Petty Larceny.—This afternoon the trial of Mark and Samuel Tobias, father and son, on a charge of petty larceny, was taken up in the police court. The circumstances of the case are that a boy found a $5 gold piece near Tobias' shop, and went in and asked whether they had lost any money. Samuel Tobias answered yes, he had missed $2.50. The boy said that was not the amount, as he had found $5. Samuel then said that was what he had lost, and turning to his father asked whether the latter had picked up $5 he had thrown to him. The father answered no, and the boy gave the $5 up. Shortly afterward Mrs. Angell, whose house was burned a short time since, came along looking for $5 she had lost, and learning what the boy had done, applied to the Tobiases for the money. This was refused, and the result was that the defendants were arrested for petty larceny. The case appears to be a strong one against them, even on their own statements, which are to the effect that Samuel threw $5 on the ground for his father and then paid no further attention to it, and that the latter had not noticed the action.

The meeting between the delegation and excursionists which occurred in the first place on the depot platform, was most cordial, and after all were on board the cars, a formal introduction took place. Mayor Armstrong, through President Correll and in behalf of Superintendent Riter, tendered the excursionists the freedom of the Utah and Nevada Railroad for a trip, to start from this city at five o'clock to-day, to two of Salt Lake's bathing resorts, Garland and Lake Point. The offer was heartily accepted, the announcement being received with applause. The time pending the arrival at this point was spent in pleasant conversation, and the noting of various points and objects of interest on the way.

The excursionists express themselves as having had a splendid time. They have had no mishap on their

Mrs. Williams is the wife of Walter W. Williams, one of the firemen. She is injured on the back and face, and while she and her child suffer considerably, their condition is not dangerous. She has manifested considerable anxiety about Mrs. James, her husband's aunt, and although the body is in the same house, yet up to this afternoon she had not been informed of the result of the awful accident.

The deceased lady was about forty-two years of age, and rather stoutly built. The attending physician says no bones were broken, and that death

"Yes."

"Use pretty considerable of these writs in the law business, I reckon?"

"Yes; there are a number of different kinds."

"What is the usual rates for making collections in the Territory?"

"We usually take about one-half."

"All right—thanks. You see I made up my mind this morning to become a lawyer, and wanted to get a point or two. I'm going over to get admitted to the bar now before court adjourns—I'll hang out my shingle in the morning."—From the Estelline Bell.
