

GERMANY'S
PICNIC POLICY.Rheinische Westphalische Characterizes it as Ridiculous.

COMMENT ON HENRY'S VISIT

Paris Temps is Very Cordial—Says The Entente Cordiale Has Just Held Its Money Moon.

New York, March 18.—In spite of the official frown which general comment upon the voyage of Prince Henry brings down upon any paper there appears, says the Berlin correspondent of the Herald, to be a growing tendency to refer to it and to ask what practical result it has accomplished.

The hip-hip-hoorahing has been done and the handshaking is over. The practical German is asking, "Well, what are we going to get out of it?"

Agrarians storm away the harder. They say "Germany has done for America, now it is the turn of America to do something for Germany."

The sober Tagliche Rundschau breaks ground and writes about Americans thinking Prince Henry was—to use the Yankee's favorite term—a "democratic prince." To this that paper replies:

"The American, it is known, prides himself in a very remarkable degree on the fact that he does not allow himself to be buffed by any one or at any time. As a member of a poker nation he bluffs naturally. But today it is an open secret that Prince Henry bluff his friends and hosts in quite an extraordinary way."

The Rheinische Westphalische takes the view that Germany is making herself ridiculous in pursuing this sort of "picnic policy" which does not come within the realm of seriousness.

THE TEMPS' COMMENT.

New York, March 18.—The Temps publishes a leader devoted to German and American relations, says a dispatch from Paris to the Herald. It says:

"The entente cordiale between Germany and the United States has just had its honeymoon, and almost its wedding journey. With the visit of Prince Henry of Prussia."

"It also threatens, as often happens, to let loose a crowd of bores, intrigues and chivalrous d'industrie ready to profit by this exchange of amenities or to attack those who have brought them about."

"When Prince Henry has got rid of the bruises on his hand he will have nothing but agreeable souvenirs of this tour, during which the great republic can democracy gave evidence not only of its amiable sentiments for Germany, but also of that latent, that unconscious royalism which lies at the bottom of the heart of every citizen of the free and equal republic."

"It is to be believed that Prince Henry, in spite of the ridiculous pretensions of the parvenus, will have carried away with him a deep and grandiose impression of the unique spectacle of that continent in a state of fermentation."

"Smaller incidents will disappear from his memory."

"The sensational (American) organs beat the big drum and play the trumpet with all the force of their lungs, innumerable caricatures show 'Brother Jonathan' under a thousand different forms in the carnival like costume which he owes to a tradition which has but little of the aesthetic about it, flitting with 'Gretchen' to the great irritation of 'John Bull,' who is seated and in rages in a corner meditating on his misfortunes."

"All that is highly fanciful. Things have not got to this point, and 'Gretchen,' for reasons far from sentimental, has just been making eyes at 'John Bull,' who, since the speech of Baron von Hohenhausen, feels himself neither deserted nor disgraced."

"One thing is certain, that the mere rumor of this rapprochement has set everybody's imagination in movement."

Dr
Prices
Cream
Baking Powder

Used in Millions of Homes.
40 Years the Standard. A Pure Cream of Tartar Powder. Superior to every other known. Makes finest cake and pastry, light, flaky biscuit, delicious griddle cakes —palatable and wholesome.

NOTE.—Avoid baking powders made from alum. They look like pure powders, and may raise the cake, but alum is a poison and no one can eat food mixed with it without injury to health.

PRICE BAKING
POWDER CO.,
CHICAGO.

NEW LINE TO THE ORIENT.

Causes Much Adverse Comment by Hamburg-Am. Co.

Berlin, March 18.—The recent establishment of a line of steamships to run between New York and the Orient has raised much adverse comment by the Hamburg-American Steam company's Levant lines of steamers. The newspapers, which represent German industries, complained that the German lines are thus assisting American goods to compete with German goods in the Orient.

The Hamburg-American Steam Packet company says that if German ships refuse to carry American goods, the ships of other countries will carry them, the German lines losing the carrying trade without helping German industries.

The Berlin Tageblatt learns that the agreement made in New York by Herren Ballin and Wiegand, general directors of the Hamburg-American and the North German Lloyd lines respectively, embraces a pledge by J. P. Morgan to refrain from buying stock in the German lines, while the agreement lasts, or otherwise acquiring influence over them. Herren Ballin and Wiegand similarly pledged themselves regarding the English lines controlled by Mr. Morgan.

Dr. J. Baxter Upham.

New York, March 18.—Dr. J. Baxter Upham, 52 years old, and once a well-known surgeon, who with the late Austin Corbin, founded the Corbin Banking company, is dead at his home in this city. He was born in Claremont, N. H., in 1850, and served during the civil war as a surgeon. He was breveted a major.

Information About Civil Service.

Washington, March 18.—Senator Gal-linger has introduced a resolution directing the civil service commission to transmit to the senate a statement showing the number of persons examined during each fiscal year from 1884 to 1891 inclusive, giving by years the number who passed, the number who were rejected, the number certified as being eligible for appointment, the number appointed and the number of eligibles now on the rolls.

The resolution also directs the commission to report the number placed in the classified service by executive order or rules of the commission without exception since the date of the enactment of the civil service law.

Alleged Lynchers Go Free.
Alturas, Cal., March 17.—E. S. Strow-bridge, his son, Orrin Strowbridge, Fred Roberts and his son, Harry Roberts, Richard Nichols, J. R. Meyers, Claude Marcus and Joe Leventon walked out of the Alturas jail today, free men.

These men were charged with having
participated in the lynching of Calvin
Hall, Jim Hall, Dan Yantis and Martin
Wilson at Lookout on May 31 last,
but the grand jury failed to indict them,
and they were arrested on warrants
issued on the complaint of Mayor Lorenz.

These men were charged with having
participated in the lynching of Calvin
Hall, Jim Hall, Dan Yantis and Martin
Wilson at Lookout on May 31 last,
but the grand jury failed to indict them,
and they were arrested on warrants
issued on the complaint of Mayor Lorenz.

These men were charged with having
participated in the lynching of Calvin
Hall, Jim Hall, Dan Yantis and Martin
Wilson at Lookout on May 31 last,
but the grand jury failed to indict them,
and they were arrested on warrants
issued on the complaint of Mayor Lorenz.

These men were charged with having
participated in the lynching of Calvin
Hall, Jim Hall, Dan Yantis and Martin
Wilson at Lookout on May 31 last,
but the grand jury failed to indict them,
and they were arrested on warrants
issued on the complaint of Mayor Lorenz.

These men were charged with having
participated in the lynching of Calvin
Hall, Jim Hall, Dan Yantis and Martin
Wilson at Lookout on May 31 last,
but the grand jury failed to indict them,
and they were arrested on warrants
issued on the complaint of Mayor Lorenz.

These men were charged with having
participated in the lynching of Calvin
Hall, Jim Hall, Dan Yantis and Martin
Wilson at Lookout on May 31 last,
but the grand jury failed to indict them,
and they were arrested on warrants
issued on the complaint of Mayor Lorenz.

These men were charged with having
participated in the lynching of Calvin
Hall, Jim Hall, Dan Yantis and Martin
Wilson at Lookout on May 31 last,
but the grand jury failed to indict them,
and they were arrested on warrants
issued on the complaint of Mayor Lorenz.

These men were charged with having
participated in the lynching of Calvin
Hall, Jim Hall, Dan Yantis and Martin
Wilson at Lookout on May 31 last,
but the grand jury failed to indict them,
and they were arrested on warrants
issued on the complaint of Mayor Lorenz.

These men were charged with having
participated in the lynching of Calvin
Hall, Jim Hall, Dan Yantis and Martin
Wilson at Lookout on May 31 last,
but the grand jury failed to indict them,
and they were arrested on warrants
issued on the complaint of Mayor Lorenz.

These men were charged with having
participated in the lynching of Calvin
Hall, Jim Hall, Dan Yantis and Martin
Wilson at Lookout on May 31 last,
but the grand jury failed to indict them,
and they were arrested on warrants
issued on the complaint of Mayor Lorenz.

These men were charged with having
participated in the lynching of Calvin
Hall, Jim Hall, Dan Yantis and Martin
Wilson at Lookout on May 31 last,
but the grand jury failed to indict them,
and they were arrested on warrants
issued on the complaint of Mayor Lorenz.

These men were charged with having
participated in the lynching of Calvin
Hall, Jim Hall, Dan Yantis and Martin
Wilson at Lookout on May 31 last,
but the grand jury failed to indict them,
and they were arrested on warrants
issued on the complaint of Mayor Lorenz.

These men were charged with having
participated in the lynching of Calvin
Hall, Jim Hall, Dan Yantis and Martin
Wilson at Lookout on May 31 last,
but the grand jury failed to indict them,
and they were arrested on warrants
issued on the complaint of Mayor Lorenz.

These men were charged with having
participated in the lynching of Calvin
Hall, Jim Hall, Dan Yantis and Martin
Wilson at Lookout on May 31 last,
but the grand jury failed to indict them,
and they were arrested on warrants
issued on the complaint of Mayor Lorenz.

These men were charged with having
participated in the lynching of Calvin
Hall, Jim Hall, Dan Yantis and Martin
Wilson at Lookout on May 31 last,
but the grand jury failed to indict them,
and they were arrested on warrants
issued on the complaint of Mayor Lorenz.

These men were charged with having
participated in the lynching of Calvin
Hall, Jim Hall, Dan Yantis and Martin
Wilson at Lookout on May 31 last,
but the grand jury failed to indict them,
and they were arrested on warrants
issued on the complaint of Mayor Lorenz.

These men were charged with having
participated in the lynching of Calvin
Hall, Jim Hall, Dan Yantis and Martin
Wilson at Lookout on May 31 last,
but the grand jury failed to indict them,
and they were arrested on warrants
issued on the complaint of Mayor Lorenz.

These men were charged with having
participated in the lynching of Calvin
Hall, Jim Hall, Dan Yantis and Martin
Wilson at Lookout on May 31 last,
but the grand jury failed to indict them,
and they were arrested on warrants
issued on the complaint of Mayor Lorenz.

TIMID MEMBERS
FEAR ELECTIONS.

Reasons for the Postponement of The Ship Subsidy Bill.

CONGRESSMEN A LITTLE SHY

Do Not Care to Go on Record Just Yet—Predicting Alaska's Game—Elkins in Court.

Special Correspondence.

Washington, March 11.—It seems to be the impression that the senate ship subsidy bill will be considered in the house committee and reported at this session, but will not be voted upon until the short session of Congress. One reason given for postponing consideration is that many members would prefer not to vote for it until after the fall elections. Then they would have two years in which the bill would be in operation and to explain to such of their constituents as were opposed to the bill the reason they supported it. Senator Hanna remarked in his speech that when the bill had been given an opportunity to show what it could do "there will be nobody here to offer any regrets or explanations to its constituents or run away from the name of 'subsidy' because it had been made odious by demagogues or because it had been held up as a great bogey man—I do not know a better term—to frighten and hold up children and timid statesmen." Just now there are some "timid statesmen," especially in the house, who feel that they will be unable to explain "subsidy" to their constituents in a satisfactory manner before the time of the adjournment of the present session and the elections in November.

Alaska is a region of game, but with the rapid development and influx of people to that country there is danger that the game may be exterminated.
Representative Lacey of Iowa has introduced a bill to provide for the protection of animals and birds. Alaska has no legislature, and laws must be enacted by congress. Like all unsettled countries, Alaska became the home of wild game. The former white settlers, trappers and the like and the natives only killed such as were needed for food and clothing. But with the influx of people into the country and with sportsmen going there, simply killing for the joy of making a big collection or a large sum of money, the game is being exterminated. The bill provides for a liberal allowance to each hunter and for all the sport he could wish, but prohibits the destruction. It is a bill that should pass.

A MATTER OF PRECEDENCE.
It is a rather serious task that those who have to seat a large number of distinguished guests confront in placing the five ambassadors from England, Germany, France, Italy and Mexico.
The diplomats hold the at all public functions they are entitled to be placed next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the senate or speaker of the house he brews a lot of trouble for himself. These foreigners are very punctilious, and when they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had occurred between their countries and the United States. We also have a case of precedence of our own. The diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when
they do not "get next" they make as
much trouble as if some accident had
occurred between their countries and
the United States. We also have a
case of precedence of our own. The
diplomats hold the at all public
functions they are entitled to be placed
next to the president, and when some
unlucky mortal sandwiches in the supreme court, the president of the sen-
ate or speaker of the house he brews a
lot of trouble for himself. These for-
eigners are very punctilious, and when they do not "get next