The people there are not very greatly alarmed cause Mr. Morgan has bought a fourth class line of their steamers which they built and which are now sailing under the English flag. Mr. Naisbitt expresses it as his opin-ion that before England is undermined by America her colonies will get to-gether and pledge themselves to support the manufactories of the mother country and discriminate against American goods in her favor. This, he thinks, is the spirit that is manifest-ing itself in England and her colonies at the present time.

The local com mittee had been put to a considerable expense in keeping headquarters open the visitors and otherwise looking after their wants and they asked that they might be allowed a commission on all tickets sold tomorrow to help de-fray expenses. To this Mr. Bateman fray expenses. To this Mr. Bateman agreed, providing the committee would is applie C. M. I. get out and rustle up business for the occasion. Yesterday the manager of the beach was considerably astonished when the committee asked that there should be no liquor sold at the resort during the visit of the Leaguers; need-less to say they were told that Saturday was reserved for regular patrons, who always made a feature of going out to the beach and incidentally had a glass of beer after their bath. Mr. Bateman explained that these patrons were a regular institution, whereas the Leag-uers came to Saltair only once in a lifetime perhaps. The outcome was that the bar will not be closed tomorrow and the Epworth Leaguers will swallow their scruples and help to swell 51st. one of the largest crowds at the lake this season. The great Welsh Dragon is once more in evidence, and peers from every bili-board and a number of store windows in the city. This means that the sons and daughters of Cambria will gather BIND at Saltair on Wednesday from all points of Utah and indulge in a time of ubilation.

formed person knows that gasoline is a very dangerous article. The followng paragraph clipped from your issue of the 10th inst. is corroborative of this fact "The Chicago Underwriters' association has a proposition before them contemplating a charge of 10c for the use of gasoline devices, statistics gathered covering the past eleven years are startling; from 1890 to 1900, fires were caused by gasoline, 2,526 by gas-oline stoves, 58 by gasoline lamps and 886 by the careless use of the fluid. Losses during this period amounted to $874,445 from this source alone. The casualties for the same period were 168 seriously maimed and 138 slightly hurt. As these figures are aken from the reports of the Fire Patrol of Chicago, they are authentic and certainly demonstrate that there is too much carelessness in the use of this dangerous fluid." It is true that transitory dangers are the daily experience of humanity. In-stance the escapade with a car load of powder at the R. G. Railway depot a be w days ago, providentially humanity did not suffer by it. Does the general public, and more particularly do the west-side residents of the vicinity of the Jackson public school and neighborhood of the Rio Grande depot, understand the daily and hourly menace that exists towards their lives and property. I refer to the fact, that the Standard Oil company's warehouse, encloses a tank that contains not less than four thousand galions, in bulk, of the deadly gasoline fuid. Under ordinary temperatures and more particularly during the present heated term, that tank is constantly evaporating an immense quantity of its highly inflammable gas, as dangerous and explosive as nitro-givcerine. It simply awaits the opportune fork of lightning, a spark from a locomotive, or possible fire, to explode this gasoline apor, and hurl into eternity numerous lives and destroy property. It would nearly annihilate everything in the
