THE COMMERCIAL CLUB.

The Deseret News extends its congratulations to the Commercial Club on the success which this morning attended its latest step in its career of development.

May the celebration of the day mark a new era in the upward and onward progress of the Commercial Club, and may it long continue the material factor in the building up of our city and our state.

EDUCATION OF A CHILD.

The education of the child as touched upon by Superintendent McNeill of Memphis at the National Council of Education in Denver Saturday, opens up a great train of thought upon this subject, along the lines touched upon by Mr. McNeill and along others which suggest themselves.

Can there be any question upon the necessity of frequent consultations between parent and teacher? Could not in such conferences inquiry be made by the teacher of peculiarities of the child for which some special attention is required?

It is frequently in the first years of a child's education that he develops an aversion for the school.

"Some teaching is so unscientific and consequently so spiritless that it would make most any child delinquent."

The speaker condemned the attempt to put high school branches into grammar grades or intermediate studies in any primary grades, and said that education agencies must look continuously to the care of the physical and emotional as well as to the intellectual side of education.

Society suffers from elements which are unstable, erratic, shiftless and inefficient. These elements corrupt morals, lead to irrational modes of living, and swell the hosts of the helpless and criminal who become the real burdens of society.

A culture on the part of the home to exercise even and forceful discipline is a moral sin which has put the curse of Cain and the stamp of Satan upon many a promising boy or girl.

When we realize the baneful working of uneven discipline growing out of weak-willed and inefficient parental government we stand in the presence of a great problem.

The consideration of these truths expressed by Mr. McNeill, many questions may arise. Chief of the number is that concerning the fitness of a child for certain study.

tinguished from "whim." The inclinations of the child are to be regarded as firmly grounded preferences.

To the parent as well as the teacher are commended the thoughts voiced by Mr. McNeill, for they are well worth thought; especially are they during this vacation time when the plans of the child's future are being considered.

NOT ACCIDENTAL.

Many citizens are surprised at the unusual mid-summer activity about the State university, caused by the presence of over eight hundred Utah school teachers who are preparing for their work of next year by taking courses specially planned for them.

A school is engaged in its most useful sphere of activity when it aids the teachers and, through their improvement, uplifts the common schools of the commonwealth that fosters and encourages the work which it offers.

It is both natural and proper that the schools should look to this institution for the help which progressive teachers naturally seek for the improvement of their work in education.

The teacher is the school. Brick and stone buildings, good desks, modern books and equipment, are all aids to first-class teaching; but the wide-awake, conscientious, and well trained teacher is indispensable to the progress of any school.

Although scores of army and navy officers whom the Government educated went over to the enemy, not one private soldier in the regular army and not one sailor in the navy swerved his allegiance to the flag.

No peril faces America from the lack of loyalty of her common people, as long as she shall be true to herself. The people themselves can "establish justice" and "insure domestic tranquility" by taking an earnest and honest interest in elections and in public affairs.

"The news wires have not been burdened of late with any intelligence regarding the progress of Prof. Pickering in securing the paltry sum of $10,000 which he was going to be allotted to Mrs. A. A Texan there was who was going to give him $50,000—a fairly good start, but at that long way from the finish. It would be hard to tell how long since the desire to communicate with Mars was first noised about by some scientist from this place."

If imagination is permitted to wind its way where it will, it can select many subjects it would like to ask a friendly and neighborly Martian about.

Among the professors who are nursing a frail hope to some day gossip with Martian pedagogues we cannot forget, try as we will, Prof. Doolittle of the University of Pennsylvania.

The University is received, is no accident, but only a natural result under the circumstances; while the courses to be offered by the various departments are likewise the result of careful selection by the faculty.

the four finest college sites in the country, a mere accident. Coming events cast their shadows before them; and some men have been able to foretell the future.

What boy that in his days of bare feet and sunburned nose has not with all the delight of his child-heart looked upon the driver of a fire wagon and declared that when he "got big he was going to drive a horse."

The "common people" that is, those not blessed with wealth or station, have the greatest reason to be thankful for American freedom and to rejoice in the celebration today of the national independence.

And, while our country has been true to men, preferring on merit wherever found, her sons have been singularly true to her.

There is no peace for the wicked or anyone else on the Fourth of July.

The only use to which Wellman's balloon shed can now be put is to shed tears.

It doesn't make much difference whether or no too many cooks spoil the broth; who likes broth anyhow.

For the organ of the great "American" party to take an Associated Press dispatch from Boise on the Nampa fire and make it "special to the Tribune," is a piece of petty stealing no reputable newspaper would indulge in.

A monument has just been unveiled in Washington to Major Stephenson, the founder of the Grand Army of the Republic. It is a fitting recognition of his work, but the G. A. R. is his great monument.

We have to make to a certain and abundant species of the genus homo, he who asks you every day, "Is it hot enough for you?"

Now Mr. Homo, instead of asking every Thomas, Richard and Henry that you meet if he is satisfied with the prevailing atmospheric and meteorological conditions, draw him to one side and inquire of him if he thinks we will ever be able to talk with Mars.

Few people think, almost everybody talks.

Anty Drudge Lectures to the Woman's Club. "My dear women, these pictures speak for themselves. Mrs. A uses Fels-Naptha soap in her washing. Mrs. B still sticks to the old, hard-rubbing, boiling, back-breaking way. Which do you want to look like when Monday's work is done? Think it over." Why did your grandmother boil dirty clothes? To soften and loosen the dirt. That's the only way she knew. Now Fels-Naptha soap will do the loosening better in cold or lukewarm water. Fels-Naptha is an invention, same as the telephone or sewing machine. The up-to-date woman uses Fels-Naptha because it saves her the trouble of boiling clothes or heating water and makes hard-rubbing unnecessary. Then her clothes are fresher and cleaner than if washed in the old-fashioned, boiling way. Here's the way to do your white things with Fels-Naptha: Soap, roll and let soak a short time in cold or lukewarm water, then rub lightly, rinse and hang on the line. Try it once. Be sure to follow directions on the red and green wrapper. No need of adding ammonia to the water for washing dishes or housecleaning—just make a suds of Fels-Naptha.
