IRRIGATION FUNDS.

Effort of Politicians to Have a Look in on Distribution.

The following recent editorial in the New York Evening Post w with interest in this part of the coun-

"A feature of the government irrigation projects that is not likely to be discussed at the meeting of the irrigation congress at El Paso, is the attempt of interested politicians to gain control of the distribution of the increasing fund for reclamation work. As the Evening Post's Washington correspondent has pointed out, the Hans-brough bill, providing, among other things, for the placing of all irrigation construction in charge of a "political engineer," is likely to be pushed vigorously when Congress meets in December. The specific complaint of spoliticians like Senator Hansbrough of course, that the fund is being distributed among the states, not on the basis of population or political impor-tance, but "where it will do the most good" according to scientific and expert advice. Such insolent disregard of the theory of Western statesmanship-s vote in exchange for an appropriation --nust be punished. Mere surveyors and soil experts should not be allowed to spend $3,000,000 in Nevada, when that state contributed but $48,000 to the fund, and has just elected a Democratic congressman into the bargain. Republican stump speakers in North Dakota, in the Presidential campaign called attention to the necessity of geting back out of the $3,406,000 contributed to the reclamation fund from the sale of public lands more than the $1,750,000 judged to be the state's fair share by the engineers in charge. Obviously, if President Roosevelt's faith in a great West developed through irrigation is to be justified, the work must e jealously guarded from the "political The above was shown to Attorney Richards and State Engineer Doremus, and both stated that the distribution of moneys was entirely within the risdiction of the secretary of the inter-lor, and that it was only on his ipse dixit that it could be apportioned out. So no matter how much the politicians may rage and the heelers imagine valu things, the money will go just where Congress intended it should, unless the sceretary stands in with the political grafters which is not at all likely.

PRINCIPALS' SALARIES.

Resolution Offered at Meeting of the Board of Education.

The long continued attempt of the board of education to agree on a method of raising the salaries of the principals in the city schools, came up for further action at a special meeting of the board of education last night. Mathoniah Thomas submitted the following resolution to replace those which have been unfavorablely discussed heretofore.

"That the valaries of high school principals shall be determined on Individual merit, but the minimum/salary paid a high school principal shall not be less than the maximum salary paid a grammar school principal. A high school principal shall, however, be the holder of a state high school diploma, or its equivalent.

"Each principal of a grade school shall receive a salary of $80, with $4.25 additional for each teacher under his direct supervision; that $5 shall be added to the monthly salary of any grade principal or teacher in the public school when he becomes the holder of a state high school diploma; provided, however, that no grade principal shall receive more than $1,500 per annum, unless he shall have had under his direct supervision a corps of 16 teachers or more for a period of two years."

The resolution was referred to the committee of the whole, which is now considering the previously submitted The financial report of the treasurer of the board showed an overdraft of $102,109.70.

Greeks in the courtroom during the progress of the hearing, and they appeared to take a deep interest in all that was said and done.

The main witness for the prosecution was John Touraloukis. He testified that on one occasion when he was ill be went to "Dr." Attlas for treatment that the latter prescribed for him and gave him some medicine and charged him $25, which he paid to Attlas. The bottles in question were produced and bore the label of a certain drug store Attias declared that he did not treat the complainant; that he did not give him medicine and charge for it. Attlas sald he got a diploma in Paris and that he practised medicine in Europe, but denied having practised medicine here. He said he had acted as inspector for physicians here, and that is all.

Leon Skliris, a Greek labor contrac-tor, testified that he had left orders with Attlas for medicine to be sent to Greeks at Bingham canyon. were the only witnesses examined, and no arguments were made.

THE SIMPLE LIFE

By Charles Wagner.

President Roosevelt, introducing the Author to a large audience in the La-fayette Opera House, Washington, had this to say about the book: This is the first and will be the only time during my presidency that I shall ever introduce a speaker to an audience, and I am more than glad to do it. in this instance, because if there is one book which I should like to have read as a tract and also, which is not in variably true of tracts, as an interest-ing tract, by all our people, it is 'The Simple Life,' written by Mr. Wagner. There are other books which he has written of which we can gain great good, but I know of no other book written of recent years, whether here or abroad, which contains so much that we of America ought to take to our hearts as is contained in 'The Simple
