

FOUR EPIGRAMS.

A KIND WORD.

A kind word often so endears,
It echoes sweetly through the years—
Forgotten by the tongue that spoke,
Remembered by the heart it woke.

CURIOSITY.

Watching the bees, he oft is stung
Who o'er the hive to close his head has hung;
So, too, and righteously, he fares
Who thrusts himself in other folk's affairs.

IMAGINATION.

Of our imagination brings
Such pleasant things to view,
We fold them in our memories,
And love to think them true.

FORGIVENESS.

Crush the rose, its odor rises,
Giving sweetness for the pain;
Grieve a woman, and she gives you
Sweet forgiveness, poured like rain.
—George Birdseye, in Brooklyn Magazine.

FROM SATURDAY'S DAILY MARCH 19.

SAD BEREAVEMENT.

BROTHER AND SISTER GATES LOSE TWO OF THEIR LITTLE ONES.

We have received the sad news, by letter from the Sandwich Islands, of the death, on the island of Hawaii, of the two sons of Elder Jacob F. Gates, now on a mission there. One of the little boys died about the close of February, and a few days after, on the 2d of March, the other followed. We sympathize with the bereaved family.

Since the foregoing was written we have been permitted, by courtesy of Sister Lucy B. Young, to publish the following interesting letter, which is full of tender, womanly sentiment and the most touching pathos:

LALIE PLANTATION,
Sandwich Islands,
March 3rd, 1887.

Mrs. Lucy B. Young:

Dear Sister—By request of Sister Gates I attempt to write you a few lines this evening, conveying sad news from your loved ones here on the islands. Were it possible, I would shrink from this task that your hearts might not bleed by my first communication to you, but God, who doeth all things well and who overrules all things, has seen fit to deprive us of two of our little darlings, Jay and Karl, by that fearful disease known as membranous croup. Jay was sick about two weeks before his death, and none could determine the nature of the complaint. He passed to his heavenly rest February 24th. Funeral services were held and such consolation as could be given was offered to the bereaved. During Karl's sickness the disease was found to be contagious and precautions were taken. He was sick five days and died March 2d. No funeral was held but we followed his precious remains to the grave, where a beautiful and consoling dedicatory prayer was offered by one of our beloved brethren.

The other children are not well but we feel they are not dangerously ill and we think God has taken all for the present that He desires. Our trust is in Him and we hope for the best.

Dear Susie keeps up as well as could be expected. You are a mother and a mother alone can know the anguish and sorrow she must necessarily endure. Her condition of course makes it worse for her and she looks with great anxiety to the 1st of July.

Dear Sister I have written as near as I could what she requested me to. She would have done so herself but was afraid of communicating the disease to Mabel's boy or others, as she thinks it was brought here by mail. This is a task I hope never again to be obliged to perform, and I earnestly pray to God to comfort your hearts in this great sorrow and unite your faith with ours in behalf of our little ones that they may be spared to us.

Susie also wished me to say that they had been surrounded by kind friends who rendered them every possible assistance.

With kind love to yourself and Mabel, I am ever your friend,
LIEBIE NOALL.

SENTENCE OF HENRY GROW.

THIRTY DAYS OFF THE USUAL TERM.

This afternoon Henry Grow, of this city, was called to receive sentence in the Third District Court, on a conviction of unlawful cohabitation.

The court asked—Mr. Grow, have you anything further to say?

Mr. Grow—I don't know that it is worth while to bother you with anything. You know my age, 70 on the 1st of October next, and if you can exercise leniency for that I would like it.

Court—What means have you to pay a fine?

Mr. Grow—I have only my daily labor for my support.

Court—When will you be 70?

Mr. Grow—On the 1st of October next. I was born in 1817, in Philadelphia.

Court—Well, in view of the circumstances, I will fix your punishment at imprisonment for five months, and to pay a fine of $50 and costs; to stand committed until fine and costs are paid.

Mr. Grow—Thank you.
Mr. Grow was escorted to the Bastille this afternoon.

A GENERAL SHAKING UP.

GEN. DODGE TO BE PRESIDENT OF THE UNION PACIFIC.

Friday's Omaha Herald contains an article on the changes that are soon to take place among Union Pacific officials. That paper says:

"Since the meeting of the officers of the Union Pacific at Boston, a week or so ago, it has been generally understood that there was to be a great shaking up among the heads of departments of the Union Pacific Railway. Reports began to circulate immediately upon the return of the officers, but each flatly refused to be interviewed and even disputed that changes were to be made. Notwithstanding the denials the general manager, who was also vice-president of the Union Pacific, has given away to the assistant general manager, although still performing the duties of his vice-presidency. Yesterday it was understood about the Union Pacific headquarters that there are to be still further changes in the management of the Union Pacific, and the shaking up will be continued along the line from the head of the great corporation down to the head of the smallest department. But the most important immediate change, it is understood, will be the stepping down and out of Charles Francis Adams as president of the Union Pacific. Mr. Adams is to be succeeded, it is rumored, by General Dodge, of Council Bluffs. It was asserted yesterday, and is generally believed that as soon as this change in the office of president is consummated work on the new union depot will be commenced. All the railroads now centering at Council Bluffs, together with those on the other side of the river, will be stockholders in this union depot and the Council Bluffs roads will run into the union station across the new bridge, which is to be built across the Missouri River. Cable cars will also cross the bridge and Council Bluffs and Omaha will be practically united. The importance of this to both cities cannot be overestimated. The Northwestern and Missouri Pacific roads, which now have a joint passenger landing at the station on Webster Street, will probably enter the union station over the Belt tracks and along the river front, although there is a possibility that each of the roads mentioned will seek separate track privilege along some of the extreme eastern streets of the city, from the Webster Street terminus to the new union station. It is generally known that the Northwestern has been purchasing a great deal of property in Omaha, and it is asserted that the other railroads have been quietly buying a great deal of real estate in and about the city with a view to having ample facilities for carrying on their business when the new depot is completed and all are using the structures. Railroad men long identified with the land departments of the several roads interested are the ones who have been conducting these purchases of real estate. Just when Gen. Dodge will assume the duties of president of the Union Pacific was not stated and could not or would not be approximated by the gentlemen who are aware of the proposed change. It is rumored, however, that the change will soon take place. The selection of Gen. Dodge to succeed President Adams will be hailed with pleasure by the people of this section of country, from the fact that he has been so long identified with the interests of the region through which the Union Pacific line of railway passes."

Barney Hughes Captured.—Yesterday Sheriff Burt received a telegram from Deputy Marshal W. S. Dobson, at Eagle Rock, Idaho, asking whether he wanted Barney Hughes who escaped from the Salt Lake county jail, last week. The sheriff replied that he did, and was informed that he was in custody, and would be turned over as soon as the necessary papers were presented. Sheriff Burt is now procuring a requisition from Governor West, to bring the escaped convict back to jail.

FROM MONDAY'S DAILY, MARCH 21.

Painful Accident.—As George Martin Jones, an employee of the Utah Central Railway, was coupling cars this afternoon, his hand was caught between the buffers and badly smashed. Dr. Richards was promptly sent for, who on arriving amputated one of the fingers but has hopes of saving the others.

Wm. Seely's Children.—William S. Martin, of Blunt, Hughes County, D. T., wishes to know the whereabouts of Charles and Laura Seely, children of William Seely, who was wounded at Far West, Mo., and whose wife lived at Navoo, Ill. Mrs. Seely's maiden name was Hydecker. Mr. Martin says if the children will correspond with him, addressing as above, he can furnish information of interest to them.

From the Penitentiary.—Yesterday there were released from the Utah Penitentiary, where they have been confined under the Edmunds act, Bishop Loveless, of Provo, Brother Jensen, of Goshen, John Durrant, of Pleasant Grove, and Orson P. Arnold, of this city.
This afternoon Richard Warburton, of Tooele, came before Commissioner McKay, and was discharged on taking the oath. Jonas Lindberg, also of Tooele, was before the Commissioner. He stated that he had $110 in the Tooele Co-operative, against which there was an indebtedness of an equal amount. On this showing the Commissioner refused to discharge him. Up to the time we went to press he was still in custody.

A Fine Work.—The "Union Pacific Sketch Book," a fine work consisting of 240 pages, is before us. As an advertising reflex of the company in whose interest it is produced, it is greatly superior to anything of the kind ever presented to the public; it is profusely and artistically illustrated with scenes along the line of travel, while the matter is well prepared and written in a style to interest and instruct. There is nothing cheap or second class about it; it is worthy of good binding and preservation.

Probate Court.—On Saturday the following business was transacted in the Salt Lake County Court:

In the matter of the estate of W. A. McMaster, deceased, orders were made appointing Alex. McMaster administrator, who filed his bonds, and letters were issued to him. An order was also made appointing Arthur L. Foulger, Charles Foulger and Marlow Cummings appraisers.

In the matter of the estate of Jacob Malmstrom, deceased, an order was made appointing time and place to hear the petition of the widow of said deceased for the appointment of John E. Erickson administrator of said estate.

John England Sentenced.—This afternoon John England, of Tooele, was called to receive sentence, in the Third District Court, on conviction for unlawful cohabitation. In reply to the Court's inquiry whether he had anything to say, he stated that he had two wives; he had tried to obey the law of the land during the past two years, his second wife having been in Idaho for that length of time. He could not, however, promise to do any better in respect to the Edmunds law than he had done, and was sentenced to imprisonment in the penitentiary for six months, and to pay a fine of $150 and costs of the prosecution.

From Detroit.—The following is an extract from a letter written on March 6th, 1887, by Elder Nels Graham, of Mink Creek, Idaho, to his family. He was among those released on Saturday from the Detroit penitentiary, having been discharged by Judge Stevens:

"Your letter advising me of steps being taken for our release is at hand, and our hearts are filled with gratitude towards our Heavenly Father and to our friends in Zion for their efforts in our behalf. As yet we are prisoners, owing to the fact that no U. S. Judge at this city to decide upon our writ of habeas corpus is at home. In a few days, however, a judge will arrive here from another district and we expect then to be discharged. We are all in good cheer, and happy over the prospect of gaining our liberty and once more associating with the Saints of God. The Elders here enjoy good health with the exception of Rasmus Nielson, of Weston, who has been quite sick but is now recovering. This institution will furnish us clothing and transportation when we leave."

Ogden.—A recent visit to our northern neighbor showed that the town was still there, the additions being a few new buildings in the business parts. James Horrocks is preparing to pull down several wooden structures on Fifth Street and erect in their stead a fine brick block, which will add greatly to the appearance of that locality and doubtless be a source of profit to the owner. The only approach toward the new union depot that we could discover was a number of cross fences, causing pedestrians to walk a little further and over a worse path than formerly; otherwise, there is no visible sign worth naming. Ogden has a good fire department and good quarters for its members; they are represented as being very prompt and efficient, and when the fact is considered that none of them are paid, this is a creditable record; Orson Risser is foreman. Sunday is a quiet day in Ogden; those who do not attend religious services seem to have a proper regard for those who do, and business is almost entirely suspended. A number of people are preparing to go with the European excursion which is expected to leave in a few weeks.

Emery County Notes.—Brother D. C. Robbins, of Huntington, is in this city on business.

Landowners at Cleveland, a new location seven miles from Huntington, are getting out their large canal to convey water from Huntington Creek to Cleveland. It will be twelve miles long, and will bring under cultivation a large area of rich soil.

The Huntington Canal, three miles long, is about completed. Besides furnishing water for the city, between five and six thousand acres can be irrigated.

The people of Emery County have suffered somewhat from the inroads of large flocks of sheep during the past winter. Nearly 300,000 head were taken into that section last fall for a winter range, but the snow was not as heavy as was expected, and the sheep crowded down to the streams for water, and injured a great many fields and farms.

Huntington now has about 1,200 population—more than any other settlement in the county—but there are a great many who have not sufficient means to get a successful start. In fact, the majority are poor. What is most needed is an effective organization and a supply of capital to develop the rich agricultural resources of that district.

The locating of troops at Fort Duchesne has opened up a market for produce and freighters from points along the railroad in Emery County.

IN RELATION TO THE OATH.

THE POINT IS RAISED AT SALEM.

On Saturday, 12th inst., a case of disturbing the peace was tried in the Justices' Court at Salem, Utah County. A jury being demanded, the jurors were requested to take the test oath, and though they were willing to take it, the counsel for defense objected to the Justice administering the oath to a juror that he (the Justice) himself had not subscribed to. Arguments ensued between the counsel and the attorney on "the other side." The court said that he held the Governor's commission, which showed that he had been "duly elected and qualified" etc., and that by said commission he was "authorized and empowered to discharge the duties of said office according to law, and to enjoy the rights and emoluments thereunto legally appertaining for the term prescribed by law, and until his successor shall be elected and qualified to office." He therefore held that as the "term prescribed by law" had not expired, and as his "successor" had not been "elected and qualified" and as it was one of the "duties of said office" to administer oaths to jurors, and having been "authorized" to do so, and that authority not having been revoked, and as the law made no proviso for any further qualifications during the term of incumbency, he was not under any obligations to subscribe to the oath at present. As the jury was about to be sworn to try the case the counsel for defense interposed a challenge to the panel on the grounds that they had been illegally summoned because the officer had not subscribed to the test oath. The court held that as the officer had been duly elected and qualified and holds his commission that that instrument is ample authority for the exercise of any duties of said officer during the time prescribed by the law without any further qualification.
