meet the rough Chicago fighter and make him realize that he had been in a fight.

THOMPSON BEST FIGHTER.

The statement that the bell saved Sullivan in the fifth round is not true. His blocking was perfect and when Thompson began to swing rights and lefts, Sullivan blocked and caught the blows on his arms and gloves.

Sullivan would then displayed rare judgment by letting his heavier opponent fight himself out. In blocking and footwork Sullivan was far and away ahead of Thompson. In addition to all this Sullivan was entitled to the decision because Thompson repeatedly fouled him, especially in the last round when he butted and struck Sullivan with his elbow. Sullivan has not been given due credit for this remarkable fight made. But he got the decision and he deserved it.

WHIRLWIND FINISH.

In the ninth and fifteenth "Cyclone" had an advantage over Sullivan. He cut his opponent's eye open in the ninth and in the fifteenth landed several rights and lefts to the jaw and body and Sullivan appeared to be in distress. But after that Sullivan more than evened the score. The contest was witnessed by about 2,000 persons, a large delegation going up to the park to see the fight.

Prince of Wales, related to those are the only conditions I will entertain. Nelson's manager can hedge on this technically of the weighing-in being in fighting time. He is afraid to let Nelson fight Gans again." Offers are still being made for the purported lightweight championship battle between Gans and Nelson. The latest is one of a purse of $50,000, which L. Nineteen cars completed the run with perfect scores.
