on the [illegible], the use of carbonic acid capsules, immeasurably prolonging the life of the rifles in which it is used. The highest form of explosive material can be used and though the loads used yesterday gave a pressure of but 1500 pounds to the square inch, the same gun with which the experiment was made has been tested to 30,000 pounds, showing the terribly destructive force which may be attained by the use of this method. The government has instructed Gathmann to make experiments at Sandy Hook in October. If successful, the new method will be purchased from the inventor and used for those purposes for which it was mainly designed; namely, coast defense and the armament of the American navy. The experiments at Sandy Hook will be a crucial test, and prominent officers from all branches of the service will be present.

Gathmann has become interested in the rain-making problem, and believes that he has in his compressed acid and gas the solution. Accordingly, he intends shortly to load a shell with the gas and by means of a five-second fuse explode it in the upper atmosphere, releasing the gas, which, by reason of its intense cold—it having a temperature of seventy degrees below zero—will condense the moisture and precipitate a shower. The experiment takes place at Fort Sheridan some time in October.

The Junta Gabrieno and Egan.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—News of serious import to the United States government, and Americans generally, reaches here today from Santiago. It is to the effect that the leaders of the Junta, for what reason does not yet clearly appear, have, for the last few days, adopted a course which has had the result of harassing Minister Egan. It may be an expression of sentiment growing out of the "Itata" seizure, which never has been rightly understood by the Congressionalists, but has aroused a strong feeling of antipathy to the United States, or it may be the determination to make it so unpleasant for Mr. Egan, on account of the stories spread about his sympathy with Balmaceda as to drive the minister out of Chile.

These are only surmises. The fact is, the Junta has been endeavoring to induce Mr. Egan to give up all those who have sought refuge in the United States legation.

The Junta has gone even further than this. It has put forth the claim that it has a right to arrest any one, no matter of what nationality, who may be found on the street or anywhere else, outside the four walls of the legation.

In keeping with this claim, a number of foreigners have already been placed under arrest, among them are three Americans, who were engaged in business here.

The matter went so far that every person having occasion to visit the legation was ordered to obtain a permit from the intendente before he was allowed to go into the place. To enforce this rule forces of police were put on guard outside the legation and patrolled the block day and night until Friday last, when Minister Egan entered a most vigorous protest to the whole proceedings. His manner was so earnest that the police were withdrawn. It is said that he has referred the entire matter to the authorities at Washington.

A Charity Fete's Unhappy Termination.

GHENT, Sept. 27.—An accident, resulting in the killing of several persons and injuring many others, occurred at a charity fete held here today. A platform became over-crowded, and the manager and a number of workmen went underneath in order to make an examination to ascertain whether the structure was strong enough to withstand the strain. Suddenly the platform collapsed. The men underneath were crushed to death, and many on the platform seriously injured.

The Conversion of a Jewess.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—It is said that, as the result of a friendship which began at an Austrian Spa, Miss Cara Cohn, daughter of the millionaire, importer, Henry Cohn of this city, and Lieutenant Oscar von Calm of the Ninth Hussars, Austria, will be married in December. 'Tis also said that Miss Cohn will renounce the Jewish faith and become a communicant of the Catholic Church, to which her intended husband belongs, as members of the Jewish faith are not tolerated in Austrian court society.

A Personal "Difficulty."

TALULAH, La., Sept. 27.—At Floyd, near here, Postmaster Fax, the sheriff and Jeff Dunn had a personal difficulty. While the latter was shaking his fist under the former's nose, Eugene Yarbrough, a son-in-law of Gates', attempted to pull a gun. Dunn jumped on him to prevent it. While the couple were on the ground Gates shot Dunn, then ran into a house. Dunn, taking Yarbrough's pistol, fatally shot him (Yarbrough). Dunn also is fatally wounded.

2000 Barrels of Flour Destroyed.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 27.—This afternoon a fire was discovered in the machinery storage room of the Plant Milling Company, and the flames spread so rapidly that the building was soon destroyed. The warehouse, containing 2000 barrels of flour, is also in ruins. The cause of the fire is unknown. Loss, $250,000; insurance about the same.

Concerning the Arrest of Baron Nordenskjold.

DURANGO, Colo., Sept. 27.—The arrest of Baron Nordenskjold for removing relics from the ancient cliff dwellings is liable to assume international proportions, as acting secretary of State Wharton has telegraphed the mayor of Durango to wire him the facts concerning the baron's arrest.

Have Agreed to Strike.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 27.—Fifteen hundred colored wharf laborers on the Central & Savannah and Florida & Western railroads have agreed to strike tomorrow for an increase of five cents per hour. As a precaution against trouble, the police have been furnished with rifles. The wharves are being patrolled by armed men and the militia furnished with 3500 rounds of ammunition has been ordered to be in readiness for action.

The Launching of a Steamer at Palermo.

ROME, Sept. 27. — Signor Crispi attended the launching of a steamer at Palermo yesterday, and a banquet was given after the launching in his honor. Responding to the toast to King Humbert and Queen Victoria, Signor Crispi commended the coupling of the names of the rulers, linking Italy's strength and prestige with those of her powerful ally and dilated upon the ties uniting the two countries since England and Sicily awoke to freedom under Norman kings.

A Collision of Freight Trains.

CUMBERLAND, Sept. 27.—A collision of freight trains occurred a few miles west of Cumberland this morning, completely wrecking twenty-five cars and killing Engineer Charles Earnest and William Thorpe. Brakeman Lewis and three other trainmen were injured.

Rainmakers Succeed in Producing a Shower.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 27.—A special from Corpus Christie, Tex., says: Yesterday the rainmakers made their first experiment here. It was a complete success. Several bombs were discharged, and after each volley a sharp shower fell over a limited area, which was general over the whole city and continued half an hour. Final experiments will be made next week, after which the party will go to points on the Mexican Central railroad.

Russia's War Policy.

LONDON, Sept. 27. — The Moscow Gazette, in reporting the movements of the Russian troops on the Afghan frontier, boasts that England's impudent menaces at the Dardanelles matter will be answered by Asia, where there is no Drelnand to assist England, and that every blow struck at Russian diplomacy in Europe will be met with a blow in Asia.

Russia's Menace to India.

CALCUTTA, Sept. 27.—Much anxiety is felt regarding Russia's movements in the Pamir. It is rumored that Lieut. Davison and a colleague, Capt. Younghusband, have been taken prisoners.

Preparations for the Funeral of Duchess Paul.

MOSCOW, Sept. 27.—The Imperial party has arrived here. Elaborate preparations are being made for the funeral of the Grand Duchess Paul, the expense of which will amount to $225,000. Masses are said daily in all the churches in the presence of large crowds. One result of the assembling of such crowds is an increase in the donations for the famine sufferers.

The Egyptian Question.

ROME, Sept. 27.—In an interview with Signor Bazilai at Constantinople, Said Pasha stated that Lord Salisbury had consented to re-examine the Egyptian question on the expiration of his vacation, on the basis of negotiations that the English occupation shall not be followed by that of any other power.

The Czar and the Kaiser.

BERLIN, Sept. 27.—The official Borsen Courier says that the Czar promised Prince Leopold Friday that he would visit Emperor William at the earliest convenience.

Reforms in Zanzibar.

ZANZIBAR, Sept. 27.—After consulting with British agents the Sultan has decided to reconstruct the administration of his government and appoint responsible ministers in the different branches, he himself receiving a fixed civil list.

Against Corn Speculators.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 27.—Attention having been called to the continued exportation of rye, bread and dough from Liban, an outcry is arising for an inquiry into the state of the corn markets, in order to prevent speculators from holding back grain. The famine fund in Kieff has reached 50,000 roubles.

The Russian Loan.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The Standard's Paris correspondent reports that the Berliner Handelsgesellschaft and Herr Bleichroeder are among the contractors for the Russian loan.

Only Six Hundred Left.

MADRID, Sept. 27.—It is officially stated that 600 buildings remain standing at Consuegra. There were 2100 before the flood.

The Tariff on Coffee.

PARIS, Sept 27.—The Brazilian government has approached Ribot in regard to the projected prohibitive tariff on coffee, fixed and approved by the Chamber of Deputies at 156 francs per hundred kilograms. Brazil takes annually 80,000,000 francs worth of French products, and among the leading arguments used to induce the Senate to modify the proposed tariff is the danger of Brazil retaliating, the result of which would aid the American scheme to capture the Brazilian markets.

The Convict Lease System.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 27.—The validity of the convict lease system is to be tested in the courts. The attorneys of one Warren, a white convict, have filed a petition in the Knox County criminal court praying for a writ of habeas corpus. It is understood that the case will be carried to the State Supreme Court, by whichever side loses.

A Misplaced Switch.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 27.—A misplaced switch on the St. Paul road near Columbus last night caused a wreck in which a brakeman named Splelstiner was instantly killed and brakeman Albert Gray was fatally injured.

A Collision at Sea.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The Anchor line steamer "Circassia" collided, Saturday night, with the schooner "Daylight," and a hole four feet square was smashed in the "Circassia's" starboard bow. The schooner was also damaged. The 120 passengers on board the "Circassia" were greatly excited, but no one was injured.

Italy Wants Pork.

ROME, Sept. 27.—The newspapers here discredit the report that the United States will exclude Italian imports in reprisal for the prohibition of American pork imports. They express the belief that the prohibition will be rescinded as soon as France and the other governments rescind their prohibitory regulations.

A Step in the Right Direction.

BERLIN, Sept. 27.—The Cologne Gazette says that the Emperor and the principal military advisers approve the proposition to reduce the term of military service to two years.

The Chinese Ambassador has had a protracted conference with the foreign minister, to whom he imparted a conciliatory note similar to that communicated to the French minister Thursday.

He Took Too Much.

One day a smart young fellow with shiny shoes, a new hat and checker-board trousers boarded a street car in a western city, and stepped to the front platform. He pulled out a twist of paper and lighted it, and began puffing a concentrated essence of vile odors into the faces of those who were obliged to ride upon the platform if they rode at all. One, a plain old farmer, couldn't stand it, and stepped off to wait for the next car.

When he reached the station the young fellow was there before him, and it happened that the two met at the restaurant counter.

"Gimme sandwich!" called the young man to the waiter. "Here, gimme one," and he tossed out a nickel, and then proceeded to pick up and pull apart every one of the half dozen sandwiches on the plate before he found one to suit him.

The farmer, who had been waiting for his turn, drew back in disgust. Finally he found something which the fingers of another had not fouled, and presently followed the loud young man to the car. He found every seat occupied, including the half of one on which were piled the young man's gripsack and overcoat.

"Is this seat taken?" he ventured to inquire.

"Seat's engaged," was the curt answer, with a look meant to squelch the old farmer, who went into the smoking car.

That afternoon the same young man walked into the office of the governor of the state, armed with recommendations and indorsements, as applicant for a position under the state government. He was confronted by the same plain old farmer, who recognized his traveling companion of the morning without any trouble.

Glancing over his papers, the governor said, "H—m, yes, you want me to appoint you to an office. If I should, I guess I might as well write my own resignation at the same time."

"Wh—why so?" stammered the young fellow.

"Because I saw you pay for a street car ride this morning and you took the platform of the car. You bought a sandwich and spoiled the plateful. You paid for a seat in the train and took mine, too, and if I should give you this place, how do I know that you would not take the whole administration?"—Youth's Companion.

He Would Not Smoke.

The Sardinian peasants are fond of a joke, if their jokes are not always of the keenest. Here is a story, modern at least in its present form, of the taming of a shrew. It is entitled "The Girl Who Did Not Like Smoke."

There was once a priest who had a niece who was resolved not to marry. Often she was asked, but she would not listen, for she had got it into her head that she would not have a man who smoked. Finally a young fellow came and asked for her hand. Her uncle said to him, "Do you smoke?" "No, sir," he replied. "Then my niece will refuse you, for she will not have any one who smokes." But the suitor said: "Is that all? I'll let the smoking alone." The uncle called his niece. She said yes, and they were married.

In the evening of the day they were married the bridegroom, without saying a syllable to his wife, went off to bed and was soon fast asleep. And in the same way every day when he came home he never spoke, but went straight to bed without taking any notice of her. She thought this conduct strange, and began to fret and pine. Her uncle said to her one day: "What is the matter that you are always sad? Does he ill treat you?" "No, he doesn't ill treat me; but when he comes home at night he never speaks, but goes to bed and sleeps. In fact, while he is in the house he never utters a word to me."

Then the uncle spoke to the husband: "What is the matter, my son? Are you not satisfied with my niece?" "Oh, yes, uncle," answered he, "but somehow, when I don't smoke, I cannot keep my eyes open."

When the old man repeated this to the bride she said, "If that's it he shall smoke." And from that time she was never satisfied when he had the pipe out of his mouth.—Gentleman's Magazine.

One of Napoleon's Generals.

General de Marbot was a species of D'Artagnan in real life without pose or gasconnades, this brilliant staff officer who traverses at full gallop the fiery furnaces of the wars of the empire. Aid-de-camp of Augereau, of Lannes and of Massena, ever in the saddle, ever in the front, ever in the midst of danger, Marbot gallops across Europe like a figure in epic chivalry. He is one of the heroes of this later Iliad; "qu'Homere n'inventerait pas," said Theophile Gautier, saluting the 'Vieux de la Vieille.' "And Marbot is always wounded," was a sort of paternal reproach that Napoleon addressed to him as a reward.

The Duc d'Aumale a Tuesday or two ago related to some academicians that he had seen Marbot stretched on the ground by his thirteenth wound. This was in Africa when, I believe, the general was chief of the staff to the Duc d'Orleans. On learning that Marbot had been hurt, the Duc d'Aumale went to visit him and found him lying on straw in his tent, and the old aid-de-camp of Montebello gave vent to his wrath in a phrase as epic as all his career. "To be a lieutenant general, a baron of the empire, a peer of France, a grand officer of the Legion of Honor, have 80,000 francs a year, and be hit by the ball of a filthy Kabyle who has not four sous in his pocket!" To which General d'Haussonville, gloriously anxious of his friend's wound, observed: "Your ball! I'd give you 10,000 francs for your ball."—Athenæum.

The small, round black seeds of Canna indica are used by the Burmese for sacred beads and by the Hindoos for necklaces. They are called in Ceylon buckshot, for the natives use them as shot in their blowpipes.

Professor Mendeleff has succeeded in distilling petroleum from mineral substances which cannot be distinguished from the natural product. This revives faith in the belief that petroleum is of mineral origin.

An American named Edwards about four years ago at New York was sentenced to death for the sixth time. On each of the five previous occasions he had escaped the capital punishment.

That Tired Feeling

Is a dangerous condition due directly to depleted or impure blood. It should not be allowed to continue, as in its debility the system is especially liable to serious attacks of illness. It is remarkable how beneficial Hood's Sarsaparilla is in this enervating state.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Possessing just those elements which the system needs and readily seizes, this medicine purifies the blood and imparts a feeling of renewed strength which is comforting and satisfying. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best remedy for that weariness which prevails at change of season, climate or life.

"I have been convinced that Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the greatest medicines in the world. I say this for the benefit of all other tired out, run down, hard-working women. Hood's Sarsaparilla is not only excellent as a blood purifier, but for all other female complaints, even if of long standing." MRS. M. A. SCARLETT, Northville P.O., Mich.

WHAT IS A GUARANTEE?

Many merchants and salesmen are in the habit of indiscriminately "guaranteeing" their wares with no thought of being called upon to make the "guarantee" good. It is a pernicious and foolish custom more respected in the breach than in the observance.

A guarantee, to have any value, should be made with knowledge of the meaning of the word and a set purpose to carry out the terms of the guarantee. On fine tools the makers instruct us to warrant, and we replace any tool found imperfect in use.

We have used our best judgment, acquired by a considerable experience, in selecting the following items for our stock and sell them to our customers with an absolute guarantee that if they do not prove to be all that we represent them, we will refund the purchase money in full.

"Jewel" Steel Range. A finished article, perfectly proportioned, made of the best material. Don't fail to see it. It will pay you.

"Quick Meal" No Generator, Evaporating. Light it as you do your gas burner. No smell. No danger. No complication. Every objection to the use of a Gasoline Stove done away with. Think of the discomfort missed in Summer by avoiding the heat of a big Kitchen Range.

"Superior" Cooks and Ranges. Superior as bakers. Superior in economy of fuel. Superior in design. Superior in construction. Superior in everything that goes to make a perfect cooking apparatus.

The "Foote Refrigerator." An Ice saver. A Health promoter. Cellular stone lined. What is that? Investigate it. It will more than repay you.
