

NEWS OF THE WEST.

A Woman Accidentally Shot by Six-Year-Old Son.

A TOWN FULL OF FOOLPADS.

Shocking Accident to a Man While Asleep on a Railroad track.—Other Items.

A very large amount of wool is being shipped to both East and West, and it is stated that sheep sheared there have been shipped in Alpine country, Nevada, this season.

The Fort Collins (Wyo.) Courier has the following item: "With the snow removed from the mountains, the mail will be sent to the post offices there before winter sets in for good."

General Foreign has committed suicide at San Francisco, his telephone office. He left a letter saying that life was a failure for him because he could not meet his starting for success.

A Black Springs, Wyo., dentist says that L. Saka, a representative of the Japanese government, has been in the country several days visiting the mineral springs and making arrangements for the opening of a Japanese mining company there by the United Pacific company.

On Wednesday night Clark Hausey, a six-year-old boy of Pendleton, Oregon, playing with a small rifle, aimed it at his shoulder and never "fired." The gun is said to have "pulled" one trigger. The bullet went through the skin, the other artery, missing a dangerous wound.

Mrs. Thomas J. Jenkins, of Elko, Nev., brought in from her Newark Valley home the other day a salmon trout. Her weight: twelve pounds and measured seven and one-half inches. This is the largest trout ever taken in the state, it is agreed.

The Carson (Nevada) Appeal says: "The seals at the trees began to fall yesterday. Sixty-eight seals were taken from trees and quite a number were driven off still live over the hill side of the base of the tree line in the hills, and there is promise of more were to come and a good crowd is expected."

Arthur Ochsner shot Harry Gandy three times at a ranch twelve miles west of Dominguez, Cal., on Wednesday morning. Ochsner claimed that Gandy had threatened damaging reports about his wife, who is the wife of the rancher, and that he had been threatening his wife.

Mr. Gandy, said and well known Comstocker, fell from the roof at a mass meeting this morning and broke one of his ribs, says the Virginia (Nevada) Standard. He and his wife were attending the meeting of miners organized at the mine office at the ranch, the rancher, his wife and the others to the door.
