

THE SEMI-WEEKLY NEWS

Issued Mondays and Thursdays and Contains All the Cream of the Daily and Saturday News.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

No one in this city was able to see last night's eclipse of the moon, on account of the fog which continued as dense as ever.

The Eva Bartlett Macey company entertained a good audience in the Y. M. C. A. last evening, with readings and a varied display of excellent musical talent.

Dayton and Edward Fernalter, two Draper boys, were brought to the county jail yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Isaac Emery upon the charge of petit larceny.

Rev. R. P. Spaulding of Fargo, N. D., author of President J. M. Spaulding of the Utah Federation of Labor, and years ago a Methodist minister in this city, died yesterday.

The Monday Night Literary club will indulge in an old fashioned dinner at the residence of Rev. J. C. Lincoln, 277 east Second South street, on the evening of the 16th inst. Covers will be laid for 22 persons.

The Canadian Association of Utah will meet this evening, in the Jennings block, when arrangements will be made for a permanent headquarters, and reports will be made by members who have been lately traveling in Canada. All Canadians are invited to attend tonight's gathering.

When the afternoon shift of the police force went on duty yesterday, the officers were all instructed to rigidly enforce the ordinance against expectorating on the sidewalk. As a result of the order, 21 violators were arrested and compelled to give bonds for their appearance before Judge DeHaven.

The funeral of Mrs. W. A. Stanton yesterday was attended by many friends, at the residence, Acting Rector Hunting of St. Mark's cathedral officiating. The Masonic quartet sang, and the pall bearers were H. M. Cushing, A. J. Lowe, A. Brown, J. F. Smith and Charles Van Dyke. There were many floral offerings.

Atty. David H. Morris, former member of the Legislature, is in city from St. George to examine the records of the Black Hawk war, that the survivors may be given pensions. He has the names of about 30 veterans entitled to pensions under the recent act of Congress, 69 of whom reside in Washington county.

The Salt Lake County Horticultural society will hold its regular meeting Saturday, Feb. 10, at 10 a. m., at the City and County building, third floor. All fruit growers in the county are invited to attend, as very important business pertaining to winter spraying and preparation for spring work in general will be discussed.

The management of the Utah Light and Railway company has accepted plans for a system of new trailers to be used during rush hours in the street car service, and work begins tomorrow on the first two to be used on the Murray line. These cars will be 32 feet long with 12 windows, side seats, and will seat 44 people. The model is an attractive one.

There is a growing belief in insurance circles that the next Legislature will provide for a fire commission in this city, the members of which will be appointed by the governor, the board in turn to choose the chief of the department and make other appointments as present made by the city council. This will take the fire department completely out of politics.

Washington's birthday exercises will be held, under the auspices of the state university on the 22nd inst., either in the Salt Lake Theater, or on the college campus, with campus, by some prominent citizen; the function being in harmony with similar exercises held contemporaneously in other parts of the country. The fostering of patriotism and national pride is the object of the movement.

Invitations have been issued by the University of Pennsylvania Alumni association of Utah to an illustrated lecture entitled "The Old Testament in the Light of the University of Pennsylvania Excavations in Babylonia," to be delivered by Prof. Josiah H. Penniman, Ph. D., dean of the U. of P., in the auditorium of the Free Public Library building, Monday evening, Feb. 26, at 8 p. m.

There will be civil service examinations in this city Feb. 27 next for the position of assistant examiner in the patent office, at a salary of $1,200. The requirements are quite severe. There will be an examination March 14, for the position of aid on the land and geodetic survey, at $720 per year. Vacancies in the position of deck officer will be filled as they occur, as the result of this examination.

Miss Swenson has issued invitations to a vocal recital to be given by her advanced pupils, Miss Leona Morse, Miss Minnie Galleher, Miss Hazel Wimmer and Miss Adelle Fletcher, assisted by Mrs. Walter Tuttle, harpist and Miss Henry Kirkman, accompanist, in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium this evening, at 8:15 o'clock. Friends are requested to bring their invitations, as the programs are printed on the inside, and there will be no separate program sheets.

Charles A. Love, the Denver insurance man who disappeared from this city last December, has been discovered at Canton, O., with his mind a blank, and in a dazed condition. Love had been married only a few months, to a Miss Thornberg of Denver, and brought her to Salt Lake for a visit. He got short of cash, but secured an order from eastern relatives, and was on his way to get the draft cashed when he suddenly lost his mind, and was not heard from again until just recently.

The register of the land office received last evening, copies of the proclamation issued by the president last month withdrawing from entry and for forest reserve purposes large tracts of land in this state, including tracts of land north and south of the Utah Indian reservation, and additions to the old Utah forest reserves. Several townships adjoining the Soier forest reserve in Garfield county; some 140,000 acres of land in Iron county for the Beaver forest reserve, and in Boxer county a large area added to the Manit forest reserve.

Zion's Savings Bank and Trust Co., the largest and oldest Savings Bank in Utah, pays 4 per cent interest on any amount from $1 to $500. Write to Mr. Joseph F. Smith, President; George M. Cannon, Cashier.

WINTER COURSE FOR UTAH FARMERS.

A Four Week's Session in Agriculture and the Allied Industries.

AT THE B. Y. UNIVERSITY.

Will Open on Monday Next and Will Be Under the Direction of Dr. Widdowse—Many to Attend.

When Brigham Young founded the University of Provo he stipulated expressly, in the deed of trust, that classes in manual training and other industries should be part of the curriculum. Conditions were such that for 15 years this part of his bequest could not be carried out. The time was not ripe for specializing in woodwork, ironwork, cooking, sewing, agriculture and those other activities which the Latter-day Saints must depend upon for a living. Nor was it possible till within a very few years to get teachers qualified to give these various courses.

Nevertheless, the authorities at the head of the Brigham Young university have kept in mind the great mission laid upon them by the founder, and have established departments of industry as fast as means and opportunity permitted. Wood work and manual training along similar lines, have now been part of the regular school for 10 years. So also of the courses in domestic science and domestic art. Iron work was introduced successfully two years ago. But the department now attracting most attention and the largest number of students, is that of agriculture.

ONE HUNDRED ATTEND.

One hundred and twenty-five men are now enthusiastic students in Dr. Widdowse's course. Whatever may have been their ambitions when they started to school, and doubtless, like the majority of young men, they looked forward to clerkships, positions as accountants, typewriters, stenographers, or had their eye singled upon the professions of law or medicine—whatever was their ambition, they are now irrevocably committed to the soil; and they are, moreover, committed with an enthusiasm that will go far toward leaving the lump of indifference which the ordinary farmer feels toward the scientific advances in agriculture and kindred branches. When they shall return to their homes, it is no little boast to say that they will put into practice the obvious truths acquired in the classroom. As other results of the efforts of Dr. Widdowse, and of Prof. Merrill, who is also just now delivering a series of lectures in this institution, widespread interest has been awakened, which is bringing inquiries from all over the west.

THE WINTER COURSE.

With a view to promoting the interest thus aroused, and of disseminating the practical results of the hundreds of experiment stations in the United States, a new winter course has just been established for farmers, orchardists, stockmen and all others who may wish to attend. Lectures on agriculture in its various phases of irrigation, dry farming, treatment of soils, fertilizing, and so on, will be delivered by Dr. John A. Widdowse.

SPECIAL LECTURES.

Lectures on field and orchard pests, on animal husbandry, involving breeding and care of domestic animals, also conveying such veterinary information as every farmer should be familiar with will be delivered by Prof. L. A. Merrill, director of the Deseret Farmer's course of lectures on economics will be given by Prof. John S. Swenson. A one hour's course each day in technology will also be given in connection with the school, and the winter course has just been established for farmers, orchardists, stockmen and all others who may wish to attend. Lectures on agriculture in its various phases of irrigation, dry farming, treatment of soils, fertilizing, and so on, will be delivered by Dr. John A. Widdowse.

The courses will open Monday, Feb. 11, and continue for four weeks, ending Friday, March 9, 1906. No examination requirements will be made for entrance. The school will be open to all who are interested in these subjects, of either sex and of any age. The tuition is placed at the nominal rate of $4. President Brimhall has already received advice from leading citizens in Wasatch, Alpine, Nebo and Juab stakes stating that the announcement is received with great favor, and that large numbers are likely to attend. Indeed, so vital seems the need of such information that strong efforts are being made by leading citizens to get as many people to attend this course as possible. The promoters realizing what great advantages must accrue to the farming community through the dissemination of such knowledge.

A FAVORITE REMEDY FOR BABIES.

Its pleasant taste and prompt cures have made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a favorite with the mothers of small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds and prevents any danger of pneumonia, whooping cough, or other serious consequences, not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears will prevent the attack. For sale by all druggists.

VETERAN'S BURIAL DELAYED

The funeral of Louis Trunkhill, a G. A. R. veteran, who died from pneumonia last Monday, was delayed until this afternoon, because the widow declined to surrender his army discharge papers to the local G. A. R. posts, and it was necessary to secure an affidavit to show that he was entitled to a soldier's burial. The deceased was a member of the Salvation army, aged 59, and died at 18 from pneumonia. He was taken in exchange. Write me at the Healey House, Ogden—H. W. DUNN.
