

which could only be met by suspending the coinage of the standard dollar for the time being. In the first place, it was clear that without the co-operation of other commercial countries we could not carry and maintain our position of silver as part of the currency of the world, having now all we need for our own use. Second, if other nations should agree upon a standard value, it would probably be different from ours, so dollars would have to be received. In any event, he thought we did not need any more dollars at present.

NEW YORK, 30.—The Tariff Convention opened with 200 delegates present. John Thompson of the Chase National Bank spoke on "tariff commission," he argued that it was unnecessary to experiment with free trade since the country prospered so greatly under the influence of a protective tariff. Thompson spoke of the popularity of silver coin and recommended the removal of all restrictions on silver coinage and making the silver dollar not only for us but for every silver using nation. This would attract the trade and travel of all the silver using people and they are seven-eighths of the population of the earth. A better class of emigrants would always take into consideration the currency of the country to which they proposed to go. Let us then have a paper currency based on precious metal for domestic use and an American coin currency for the outside world. Let England and Germany take our gold as we are sure they will when they have power to do so. The sooner silver and silver certificates constitute the major part of our money the farther off will be panic and revolution. The speaker also suggests that people have the privilege of taking greenbacks from the treasury in exchange for interest bearing bonds, the bonds to be given back on return of the greenbacks, the treasury thus saving interest while the bonds are out. This measure would surely ward off a panic and it would also effectually bar the stock and grain gamblers from locking up money. Joseph Wharton spoke at great length upon the expediency of basing our tariff legislation upon the report of the commissioner appointed for the purpose of investigating the needs of all industries.

A Washington special says: Secy. Blaine yesterday transmitted to London a very fine cabinet photograph of the late Pres. Garfield, handsomely mounted and enclosed in a satin covered frame, which was placed in a beautiful mahogany box, the gift of Mrs. Garfield to Queen Victoria, in response to a request of the latter some weeks ago, for a photograph of the late President. The photograph sent was selected from a large number, and is regarded as an excellent likeness of the President.

LONDON, the steamer Hermann, from Baltimore from Bremen, which put into Southampton, lost one of her life boats. Twenty tons of tobacco were burned as fuel, coal being short. The vessel became unmanageable and was in terrible danger. She was hove to four days. Capt. Polle, of the steamer Rony, from Montreal from London, was injured in a gale. The steamship City of Berlin, in New York, and the Lord Gough, of Philadelphia, lost boats and sustained other damages. The steam yacht Lucerne came in collision with the Australian clipper Dundee near Gravesend; the former sunk. Seven persons were drowned.

Lefroy, the railway carriage murderer, was executed to-day. The scaffold was concealed from the spectators outside by a tarpaulin hung so as to intercept views overlooking the walls of the jail. Marwood was the executioner, and had a scaffold of a new pattern constructed. It is designed for the use of a long drop. One of the principal features was that the criminal was not obliged to ascend any steps, but walked directly on to the platform, where he was on a level with the spectators. Here he stood upon a hinged trap, falling downward from the centre, and opened by a lever controlling bolt in front. Underneath this was a cavity measuring twelve by eight feet and nearly 15 feet deep, thus giving a clear fall of over 12 feet, obviating the danger of the criminal's feet touching the ground. After the execution, the pit will be utilized for an ash pit. Only a small crowd was on the outside of the jail. They were apprised of the execution by the hoisting of a black flag.

HAVANA, 29.—General Pendergas Gordon, the newly appointed Captain General of Cuba, with his wife, arrived to-day. The Captain General issued a proclamation to the inhabitants, soldiers and volunteers. He says he will follow a broad and generous policy, and guarantees to respect and consider all opinions. He says that covered by the Spanish flag, different political parties should be treated with impartiality and justice.

ST. PETERSBURG, 29.—Twenty-two soldiers of a regiment of hussars of the guard will be tried by court martial to-day for strangling one of their officers. To-morrow a Caucasian prince, Chervachidze, a lieutenant of the same regiment, will be tried for sabering, last July a shopkeeper who had accidentally entered a room he had reserved at a restaurant. Another prince also in the hussars of the guard, who in a drunken fit last week, playfully put a bullet into his servant, and nearly killed him, will probably be brought before the courts before long.

Thanks to a woman Nihilist who had been allowed to escape from Siberia purposely, one of the most influential Nihilist leaders has just been arrested. Knowing from the revelations made by some of the St. Petersburg prisoners that the woman was in relation with the Nihilist in question, the police let her get as far as Moscow, where she was found in company with her accomplice.

It is now decided that the approaching great trial of 62 or more Nihilists will be conducted by the Senate, not by court martial.

PARIS, 30.—There is a meaning published in the Temps relative to the prorogation of the Chamber, and the proposals to be submitted by it is that the Government will await the result of the senatorial elections before proposing the revision of the Constitution, which will consist in giving the large towns a greater show of electing senators than they now have, and in depriving the Senate of the power of amending bills for appropriating money. The Government also brings forward the Scrutin De Liste system to the election of deputies of this, adopted by the congress of the late House called to revise the constitution; thus it will not have to pass each chamber separately. In the Spanish Senate, Senor Dorville opposed the bill for the conversion of metallic stock. The minister of finance said the bill would reduce the revenue by 8,000,000 piastres, but would diminish the expenditure by $5,600,000.
