Utah Not Forgotten—Morton and Mississippi.

WASHINGTON, 20.—Christianity introduced as a bill to provide for challenges to jurors in trials for bigamy and polygamy in the Territory of Utah, and to amend Sec. four of the act in relation to courts and judicial officers in the Territory of Utah, approved June 24th, 1874, referred. The bill provides that in any trial for bigamy or polygamy, it shall be sufficient cause of challenge and for the rejection of any juror—first that he has more than one wife living in this territory; or second, that he has been married within the ordinary rites or by the so-called sealing ceremony; or, second, that he believes it is his right for a man to live with more than one wife.

Morton in resuming his speech on the late election in Mississippi said that the issue which he was now taken was not a pleasant one, but he was in the performance of what he regarded as a high duty.

He then spoke of the financial condition of that State, and said that the government had been extravagant beyond question, and in Mississippi this had been made an excuse for murder and outrage. He stated that in 1870 the republican party found the State destitute and prostrate, and extraordinary expenses had to be incurred. To lift it out of this condition the government had donated land to Mississippi, which had been squandered; a school fund had been stolen; and now the white liners in Mississippi, educated in this way, pretended to be outraged by the present state of disorder. He wanted to be relieved of it. He read from the message of Governor Ames that the people of Mississippi were suffering with a feeling hostile to the negro troops. In regard to the colored troops, he said that Governor Ames had been a champion of colored militia, and he found that they could not be used to keep the peace. He said that the resolution of the House of Representatives to keep the colored troops in Mississippi before the war. He referred to the condition of affairs attending the recent election, and read extracts from the newspapers to show that a feeling hostile to the negro troops.
