Al G. Field's minstrels drew a big audience at the Theater last evening not the crush and throng that minstrel companies used to Salt Lake-but a very satisfactory house nevertheless. In the upper regions The standing room was at a premium. The visited Salt Lake for a long time, and while it has no individual star that would entitle it to be ranked along-side of William H. West or Primrose e audlence last night gave it unbounded signs of approval. The first part was especially good, and was full of novelties, all the charactors being dressed in court costumes of several centuries back, and the constantly changing back-ground showing a beautiful view of scenes at the Pan-American exposition. The clever in-terioculor too, Mr. Quinian, made a lecided departure by carrying on his lialogue with the end-men, while sauntering around the stage. The musical features were all strong and the comedy song of the end gentleman whose theme was "Maria," was thor-orughly hilarious. The balanchis, tumoling, and juggling were excellent, and the two violinists were alone worth the price of admission. Everything went with a roar of annroval and the indiations are that there will be another olg house tonight.
