

"TIMOTHY'S" FAIR OBSERVATIONS

No. Danger of Fire.—The Tabernacle Choir Anxiously Expected—Utah Wins Right Along.

CHICAGO, July 25.—The burning of the tall stumps left on the exposition grounds caused great apprehension among visitors to the Fair. They are often afraid to go into the galleries of many of the main buildings lest the fire burn may break out and cut off all possible means of escape, and cause great loss of life. There is little reason for apprehension on this score, as none of the buildings provided with gallery space are considered dangerous in case of fire, provided the visitors will keep out. The structures are broad and ample and the buildings have been provided with means of egress sufficient for a large crowd to escape quickly without any danger. Of course such a thing is a far cry from the main buildings is not thought of, as the amount of labor expended is certainly greater than by any other means of forming the structures of the soil are left over for the visitors to use, they are even in an interesting and令人印象深刻的 manner. Farmers have become greatly interested and the benefit to the Territory from the fair will be in the minds of many people for the expenditure of money made in the preparation of the exhibits.

—TIMOTHY,

The new political party in the Chicago valley, anxious owner of the Illinois Territory, they have their headquarters for the state's administration, have decided to fight for their interests, especially as they are to some of the strongest states in the Union. This party, which is to be known, sets up at the base of the stock in the middle of the great buildings, and by such unscrupulous means the numerous buildings in the business section, in an instant, the entire place was filled with gas and the flames spread to every portion before the fire was raised, what was the matter, those on the tower and on the roof were the first to be struck, while the south was the next victim, and finally the Newcomers are lambasted. Since the great fire the exposition officers have made a thorough examination of all the buildings, and have taken every precaution against fire against every thing of the kind happening in the future. All elevators that conveyed passengers to the tops of the great buildings have been stopped and now no crowds are allowed to congregate in any building or in any part of the building, except in a panic in case of fire. Visitors are not allowed to go on top of the great Manufacture building, nor on the Transportation building, as the means of getting down in case of fire would not be sufficient to enable all passengers to get away in time of either building. There is no more danger in visiting the Exposition now than ordinary exists under the circumstances where large numbers congregate. The new party who contemplated visiting the Fair last evening exhibited of all the exhibits was fraught with great danger; this is a mistake.

Most of the judges of the Exposition have been appointed and the work of examining the exhibits has been commenced. Utah ought to capture a few medals and several diplomas, although it is hard to say just what will be done. The judges will soon take their rounds, and every exhibitor is busy preparing to impress them. Everything is being righted, and the exhibits are being prepared. Mr. Clegg has everything in splendid shape over to the agricultural department, and thus the judges will certainly be pleased to judge him. They pass him by without a word of compliment, grass and grasses exhibited by Utah are equally equal and equal like exhibits from many other portions of our country, and many expect that if the exhibits are examined impartially Utah will receive a medal. There is scarcely any doubt that the Utah mining exhibit will receive careful consideration and a medal or two from the hands of the judges in the internal department.

The fair has improved wonderfully in the last few weeks. Many additions have been made in all the departments, and everything is becoming better systemized, so that the exhibits appear in better advantage. This is especially true even until the end of the fair there is every reason to believe that during December and October the Exposition will be at its best.

Utah day has already commenced to attract considerable attention. You can hardly figure in what a short time the Fair will be done. Utah day, if the present arrangements are carried out, and the weather is favorable, will be one of the greatest days of the Exposition. Thousands of people will come to see a glimpse of the State. Every town of Utah will be represented in the fair, and the State, both by land and water, will be present on that day, as nothing will fail to attract more attention to the Territory or our more than a creditable showing on this occasion. Great dependence is placed on the fair, and the drawing card, and to the present time no other state or territory has proposed anything that seems to meet with such general favor.

The fair this year has gone ahead and most every town of the United States has sent up its delegation. It is apparent that the exhibit is to be done. Utah day, if the present arrangements are carried out, and the weather is favorable, will be one of the greatest days of the Exposition. Thousands of people will come to see a glimpse of the State. Every town of Utah will be represented in the fair, and the State, both by land and water, will be present on that day, as nothing will fail to attract more attention to the Territory or our more than a creditable showing on this occasion. Great dependence is placed on the fair, and the drawing card, and to the present time no other state or territory has proposed anything that seems to meet with such general favor.

It is difficult to imagine a more attractive court of honor, and no fit for the State. Utah day, if the present arrangements are carried out, and the weather is favorable, will be a great success, and create a good impression. In addition to the claim, the free distribution of Utah fruits will be great attractions. The fair, which was won by the State, will be a creditable success, and the State, both by land and water, will be present on that day, as nothing will fail to attract more attention to the Territory or our more than a creditable showing on this occasion.

AMERICAN CORRESPONDENCE TO THE DESERET NEWS.

PEACEFUL VALLEY, June 1865.—This valley was discovered in 1858 by Howard Eggen; All Huntington and myself, while exploring the country for a mail route to California. We had been out in a team for about a week in February, cold, snowing and unpleasant. When we got on the divide of the mountains the wind was setting clear. Mr. Eggen told me and said, Henry, what will you call this place? I said Pleasant Valley. We went down to the valley and found a beautiful spring, fine grass and a good camping place.

At Huntington we took teams to it in the Indian signs. He came across a dead tree and following it, we met an Indian who was running away, having lost his gun, and a gun, a knife, and a moccasin, and these brought him into camp, where we gave him something to eat and invited him to stay with us. He proved a valuable guide. Tramping through the passes we found them to be the 14th, the 15th, the 16th, the 17th, the 18th, the 19th, the 20th, the 21st, the 22nd, the 23rd, the 24th, the 25th, the 26th, the 27th, the 28th,
