LOCAL BRIEFS.

The anniversary of the Odd Fellows' Encampment will be held this evening, in Odd Fellows' hall.

The new building of Station A of the Salt Lake postoffice is completed, and the fixtures are being put in.

State Supt. of Schools A. C. Nelson has returned home from St. Louis, where he attended the National Educational association and also the fair.

H. C. Hadley, a miner, was arrested last night on charges of assaulting Henry Jackson, a negro, with a knife in a restaurant. The men were quarreling.

Clerk Letcher has received the much mooted $3,000 in settlement of the judgment rendered against the bondsmen of Charles Melghan, former postmaster at Ogden.

L. L. Zimmerman of Minnesota is in the city endeavoring to find some trace of his sister Emma, who with him has fallen heir to a legacy through the death of relatives.

J. C. Herr's barn at 750 Leveridge street in Popular Grove, burned down last night, at a loss of $100. Incidentally the sweet spirits of 16 chickens took their high in the flames.

Mrs. Joseph Trivlar, 258 East Temple street, lost a valuable breast pin on Jan. 10 Monday. The pin was found by Conductor Robert Svenson of the car, and returned to its delighted owner.

Rev. L. S. Johnson of Provo Episcopal church has accepted a call to a church just outside of New York City, and leaves for the east next Friday. Mrs. Johnson is already in the east.

Walter B. Evans, a "dumb newsboy," is in the city en route to San Francisco, and proposed to remain here a month. He can hear, but his vocal organs were paralyzed by an accident.

Mrs. George L. Nye of this city received the bad intelligence last evening, from her husband at Dewitt, Ia., of the death of his father Major Charles M. Nye. The deceased was a veteran of the Civil war and 70 years old. He was prominent in G. A. R. circles.

Lieut.-Gen. Adna B. Chaffee, the chief of staff of the army, with Quartermaster General Humphrey and Commissary General Weston will inspect the Intermountain army posts during the current month. Special preparations are being made at Fort Douglas to receive the distinguished military tourists.

The Rev. Leitch has been heard from at Lockhaven, Pa. A former resident of this city met him on the cars recently, when the ex-Utah superintendent remarked that he had "15 or 20 holiness idiots" in his congregation, but was getting rid of them very fast.

The Utah Credit Men's association has taken entire charge of Castilla trustee, with John C. Critchlow as trustee, and it is believed that the indebtedness of the resort can be cleaned up in two seasons. Manager J. J. Meyers had expended $7,000 in fitting the place up.

The broken pane of glass in the Keith-O'Brien show window will be replaced as soon as the new glass can be got here. The size of the pane is 12 1/2 by 17 1/2 inches, one of the largest in the west. The man or boy who fired the bullet that did the damage, has not been discovered.

The inmates of the county infirmary had an unusual treat on Sunday in a special Fourth of July breakfast and dinner provided by Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Jones, Jr., who are in charge of the institution. Besides these songs and recitations were rendered for their enjoyment and a general good time spent.

The following postoffice clerks have had their salaries increased $100 per year, beginning July 1: F. W. Gundry, R. J. Twigg, Jennie A. Sawyer, William Jackson, Percy J. Hall, J. E. Seely, William L. Butterfield, W. H. Shea, J. F. Fechner, Elmer Harper, A. E. Pritchard. Three new clerks are now allowed the office.

Reports from the hospitals show a marked decrease in the number of patients, and most of those now under treatment are from out of town. Of these latter are a few typhoid patients from the San Pedro. Dr. Mayo says that the health of the country is better than at any time in its history. In the state of the healthiest summer in the state for years.

At the meeting of the county commissioners yesterday afternoon the following appointments made by County Attorney Whitaker were confirmed: Dana T. Smith, first assistant county attorney, at a salary of $115 per month; John Ingberstein, second assistant, at a salary of $109 per month; Ethel Woodmansee, stenographer, at a salary of $60 per month.

Miss Lillian Oliver's piano pupils gave a recital in her studio in the Commercial club building last evening, assisted by Mrs. King and Miss Hope McIntyre. The latter a violinist, among the participants were Miss Oliver, Miss Edith Acheson, Mrs. A. Levy, Miss Mae Bush, Miss Ethlyn Smith, Miss Gertrude Almond, Harle Meakin, Merrick Blake, Miss Josephine Brown and Miss Doris Halladay.

The demand for power Monday, by the street car service was unprecedented, and required the full strength of the great generator, with assistance from the smaller and auxiliary machine. The call was fully responded to, and there was no trouble reported anywhere. The demand for service was largely bunched in the afternoon, at First South and East Temple streets when the flood of people went and returned from the Lagoon, Saltair and Calder's Park trains.

It is confidently expected that by the end of this week, the St. Mary's cathedral committee will be able to report on the raising of the proposed $75,000. At all events, the architect is going right on with the construction, and the roof trusses are being rapidly put into place. The ceiling of the cathedral will be vaulted, and of expanded metal, cement plaster and of steel construction, presenting all the appearance of stone. Architect Neuhausen is now figuring on the granite approaches and steps for the South Temple street elevation.

FOOL TAKES POISON.
Quarrels With His Best Girl and Attempts Suicide.

Ralph Green, a holler-maker's helper, who came here from Douglas, Ariz., a few days ago, tried to commit suicide last night by taking strychnine, and he would have succeeded but for the fact that the police learned of his condition, and called Dr. C. Benedict, who promptly pulled the man from the brink of the grave. Green, who is but 23 years of age, had been on a protracted spree, and had quarreled with his sweetheart, whose name he refused to give. He became despondent and concluded to shuffle off this mortal coil. Going to a friend's room, he took a large dose of strychnine. The poison did not act quickly so he took another dose. That is the last he remembers. He was found in the street and was taken to the hospital at the police station early this morning. Dr. Benedict working over him. He is now out of danger, but out of jail, and he will be held pending a further investigation into his case.

CONDITIONS IN DIXIE.

Lack of Moisture Retards Crop Growth—New Canal Built.

Apostle Rudger Clawson and Elder Henry P. McGuire have just returned from an extended tour of the south. While absent they attended the Panhandle, Kanab, St. George and Parowan stake conferences, and held meetings in most of the wards in the section visited. They had a pleasant time and report a good spirit among the Saints.

Apostle Clawson reports the crops in Panhandle, Kanab and Parowan stakes are in good condition, but in the St. George stake a lack of moisture has retarded growth and the outlook is somewhat discouraging. However, conditions are more promising for the future, as the people have just built what is known as the Hurricane canal, which taps the Virgin river and will water 2,000 acres of fine land. The building of the canal has been a herculean task for the residents of that section, as money is scarce and already a lack of funds has been a hindrance. It is believed, now that it is practically completed, that it will well repay them for the effort. In the canyon near the canal a new ward has been organized, with Morris Wilson as Bishop. While its membership is not large it bids fair to grow in the future, as the prospects there were never more promising than they are now.

Elder Clawson reports a pleasant trip although he says that when they left St. George the temperature was 112 degrees in the shade, making it somewhat oppressive. He says the route between Kanab and Mt. Carmel is very sandy and dusty, as is also that from Cedar to Lund, making traveling more or less disagreeable.

HOW SHIPMENTS WERE SECURED.

Inside History of the Success of Eastern Agents in the Utah Field.

STORY OF THE WOOL SEASON.

Bright Scheme Alleged to Have Been Worked So as to Evade the Elkins Law.

Now that the season is over and some of the eastern lines secured more than their share of the consignments of some $6,000,000 pounds of wool from Utah, the story of how they obtained the business is being told by less successful rivals.

It is another case of exemplification of the old saying that there never was a law made but there was a way to get around it. Incidentally there is some talk of suit being brought in the United States court against one railroad or its agents for the violation of the Elkins bill, but then, this is mostly talk.

It will be recalled that last year there was considerable agitation relative to the Elkins bill and the question as to whether it was lawful within the meaning of the act to load wool for the shipper. It was decided early in the season that it was not wise and proper for the railroad agent to do the loading and that it was up to the buyer to do the hustling, checking and other work which usually fell to the lot of the traveling freight agent.

It is now stated that this year, in a number of cases, the shipper was approached with the statement that it would be impossible for the company to do the loading as impossible as it would be to cut the rate. After considerable beating about the bush, however, the offer was made that the road would give a certain amount per car to "enable" the shipper to load his own wool. If during the last competition the agent was bunched into giving the woolman more than it cost him in actual labor, of course he was careless and liable to be reprimanded. However, as he got the business, this crime might have been overlooked.

It is cause for congratulation that those accused are agents of lines east of the river. The home railroad agents, like Cesar's wife, are above suspicion.

SOME INDUCEMENTS.
Entertainment Galore for Passengers on The North Coast Limited.

D. E. Burley, Maj. Hooper and other leading passenger agents of the west will be looking to the laurels because the Northern Pacific mail train, which was scooped to a frazzle when it comes to attractions and entertainment for tourists. How is this for enterprise: The Northern Pacific mail train, which is the North Coast Limited, Saturday night left several unusual incidents that happened between Bearmouth and Butte which furnished amusement and topics for conversation among those on board. The train, says the Butte Miner to hand, "Two of the coaches were filled with Filipinos enroute to the world's fair, where they will take part in the government exhibit relating to the Philippines. Near Bearmouth two deer were scared up by the train and for some distance they ran in front of the engine. The whistle was blown in an effort to frighten the animals from the track and one of them came near being run down by the engine. As the train was entering Butte the passengers were treated to the sight of two buildings on fire and just before the train reached the city, a woman in one of the coaches gave birth to a child."

THE VERY LATEST.
Sanpete Valley to Change Hands—Moffat Said to be in It.

The latest wild rumor which is going the rounds is to the effect that the Sanpete Valley road is to change hands in the near future and that a syndicate of Utah men is going to take hold of the proposition. In this connection there is a story to the effect that the real power at the back of the move is the Moffat road, and that under an agreement with Clark and Harriman, Moffat will eventually take the right of way of the Sanpete Valley and the San Pedro north from Nephi to Salt Lake, the Salt Lake Route using the Leamington cut-off as its main line through to California.

The story is given for what it is worth. Needless to say it is emphatically denied here by interested parties.

Excursion to Canada.
Owing to representations made by a number of residents of Utah, the Oregon Short Line will on August 6, run an excursion to Raymond, Alberta, Canada. The fare for the occasion will be $31.35 for the round trip. Close upon 100 persons have already identified their intention of going to look over the country and to visit with friends already settled in that region.

SPIKE AND RAIL.
General Superintendent J. H. Young of the Rio Grande Western has gone on a trip to St. Louis.

General Manager R. E. Wells of the Salt Lake Route is down at Faust on an inspection trip.

Maj. Hooper, general passenger agent of the Denver & Rio Grande, is expected to come in from Denver on No. 3 tomorrow.

The earnings of the Union Pacific for the month of May showed an increase of $357,667 net; those of the Southern Pacific, $77,695.

T. B. Shaw, the man selected by the Socialists in Boise for governor of Idaho, was formerly a Pullman conductor and later, until he lost a foot, brakeman on the Oregon Short Line.

New York trade papers are authority for the statement that the Rio Grande has placed an order for 12,000 tons of 75-pound rails. The question of the hour is, where are they going to be laid?

The Denver Post gravely affirms that as soon as the Salt Lake Route is completed there will be a lively rate war, especially over southern California fruits. This is news of "the important if true" class.

It is said that the biggest part of the recent orders for equipment and rails aggregating $4,750,000, given by the Harriman roads, will go to the southwest, particularly Texas, where the oil development has materially increased business.

The first excursion ever run over the Lucerne cut-off is scheduled for Sunday, July 17. It will leave Salt Lake over the Oregon Short Line at 9:30 and return about 5 p. m. A number of Short Line and San Pedro officials will accompany the train.

A FERTILE ACRE.

A California reader sends a note from the San Francisco Call in which the wonderful performance of Samuel C. Cleek on an acre of ground is detailed:

"Mr. Cleek did a short time ago of old age, and his fertile acre is now run by his wife, who survives him. This farm is a most remarkable example of what can be accomplished through irrigation and intensive cultivation of the soil. Mr. Wright took an inventory of what it contained. Almost every foot of the acre farm is utilized. Here is what is on the farm at the present time: Cottage and porch, 29 by 30 feet; barn and corral, 16 by 16 feet; garden, 46 by 94 feet, blackberry patch, 16 by 30 feet; trees, 100 to 200 feet; citrus nursery, 90 by 25 feet, in which there are 400 budded orange trees; a row of dewberries along the fence, 100 by 2 feet; four apricot trees, two oak trees, three peach trees, six fig trees, 100 peach trees, seven Eucalyptus trees, one paradise tree, four bearing breadfruit trees, 20 rose bushes, 20 geraniums, 12 lemon trees seven years old, a line tree from which was sold last year 160 dozen lemons, eight bearing orange trees, five pomegranate trees, six beds of violets six by two feet each, one patch of bamboo, one bed of calla lilies, four prune trees, six cypress trees, 14 stands of beets, four high grape vines, one bush of blackberries, four money bushes and many rare shrubs. In 1877 Mr. Cleek purchased his acre of land in the corner of a dusty, glaring field, from which the crop had been just cut. It was remote from dwellings and was about as barren and uninviting a place upon which to start a home as can be imagined. There was no running water on the place and from May until November rain does not usually fall, although in the winter time, the rains are generous. Mr. Cleek had but a few dollars and the home he built was, Mrs. Cleek says, 'only a very small room.' He dug a deep well and, being hand with carpenter's tools, erected a windmill which operated a homemade pump. Robinson Crusoe did not do more on his desert island than did Samuel Cleek on his dusty acre of stubble. At the time of Mr. Cleek's death he left almost $4,000. Mr. Cleek was 61 at times and then, too, he was always anxious to relieve the profits of his unique acre."

It seems as if nearly every community in the United States has done some of the things that are being done on a small garden spot. The crop may be vegetables or hens or fruit, but by handling his little place so that every square foot counts the man has a home to support himself and more. Sometimes he does this and actually lends money to neighbors who work 10 times as much land as he does. It is good to talk about these things. They show farmers what can be done if the soil is handled intelligently. They also go to prove what most of us know—that we usually try to work too much land. The result is that little if any of it is properly handled, and of course we fall short of full crops. Now that the weather is so hot and dry, it would be far better off to put a good share of the farm into pasture or orchards, and crowd our work and manure upon the best parts of the farm.

A RETRACTION.

(From July number "Ladies' Home Journal.")

In the May number of the Ladies' Home Journal we published, in the article entitled "The 'Patent-Medicine' Cure," an analysis of "Doctor Pierce's Prescription." In which that preparation was represented as containing, among other ingredients, tincture of digitalis, tincture of opium, and alcohol. Immediately upon publication we numbered a suit for damages was instituted by Dr. J. H. Pierce, Medical Company, of Buffalo, New York, proprietors of the preparation in question, against The Curtis Publishing Company, based upon the claim that none of the ingredients mentioned was contained in the medicine.

Upon the filing of the suit, we, of course, immediately looked into the published analysis. It appears that this particular analysis had been made, made at all, fully twenty-five years ago. We, thereupon employed three leading chemists in different cities to make an analysis of the preparation from bottles bought in the market. The results of the analysis, one and all, now show to us conclusively that not a single one of the ingredients mentioned by us in the analysis quoted—that is, either digitalis, opium or alcohol—was contained in the bottles analyzed. We then, the President of this company and the writer—personally visited The R. V. Pierce Medical Company, at Buffalo, and were there convinced that the officers of the company were absolutely truthful in their claim that not one of these ingredients was contained in "Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription." Naturally, since the analysis we printed has proved erroneous, the disclaimer made in connection with this preparation was unwarranted and unfounded.

Under these circumstances it is now perfectly plain to us that this magazine was unintentionally, but nevertheless absolutely truthfully, made the original statement, and we hereby, of our own volition, make this unqualified acknowledgment of our mistake to The R. V. Pierce Medical Company and to our readers.

The mistake was honestly made, but it was a mistake.
