

SCHOOL GROUNDS MADE BEAUTIFUL

They Should Be Planted With Quantities of Shrubs, Trees
And Flowers.

PLANS TO IMPROVE HOMES.

Prof. R. S. Nordrup of Agricultural College Shows That Artistic Surroundings Easily Provided.

Prof. R. S. Nordrup of the Agricultural college before the Monday study classes at the university on Monday. His subject was the school garden, which he treated as follows:

Now is the time to finish up any garden planting not previously completed. Among seeds that will still do well if planted out now, are the alyssum, ageratum, California poppy, mignonette, portulaca, poppy. Most of these and also asters, patinias, cosmos, verbena, and, in fact, practically all the flowering annuals and perennials will do better if first started in doors. Transplanting should begin as soon after the first of May as the weather appears to be settled.

The advantage derived from transplanting is apparent when we remember that the breaking off of the tips of the plant roots, will increase the root branches, which bear the foot hairs—the absorbing organs of the plant. Many of the flowers to be set out about the home or the school building may have to be sprouted in doors in window boxes. They are to be put out of doors in the soil as soon as their second set of leaves are well developed. But regard must be had to the season. In general, early April is the time to sow in doors, and early May the time to transplant.

ARBOR DAY AND OTHER DAYS.

Arbor day work and the holiday that comes with it, furnish a good opportunity for the development of a tendency among the pupils to plant trees, shrubs and flowers about the school house. Arbor day alone, is not sufficient, however, since a great many of those planted on that day, fail to grow. There is too much hurry, too much ceremony, on Arbor day, to permit of much of the class work. Other days must be added. The best way, perhaps, is to make sure that at least one tree grows. Select a good tree and plant it right at the entrance of the school. When you plant shade trees, set them far enough apart, say 30 to 40 feet, for such a make a good individual growth. This is especially necessary in the case of poplars. If close together, they grow into the air. An occasional field day for garden work and observation will suffice for the creation of attractive school surroundings, so far as labor is concerned.

THE GENERAL PLAN.

As to the details of the work, we may say that the first general requirement for a school garden, is a tract of land of sufficient size to admit of trees and flower gardens, and also, if possible, a small vegetable field. Most of our country schools are located on a small corner of some square, and have barely enough room for the house and the play ground. In that case, the small piece of ground nearby. The school grounds deserve to be made beautiful or at least dignified by the work of the gardener. It is an easy matter, provided that the teachers will give this subject some attention, not only to transform the school grounds, but to improve public taste, especially in the smaller villages, through the planting and decoration of the school grounds.

There are two kinds of school gardens—one for use and practice; another for beauty and decoration. The former, which can be placed next to the building, the vegetables and flowers for cutting can be grown; while in the shrubby border around the

FOUND CUTICURA INDISPENSABLE

For Her Children—Little Girls Suffered with Itching Eczema Which Simply Covered Back of Heads—Baby Had a Tender Skin, Too.

ALL PROMPTLY CURED BY "WONDERFUL OINTMENT"

"Some years ago my three little girls had a very bad form of eczema. Itching eruptions formed on the backs of their heads which were simply covered. Before I heard of Cuticura, I used to try almost everything, but they failed. Then my mother recommended the Cuticura Remedies. I washed my children's heads with Cuticura Soap and then applied the wonderful ointment. I did this four or five times and I can say that they have been entirely cured. I have another baby who is so plump that the folds of skin on her neck were broken and even bled. I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and the next morning the trouble had disappeared. I am using the Cuticura Remedies yet whenever any of my family have any sores, I can never recommend Cuticura sufficiently. It is indispensable in every home. I cannot find its equal. Mrs. Napoleon Duceppe, 41 Duluth St., Montreal, Que., May 21, 1907."

PAINFUL ULCER

On Foot for a Year. Healed by Two Sets of Cuticura

"I had an ulcer on my foot for a year or more and it was very painful as it was a running sore. I had a doctor, but his treatment did not heal it. About eight months ago I commenced to use Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Pills. I used two sets and it was all healed up. Mrs. E. F. Ryder, West Brewster, Mass., April 29, 1907."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humour of Infants, Children, and Adults. Cuticura Ointment (50c) to Heal the Skin, and Cuticura Pills (50c) to Purify the Blood. outside of the grounds, ornamental plants and flowers should be grown in profusion.

Virginia creeper may be trained over any brick wall by the use of barbed wire, and is very ornamental on school buildings. But flowers should not, as a rule, be placed directly in front of the house. They should form the inner line of the frame of the picture and should stand inside the shrubs beneath the trees that enclose the whole of the premises.

HOW TO SUCCEED.

If the school has no money, have the children collect box-elder and maple seeds and raise the shade trees; also use cuttings of poplar.

You can get sumach, birch, dogwood, willow, chokecherry, service berry, currant, gooseberry, maple, cedar and balsam fresh from the canyon. The students will dig them during a field trip in April or early May. So arrange them that the red, green and yellow shades of the bark and leaves of this beautiful native shrubbery shall alternate.

PLAYGROUND AND BORDER.

The treatment of the school area requires that one central space near the buildings be reserved for a playground—preferably a different space for boys and for girls. This division of the playground is advisable because, the usual style of play on the part of boys, differs from that of girls. On the boys' play ground, no trees should be planted; but the girls prefer part of their ground to be shaded.

We should first pay attention to the border and the general interior arrangement. Any picture without a frame looks meager and generally loses half its beauty. The garden framework should be on the limits, the outer edges, of the school grounds.

Large trees with shrubbery beneath are best for this position. It is not unusual to place trees along the street side of the school grounds, but they should be continued all around.

LOCATION OF BUILDINGS.

Next, we locate the school buildings, not in the center, as is the common practice, but toward one side, so that a more pleasing effect will be produced by breaking the absolute symmetry. If the main walk to the building has to be straight make it direct according to American ideas of directness and convenience. If two approaches can be had, curve them slightly, leaving a triangular space in front of the house. Have no large trees in front on this space in front of the schoolhouse or the home. They take away the impressiveness and the prominence of the building itself. A lawn in front will serve the purpose of decoration and will not detract from the preponderating importance of the main object of interest. But a few fine ornamental shrubs, evergreens, white birch, may be used; at so a few trees for shade right near the house, but never directly in front of it. Plant shrubs and trees in such a way as to cut off the view of any objectionable sights. A corral should be shrouded by higher shrubs, which will give the additional advantage of variety by making an ornamental screen. Whenever a curve occurs in the walks, enforce it by means of a tree or shrub in the angle, as if to show that the walk curves to avoid the trees.

A number of important economic species can be grown as ornamental plants among the shrubs of the border.

CHARLES SEALDS IS HOT

Colored Man Decidedly Angry Because George Sheets Was Selected Instead of Himself.

In connection with the appointment of George Sheets as "special" detective there is a story going the rounds that a colored man named Charles Sealds is very much wrought up and decidedly angry. It is claimed that he worked for the "American" party and claims that he controls more votes than Sheets does, that he was promised a place on the detective force and has been cruelly turned down.

Detective George Sheets, ex-chief of police, and for many years associated with the police department of this city, resumed work in the department this morning. At 10 o'clock Mr. Sheets reported to Chief Tom D. Pitt for duty, and is now in active service again.

For many years Sealds was the only detective on the force and was removed by the then Chief of Police, H. L. Tilton. Later he was appointed chief, but there was a squabble over the appointment and the matter was fought out in the supreme court and Sealds was declared illegally appointed. When the "American" party won the city election, he was named chief of police and confirmed but resigned as a result of the McWhirter brothers' $10,000 robbery.

FEATURE NOT ON PROGRAM.

Drunken Man Ejected at Orpheum Last Night by Police Officers.

A feature not on the bill at the Orpheum last night was offered by a man who had lingered too long over his cups. He with three companions from a point of vantage in one of the upper boxes gave an object lesson in the tricks played upon man by malt, vinous and spiritous beverages. He seemed to enjoy the first part very well indeed, but the ending was not so much to his liking.

The intoxicated individual became quickly pleased with the appearance of the first singer to step on the stage. She was a pretty little thing, singing a catching ditty. Then he waved his hand to her and she smiled sympathetically upon him. At the conclusion of her act, he applauded most vigorously. So earnest did he become in his sincere that patrons thought he must surely fall from his lofty perch. All this was the first part.

The beginning of the second part was marked by the appearance of two men in ordinary attire. One stepped to him and asked him to leave the house. His scorn was plainly written in his face. Then the strong arm of the law appeared. For it was Detective Wheeling and Desk Sergeant Lenzi who had appeared in the box. Wheeling, seizing his most fierce look, grasped the wretch by the collar and threw him to the floor, just like the villain does in a Jesse James performance. Wheeling was backed up by the powerful presence of Sergeant Lenzi. Down the stairs the officers and their prey tumbled, out through the stage entrance and into the cold world. Whether the intoxicated person drifted later on, no man knoweth. Feeling that their duty was so well done, the police officers stalked through the lower floor of the house. Hisses from the audience marked their passage. This seemed to worry the officers but little, and the house manager said when the hissing began, "Let them hiss. This house is no place for drunken men, and the sooner they learn it, the less trouble there will be."

A CALIFORNIAN'S LUCK. "The luckiest day of my life was when I bought a box of Buckden's Arnica Salve," writes Charles F. Budahn, of Tracy, California. "Two boxes cured me of an annoying case of itching piles, which had troubled me for years and that yielded to no other treatment." Sold under guarantee at Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept., 112-114 So. Main St.

WEST TEMPLE ROBBERY.

Two thugs, armed with revolvers, held up and robbed George Steen of $25 south West Temple street, near his home at 1015 last night, but did not get much for their pains. They secured a small amount of change and a check for $1.85 on the National Bank of the Republic. The description Steen gave of the men indicates they were the same who robbed the Metropole hotel and attempted to rob the Wellington.

LURID STORY EXPLAINED.

The lurid story of the mysterious shooting of a man Saturday night on First South at Third West street has been explained. The shots were fired during an altercation between strikers and strike-breakers on the Denver & Rio Grande. Strike-breakers had slipped by the guard and when they returned there was a free-for-all fight between them and union men. Rocks and clubs were thrown and finally firearms were brought into use and one of the strike-breakers was wounded. The police are still investigating the affair.

BUY GROUND FOR SCHOOL.

The committee on buildings and grounds of the city board of education which held a meeting yesterday afternoon, decided to recommend that the board purchase a piece of ground adjoining the Emerson school for $1,250. An addition to the school will be erected on this property. The property of the committee will be acted upon at the regular monthly meeting of the board tonight.

DRESS-MAKERS

The nervous strain through which dressmakers have to pass at certain seasons of the year seems almost beyond endurance, and frequently brings on nervous prostration, fainting spells, dizziness, sleeplessness and a general breaking down of the feminine system, until life seems altogether miserable.

For all overworked women there is one tried and true remedy.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

restores the feminine system to a strong, healthy, normal condition.

Mrs. Ella Griffin, of Park St., Canton, N.Y., writes to Mrs. Pinkham: "I was troubled for three years with female weakness, backache, pains in my side, and headaches. I was most miserable and discouraged, for doctors gave me no relief. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought back my health and made me feel better than ever before."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.
