BREVITIES.

"Marigold" is the new color in gloves.

Gold-mounted skates are among holiday presents

Two electioneering requirements—Wind-bags and money-bags.

Derby drew his check for £20,000 sterling to be used against Gladstone.

Louis Napoleon recently said the Princess Metternich was created to prove that beauty is not necessary.

When the King of Siam died, all his subjects had their heads shaved on penalty of being flogged, and the barbers had a fine time.

A Toronto paper wishes the holidays lasted all the year. The cause of this desire is the fact that the members of the Legislature go home at that season.

The man who defeated Gladstone in Lancashire, is so corpulent that, on a recent occasion when it was necessary to wear a sword, no belt could be found large enough to go about his waist.

The post surgeon at Fort Randall, Dakotah, claims to have invented "electro-music," by which one performer can play a brass band in half-a-dozen different cities at once.

A little boy of thirteen having placed a penny on the railway track at Brunswick, Me., to see the locomotive crush it, one of the train hands threw a stick of wood at him and he was instantly killed.

The laws of Rhode Island still require a property qualification of all naturalized voters. A suffrage association in Providence has been formed to influence public opinion against the restriction.

A farmer and his wife, in Webster, Mass., have kept house twenty-eight years, and have never used a cooking stove, or any other kind of stove. They have adhered to the noble old open fireplace.

The young daughter of the Emperor of Russia, who will next year be Queen of Bavaria, is a slender young girl of medium height, with a very sweet and regular face, beautiful hands and feet, and long dark brown ringlets. She and her betrothed, the young knight of Bavaria, will be the handsomest royal couple on the Continent.

The famous Schneider received a bracelet valued at $15,000, from an English lord, during her visit to Baden-Baden. The donor's name and title were set in diamonds. "What a pity" exclaimed the actress, when she received it, "that he is not a Spanish nobleman—his name would have been so much longer."

"Friend Mallaby, I am pleased that thee has got such a fine organ in thy church." "But," said the clergyman, "I thought you were strongly opposed to having an organ in a church?" "So I am," said Friend Obadiah, "but then if thee will worship the Lord with machinery, I would like thee to have a first-rate instrument."

It pays to be Queen Victoria's cousin. For instance, the Duke of Cambridge receives as general officer, £16 a day; as Commander-in-chief, £7 a day; as Colonel of the first regiment of the line, nearly £1,000 a year; as Colonel of the first regiment of engineers, £806 a year; as Colonel of the first regiment of artillery, £600, and he possesses, besides all these, a clear £12,000 a year.

There is a brisk rivalry in Westerley, R. I., between a missionary of the Christian Association and an advertiser of patent medicines. The former printed in large letters on the fence, "What shall I do to be saved:" and the latter put under it, "Use——'s German Bitters!" But the missionary retaliated by printing in an another place, under "Use——'s German Bitters," "Prepare to meet thy God!"

Take a piece of beef from the fore quarter, weighing ten pounds. Those who like fat should select a fatty piece, those who prefer lean may take a shoulder-clod, or upper part of the fore leg. Take one pint of salt, one tea cup of molasses or brown sugar, one table spoon of ground cloves, allspice and pepper, and two table spoons of pulverized saltpetre. Place the beef in a deep pan, and rub with this mixture. Turn and rub each side twice a day for a week. Then wash off the spices; put in a pot of boiling water, and as often as it boils hard, turn in a tea cup of cold water. It must simmer for five hours on the back part of the stove. When cold press under heavy weights, and you will never desire to buy corned beef of the butcher again. Your pickle will do for another ten pounds of beef, first rubbing into it a handful of salt. It can be renewed and a piece kept in preparation every day. This has been used many years by the writer, and is good to pickle tongues fresh from the market.—[Ex.

Old Squire Hopkins was a perfect picture of meekness and simplicity, and his stuttering seemed the effect of bashfulness, rather than an inherent physical defect. One day a neighbor came to buy a yoke of oxen of him. The price was named, and the animals made a satisfactory appearance.

"Are they breachy?" asked the squire.

"N-n-n-never t-r-troubled me," was the reply.

The other paid the price and took the yoke. In a day or two he came back in a towering passion.

"Confound these critters, Squire, there ain't no fence will keep them! They will break through a stone wall or jump over the moon. What the dickens made you tell me they wan't breachy?"

"I didn,t say n-n-no s-such thing."

"Yes, you did; you said they never troubled you."

"On, w-all, neighbor," said the squire, "I d-don't let such a th-thing a-as that 'ere t-t-trouble me."

The buyer sloped.
