XPRESSIONS FROM THE PEOPLE. THE SABBATH DAY.

"Whosever doeth work therein shall be put to death." Exodus, chapter 33 verse 2. In this age of unbelief and skepti sm in regard to God and sacred things there is no wonder that the practices of the world should be in keeping with their unbelief. For centuries past both m this as well as in the mother country, the influences of religion regulated to a great extent the conduct of the people and especially was this appar ent in the very rigid observance of the Sabbath day; but during the last half entury quite A CHANGE HAS BEEN WROUGHT

In the views and feelings of the people of Christendom, that is very noticeable and can only be viewed with regret and serious forebodings. Religious influence is no longer the reat moral lever regulating the con-fact and actions of the people, for the masses have broken loose almost en-irely from all religious restraint, and Christian ministers are to-day incapable of instituting any measures that once exercised over the people. (This is easily accounted for, but it is not my purpose in this article to explanation.) Many of the ministers of the various Christian sects are sagacious enough to discover the waning power of the church, and in order to preserve intact their individual prestive, withder iar topics instead of discoursing upon religious doctrines and pointing out the consequences of sin as of old. ANCIENT ORTHODOXY 'tis true receives a small share of their attention and comment, but it is often referred to and ridiculed as old fogy-courses in the pulpit partake more of the character of addresses upon popu-

ism. It is only in cases where the most dagrant departures from orthodox principles are reported that ministers are called to answer before ecclesias-tical tribunals, and even here such men find in their brother ministers some of the staunchest supporters of heterodoxy, and such councils generally adjourn without taking any action in the case whatever further than a little discussion, To rebuke sin and sinners openly from the pulpit would involve, in nearly every instance, dismissal and a loss of salary, which is of far more consequence to the modern preacher than the eternal damnation of a whole congregation: consequently, sin goes unrebuked and wrong doing remains inchecked. True, there are a few preachers of the mountebank stripe, who will regale their audiences for several consecutive sabbaths with recitals of the horrible scenes that are being nightly enacted in and around the Five Points and other places in New York City, and will dilate most elaborately upon the degradation to be found in the slums of the principal cities of Christendom; but where is the minister who dares lisclose the rottenness and corruption that befoul the atmosphere in and around the marble palaces of the broad and fashionable avenues in these same cities, conscious though he may be that some of his hearers and perchance members are guilty of the sins that he is describing; for do not these very individuals pay the highest price for the pen in which they sit and they not applaud his rhetorical utterances in which he enlarges upon the rimes of the moneyless and half starved denizens of these sinks of

of the nineteenth century allows to exist under the shadow of its own anctuaries? A few unchristian writers have made old to suggest that the rich church oer, and in some instances church rembers, furnish quite a percentage of polution which the

the victims to be found in these places. Oh! hypocrisy, under the garb of Christianity, when will the Almighty tear assunder the gandy coverings in which you have clothed yourself and shibit you in all your wicked deformity, imbecility and rottenness as you now appear before God and angels! Is it any wonder, then, that reveronger have a place in the hearts of the cople, or that labor of various kinds performed on this day as well as the her six days of the week? And in ome cases where labor is refrained from is not the day spent mostly in the pursuit of pleasure and enjoyment. It is against these influences of modern

Christianity that we should warn the people and more especially the youth While I as an individual would not desire a return to such an extremely severe observance of the Sabbath day as was common with our Paritan Fathers, I would call attention to the word of the Lord through His servant Joseph upon this subject, for this is our guide, and is in perfect harmony o ancient Israel, which was, "Remem er the Sabbath day and keep it holy. it is also in keeping with the example set by God himself who "rested on the eventh day from all His work." The Lord has said in His revelation us, 'That thou mayest more fully ep thyself unspotted from the world ou shalt go to the house of prayer nd offer up thy sacraments upon my oly day. For verily this is a day appointed unto you to rest from your abors and to pay thy devotions unto the Most High-confessing thy sins anto thy brethren and before the Lord And on this day thou shalt do non other thing, only let thy food be prepared with sincleness of heart, that thy fasting may be perfect, or in other words, that thy joy may be full—And masmuch as ye do these things with thanksgiving, with cheerful hearts and countenances, not with much laughter, because God has forbidden it: and in the language of the revelation

WE OFFEND GOD

when we do not obey His command May 19, 1885 What Latter-day Saint is there who would dare to kneel with his family efore the Lord on a Sabbath morning, and ask God to bless them during the day and help them to break his law, with an intention in his mind to dese-crate the Sabbath? It would be a mockery if he were to do so, for such persons are not entitled even the pro-tecting care of the Almighty, because they willfully trample upon one of his express commands express commands.

How many persons are there who, witaout any just cause, absent themelves from the house of the Lord Sabbath after Sabbath, and thereby neglect to partake of His holy sacrament, when the Lord has said "But remember that on this, the Lord's day, thou shalt offer thine oblations and thy sacraments unto the Most High," etc.

A sight much to be regretted, but often seen during the spring and sum-mer, is that of whole families, as wel as parts of families, wending their way to the adjacent caffons on a Sabbath morning, for the purpose (as they say of benefitting their health and hav-ing a day's enjoyment. In many instances heads of families who have been ordained Elders in the Church set these examples of evil and wrongdo ing. Such men may, by and by, find themselves powerless to restrain their will bring back the power that religion | children from committing other wrong their own hearts. I am aware that there are persons who advocate the doctrine that we should view lightly of the church, and in order to preserve intact their individual prestige, pander to the popular taste, and their dising that our children should be early taught that to break in the smallest degree the law of the Lord or to act in opposition to the counsels of His Spirit must result disastrously sooner or ater.

Then again, there are some among us who feel that they must perform a little labor on the Sabbath day-work that is really necessary, and which they have been unable to accomplish during the week. The farmer looks at his grain shaking in the field, or his hay which is exposed to an approaching storm, or some other thing which needs to be done before he leaves home to attend to some business that is imper ative, and ventures to use the Sabbath hours to accomplish his object, forgetting in his anxiety that He who com-manded him to "do no manner of work" on that day gave a promise in connection, that, "Inasmuch as ye do this, the fuiness of the earth is yours— yea, and the herb and the good things which cometh of the earth, whether for food, or for raiment, or for houses, or for barns, or for orchards, or for gardens, or for vineyards."

Neither have they forgotten the terrible penalty to be inflicted upon those who broke it, which read, "Whoseever doeth work therein shall be put to death," which penalty was fully exe-cuted upon the man who only gathered a few stacks on the Sabbath day. A QUESTION ABOUT Brown's Iron

Bitters

ANSWERED. The question has probably been asked thousands of times. "How can Brown's Iron Bitters cure everything?" Well, it doesn't. But it does cure any disease for which a reputable physician would prescribe How. Physicians recognize Iron as the best restorative agent known to the profession, and inquiry of any leading chemical firm will substantiate the assertion that there are more preparations of iron than of any other substance used in medicine. This shows conclusively that iron is acknowledged to be the most important factor in successful medical practice. It is, however, a remarkable fact that prior to the discovery of BROWN'S IRON BITTERS no perfectly satisfactory iron combination had ever been found. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS the teeth, car hadachs, or produce constitution—all other freu medicines do. BROWN'S IRON RITTERS cures indigention, Biliousness, Weakness, Dyspepsin, Malaria, Chills and Fevers, Tired Feeling, General Debility, Pain in the Side, Back or Limbs, Hendache and Neural-gia for all these allments Iron is prescribed duly BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, not core in A
