By Goff, a resolution requesting the Secretaries of State and War to report upon the feasibility and expediency of constructing an interior coast line of water ways for the defense of the Atlantic and gulf seaboards.

The trade doliar bill was taken up, and Bland took the floor in opposition to the bill, and especially to that section which provides that the trade dollar received at the coinage mints shall be regarded as silver bullion, and the bullion value shall be deducted from the amount of bullion required to be coined by the Act of February 28, 1878. He was in favor of the unlimited coinage of silver and the limited support of the expediency and justice of placing bullion. He compared the silver coinage of the United States with that of France, stating that under existing laws it would be fifteen years before the volume of silver circulation in this country would be equal to that of France.

Bland replied in the negative, and as a reason for his opinion, said the people of this country were not fools enough to exchange their products or anything else without value.

anything else without value.

Miller of Texas, and Lacey, supported the bill, the latter said, however, he wanted to vote against it, if the fourth section, which provided that trade dollars shall be deduced from the monthly coinage of silver, were striken out.

More Deaths at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, 31.—It is now thought the contents of all the safes in the court house are said. The firements the contents of all the sales in the court house are saved. The fireproof material answered all the requirements and stood the terrible test well. The "will" sale of the probate court, in which all the wills are kept, is in excellent condition. The wounded, with few exceptions, are doing well. At the hospital, since the last report, Henry Niemeyer, Philip Raabe and Thomas Green (colored) have died. The physicians pronounce the patients from the riots a most exceptionally fine body of men, with but few exceptions. They are a magnificently developed and splendidly formed class of mechanics and laborers. The following are the most serious cases at the hospital, and the death of any of them is momentarily expected: Loe Simons, shot through the lang; Leo Vosgel Gessings, top of the head blown off by a shot from a gatling gun; Charles Miller, an old German, whose wife and daughter are with him, is also in a critical condition with a wound in the left temple, from which protrude the brains.

About 5 o'clock this evening a fatal accident happened in front of the jali. A number of soldiers of the Governor's Guard of Columbus were asleep, when one of the guns leaning against a wall was knocked down and discharged. The bayonet in falling slightly wounded private N. Stockwell. The ball struck the wall, knocked off a piece of stone, which wounded Oakey Armshead, the drum corps sergeant, and the ball then glancing struck Israel J. Gatz in the eye and lodged in the brain. He was removed to the hospital, where at 9 p.m. he was in a dying condition He

MORMONISM.

The following is the closing article of series of twelve which have appeared in the columns of the Greely Tribune, from the pen of Capt. D. Boyd, who has caused quite a furore against himself by his manly stand in defence of an unpopular maligned people, but has also caused much admiration and applayse from the fair-minded and just, for his bravery and good sense:

I have before called attention to the fact that the Mormons have had many fact that the Mormons have had many foreign apologists, but, so far as I know, no American, except the late Judge Black. To my certain know-ledge, many well-informed, fair-minded Americans entertain the same views about the Mormons as does the writer. But they stand in awe of public opinion. Of course, it would be political suicide for one who should dare to raise his finger against this insane onrush of popular frenzy. What cowards political expectations make of the able, ambitious portion of the citizens of the Republic!

ambitious portion of the citizens of the Republic!

Whoever has the hardihood to speak out, (unwelcome truth!) stands from henceforth branded in the public estimation as a fool. It was the same kind of public opinion which stood by and applauded the marder of Joe Smith and his brother Hyram, and drove the Mormons from the bosom of civilization into the howling wilderness; as that which murdered Lovejoy, dragged Garrison through the streets of Boston with a rope around his waist, and rotten-egged Wendell Phillips. The same unreasonable blind fury, I say, because there is not one in a thousand now howling against the Mormons who could give a reason for the clamor they could give a reason for the clamor they are making. They simply take it for granted that a custom which is newly adopted and contrary to their own must not be tolerated, whether it concerns themselves or not.

Before closing, it is right that my exact position be understood. I am asked, "Do I believe polygamy right?" If by this it is meant, do I believe that it would be right for a man who is married in a monogamous community. married in a monogamous community to take a second wife without the full, free and cordial consent of the first free and cordial consent of the first one, then I say, most emphatically, no! because it would be a breach of the most sacred of contracts. Besides, I shall go farther, and say that it would, in my opinion, be very imprudent counsel for any wife to give or any husband to take. The beli that would ring the announcement of the second marriage must be the death knell of the love which was supposed to make marriage must be the death knell of the love which was supposed to make sacred the first. But, in the second case, it would be an imprudence about which it was nobody's business but the parties concerned. If we are to legislate to prevent imprudent marriages, where shall we end? That many—perhaps most of the marriages which take place under our eyes, can only result in misery, is patent to the observation of all but the parties concerned. Still, it seems to be taken for granted that the contract is sacred, provided each is so contract is sacred, provided each is sufficiently under the influence of sufficiently under the influence of a frenzy called love as to blind them to the defects of each other. Admitting that love is the flower of life, it may soon, in some cases does soon, fade without ripening into the noble fruitage of friendship, nourished and matured by mutual needs finding mutual satisfaction. It is to be remembered that poly gamy is nowhere compulsory, while monogamy always is. Where permit ted, prudent people would never contract plural marriage so long as human nature remains essentially as it is, with its love, its hate, and its jealously. Very prudent people now deem it advisable not to contract monegamic marriage. We can but admire the audacity of the man who has the courage to marry half oan but admire the audacity of the man who has the courage to marry half a dozen of women in an age when so many dread the supporting of one. Who, of the two, holds in higher estimation the worth of woman—the man who fears to marry one, lest her several good-for-nothingness and extravagance bring him to poverty, or the Mormon, who counts the numbers of his wives among his riches? It would be well worth our while to study carefully this problem of Mormon economics, It would seem that among them neither father nor mother sighs when the new-born babe happens to be a girl. They seem to regard the little stranger as a desirable acquisition, likely to become a useful member of society.

stranger as a desirable acquisition, likely to become a useful member of society.

To characterize as unwise the attempt to suffuse polygamy in Utah is not the same as to advocate the repeal of all laws against polygamy among people, who believe in monogamy. While I believe that a prohibitory liquor law is both wise and practicable in Greeley, I would not believe that a prohibitory liquor law enacted by Congress for Wyoming would be either wise ar practicable. A prohibitory liquor law would be practicable in Utah, and an anti-polygamous law in Wyoming, because they would each be in accordance with the sentiment of the people. But the sentiment of the people. But the sentiment of the people of Utah than is that of the right to sell intoxicating liquors in Wyoming. The people of the latter Territary do not regard the use of intoxicants as a religious act. The case would be parallel should Congress pass a law forbidding the use of wine in the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. By the way, the Mormons only use water, and make of it a commemorative feast, celebrated every Sabbath.

This is the fundamental difficulty that besets attempts to get rid of poly-it a commemorative feast, celebrated every Sabbath.

This is the fundamental difficulty that besets attempts to get rid of polygamy in Utah. It is woven into the warp and woof of the Mormon religion. This will be admitted by all who have studied the subject. The writer had a conversation with Miss Faithfull, when here last week, on this subject. She says that polygamy is ingrained in their religion and there is no hope of curing them of the one without converting them from the other. The women will argue in favor of polygamy from one end of the week to the other and there is no hope of convincing them by argument. She then asked me what was my remedy. I replied, only the slow growth of general knowledge—the light of science and literature bringing on a more perfect day, ander the influence of which the ghosts of superstition shall pale and fade
