LOCAL BRIEFS.

Salt Lake's supply of mud was con-siderably lessened today under the warm rays of the sun. The spring-like glory of the day was heightened by the oud chirping of the birds in the trees.

The "News" is in receipt of a splendid wall calendar from the local agency of the Burlington road. It is made for use rather than ornament and it is thoroughly appreciated.

The Daughters of the Revolution will ld their regular annual meeting at the Woman's Exponent office, room Templeton block, tomorrow. A full attendance is requested, as the election of officers will be had,

The senior class of St. Mary's Academy celebrated the anniversary Longfellow's birth last evening, tendering a reception to the friends and patrons of the institution. The hall was arifully decorated and a large portrait of the poet adorned one of the walls.

The charred building in which John Gallacher had his restaurant and the building adjoining it on the north are being tora down to make room for a one story building that is going to be constructed there temporarily, which in turn will be replaced by a larger one when business will warrant.

The Mine and Smelting Supply company is preparing to build a new waresuse, the plans now being in the hands of Architect Ware. It will occupy a place beside the Rio Grande track be-low Third South street and its dimen-sions will be 39x200 feet. It will be of iron frame and one story and a half high.

The State land board meets next Tuesday when it is expected that a new bookkeeper will be appointed to succeed P. W. Maughan, who recently received the appointment of secretary to the Agricultural board at Logan. The salary attached to the land office position is $100 per month, and there is quite a scramble going on for the place.

The complimentary reception tendered last night by the students of the Salt Lake Business College to their faculty, was one of the most success ful and pleasant social events of the season. On the announcement the change of management of the pot, a mass meting was held by the students at which it was decided that complimentary reception should given to the outgoing members of the former faculty and the incoming members of the new faculty. The many friends of Lieut, George W. Gibbs, formerly of battery A, will understand the cause of the unusually broad smile on his face when they learn that he has just been notified that he is now $12,000 richer than he was fortyeight hours ago. Yesterday he received word from Lawrence Bond, an attorney of Newton, Mass, to the effect that his step-mother had died on the 13th inst, at that place, and the prop-erty entrusted to her by her husband had been left to her step-son as pro-vided in his father's will.

Lieut. Gibbs came to the west when he was 19 years old, and has remained here ever since. His mother died just before he left, and since his leaving he has lost both of his sisters.
