ALL HALLOWS PLAY BETTER FOOTBALL.

Hold High School Down to Eleven Points in the Game.

NO SCORE IN SECOND CAME.

Winning Team Was in Poor Condition from Injuries Received During The Game With Ogden,

The showing made against All Hallows by the West Side High School Saturday was not equal to that of the previous game, although the West Side team was still the superior in team work and in practise. The score of 11 to 0 was made during the first half, and one touchdown was the result of luck. During the second half the West Side boys were unable to score, although they kept the ball most of the time in All Hallows territory. Much improvement on the part of All Hallows, and the poor condition of many High School players accounts for the small score and even playing of the two cal times when the High School was pressing her goal line hard, she braced up and recovered the ball on third down. Only that prevented a large score. The ene touchdown that came from luck resulted from a fumble, which rolled across the line and was recovered by Harris of the High School. The star players of the High School were Richardson, Harris and Judson, Richardson made most of the long gains, while Harris was in good form with his tackling and line work.

The High School received All Hallows The High School received All Hallows' kickoff, and began at once an assault on the line for long gains. Richardson broke through twice for 10 yards. On the one yard line All Hallows surprised everyone by brache up and holding for two downs. On the third Judson, with great difficulty, worked the whirl off tackle play for two yards and scored, "Mugsic" Groesbeck kicked an easy goal.

GAIN OF 25 TARDS.

GAIN OF 28 YARDS.

On receiving Judson's kickoff, All Hallows found holes in the High School line for 9 yards, the two backs operating with the ball. In an unlucky play around end dallagher, right end for All Hallows, was downed for a loss of five yards by Hall, the West Side's left tackle, Clawson got the ball on a fumble, and again the High School started down field. Richardson hit the line for 25 yards in two downs. Dunn worked the line for 10 more, resting the ball on the five yard line. Here the High School scored on a fumble, Groesbeck falled to kick a difficult goal.

All Hallows kicked off to Hall. Two long end runs by Richardson and a series of the plays brought the ball to the five yard line, and here All Hallows made a pincky stand that gained them the ball. Ones punted to Judson who returned it. On a fumble Richardson recovered it, and the High School them advanced it to the five yard line where time was chiled,

DURING THE SECOND HALF. In the second half the High School cked to All Hallows, who lost the ball icked to All Hallows, who lost the ball on downs. Judson tried for a goal from placement, but was blocked. Twenty yards hack Harris recovered the ball on the rebound and High School was forced to kick. On a fumbled catch by Owens ligh School recovered the ball again, but lest it in a fumble on first down. Gridley punted to Judson, who returned it to Savage for a fair catch, interference with the catch netted All Hallows 15 yardss pensity. Failure to galls ground forced a punt and it was returned for double exchange. High School bucked the line for gains till they were stopped near the ond of time on All Hallows 15 yard line. All Hallows kicked to the relied, and time was called with the High School on All Hallows' thirty-five yard line.

CROWD WAS DISAPPOINTED.

Bert Fuller's "999" Refused to Race Against Barney Oldfield. There was a disappointed crowd of auto enthusiasis down at Agricultural park Saturday afternoon when it became known that Bert Fuller's mankiller "299" refused to work and that there would be no race between him and Barney Oldfield. The crowd went down to the track to see a race—not a mere exhibition. A race was advertised, and bositive assurance was given that "999" would be in working order, but when the time arrived to start the program something went wrong with the hig machine, and the combined efforts of half a glozen auto experts failed to budge the thing from the stall. It does seem strange that machines of this kind will work nicely until just before a race and then balk.

Oldfield, the world's champion auto driver, was on hand, however, and was ready and willing to fulfill his part of the program.

THE RESIDENCE OF THE PARTY OF T

Barney recied off several miles on his Green Dragon, the best mile being made in 134. This time was caught by men who can fell the time, and there was nothing "phony" about it. He rounded the difficult curves in a most graceful manner, and demonstrated that at all times he had perfect control of the machine.

chine.

Charley Burman, who travels with Oldneld, gave an exhibition with Barnney's touring car stripped, and covered a mile in 1:242-5, which is going pretty fast for that kind of a car. This beats Bert Fuller's time of 1:29.

There was a three mile race between touring cars, one of which belonged to Henry McCornick. This machine, driven by Earl Staley, won easily. It was then matched against a big 24-horsepower Winton, but was beaten by a narrow margin.

To the scrap heap with 199! Fuller should spend about one hour and a half pounding the machine with a sledge hammer. It may have been a great racer in its time, but it is getting too old for these fast times and should be sold for old iron even though the junk man maybe bunced.

buncoed.
The few persons who fourneyed down to Calder's park vesterday afternoon were fooled again. Some persons who did not thoroughly understand the situation thought that Bert Fuller had been frest-bitten in the neighborhood of his undersinning, but to say this would be doing Fuller a rank injustice. He could not make the machine work, and that's all there was to it. Oldfield could not be blamed, either. But if there are any responsible persons they are those who managed the affair, or rather mismanaged it. Three times the nublic has naid to see auto races, and three times they did not see them. It is now about time to call a halt.

Yesterday Oldfield and Burman gave exhibitions as they did the day before, but the time was much slower, owing to the poor condition of the track.

WITH THE BOWLERS.

During the Week the Tuxedos Gained On the Leading Team.

During the past week the race in the bowling league has been quite exciting and close. The Tuxedox and Brilliants have been fighting for first honors, and the fancy dressers have been crowding the Brilliants pretty closely. The Tuxedox are now only 1 per cent behind the leaders and they promise to overcome that during the week with something to snare. Following is given the standing of the teams, their averages and the averages of the individual players:

COLUMBIA VS CORNELL.

Former Defeated the Latter by a Score Of Twelve to Six.

New York, Nov. 12.—Columbia brought the football senson to a happy finish to-day by defeating Cornell in the annual game, 12 to 6. The local team displayed wonderful improvement in form, and its entire play was characterized by snap and dash.

At the opening of the game Columbia went at Cornell on the jump and forced the ball to Cornell's one-yard line, where it was lost on downs. Later on Columbia showed superb defense by taking the ball from Cornell when it was close to the New Yorkers' goal. There was no scoring in the first half, but in the second Columbia early made a touchdown. Then Cornell got one and the score stood 6 to 5 against Columbia. A safety for Cornell put Columbia once more in the lead, the score being 7 to 6. Columbia never relaxed and made one more touchdown by hard, aggressive play.

PRINCETON BEATEN BY YALE TEAM.

Sons of Eli and Tigers Had a Lively Struggle on the Gridiron.

PENALTIES THAT COST MUCH.

Blue Triumphed Over Orange and Black, The Score Being Twelve to Nothing--Luck With Yale,

A Saturday dispatch from Princeton gives the following account of Yale's vic ory in the big football game:

Everything is blue on old Nassau to night. Yale today administered the secon ddefeat of the season to the Orange and Black, 12 to 0. It was the first time that a football champlenship was not at stake; it was the first time that Yale and Princeton had been beaten by minor elevens before meting in their annual contest. And, strangely enough, it was the fighting representatives of Uncle Sam who were responsible for both defeats. The Navy had defeated Princeton and the Army Yale.

Today's game does not deserve a niche in the hall of cootball fame, but there were one or two individuals who stand out prominently among their fellows Princeton will forever blame the elements for today's defeat. The intermittent downpours of Friday had made the gridiron soft and slimy, and the Orange and Black were the chief sufferers. Their backs, reputed to be the fastest in the cuntry, could gain no headway on the slippery field, and their forwards, much lighter than Yale, were unable to grace themselves for the flerce attack of the New Haven boys.

It would be an injustice to Yale to attempt to detract from her glorious victory, but there was surely an element of luck in both touchdowns. On the first score Princeton's over anxiety was her undoing.

Three times early in the opening half were the representatives of old Nassau penalized for off-side play and once for holding—a distance of thirty yards, a sreat advantage for a nerce line-bucking aggregation like the Yale eleven. In the same half Yale suffered only once for a penalty, and at the time the ball was so far in Princeton's territory that the five yards availed practically nothing. The game was absolutely devoid of spectacular plays.

Each man on the Princeton eleven en-game was absolutely devoid of spectacular plays."

Each man on the Princeton eleven endeavored to do his share, but Princeton's gains and her defense were due in a great measure to the individual playing of three men. Cooney. Foulke and Miller. The former was used as a battering ram on the Yale line and seldom falled to gain his distance, and the two latter as the second line of defense were brilliant.

Hogan. Bloomer, Leavenworth and Owsley were use dto rip up Princeton's line and were universally successiul. Shevlin, who it was said could not possibly, last through a gruelling contest, showed no signs of fatigue. While Yale outplayed Princeton in the opening half, the latter clearly had their opponents on the defensive in the closing half. During the last thirty-five minutes of play in Yale's territory, except when Hoyt would kick.

There was one noticeable weak point in Yale's play, and this was poor trackling in the open. Time and time again her ends would miss Tenney, and on two different occasions he eluded three Yale men only to fail on the treacherous turf as ferent occasions he eluded three Yale men only to fail on the treacherous turf as he was turning the end. Yale was also weak in the kleking game, Miller, for Princeton, outdistancing him from ten to fifteen yards on nearly every exchange. Yale's goal was never really in danger.

If Yale's men were in poor physical condition it did not develop during the game. Only one change was made in the Blue's line-up, while Princeton sent in four new men.

It was an ideal day for football. There was just enough frost in the atmosphere to make it comfortable for spectator and player ailke. It is estimated that 30,000 people witnessed the game.

The bond of friendship was beautifully illustrated by Yale early in the second half, when Captain Foulke of Princeton was led from the field by his friends in a crippled condition. When it was seen that Foulke could no longer continue, the loaders of the Yale cheering gave the signal for a cheer for Foulke, and the great amphitheater almost shuddered from the thousands of voices.
