"Phil" Margotta.—This favorite comedian's under engagement to play at the theatre in Providence, Rhode Island, on the 2nd and 3rd of January, 1880. "Phil" will make lots of fun for the good folks up there, and we wish him every success in his engagement.

Cattle From.—The severely cold weather has caused the death of scores of cattle in this valley; and unless a change be soon brought about, stock raisers will have cause for sympathy. On Wednesday morning last a prominent dealer in cattle found 21 of his animals frozen dead. Logan Leader.

Beautiful Night.—Last night was one of the most beautiful that ever falls to the common lot to witness. The dense covering of snow that rested upon everything, was an unusual sight in itself, but the pure flood of moonlight that poured over the white expanse converted it into a scene of dazzling radiance, more suggestive of fairyland than anything connected with the realm of mortality.

Shot in the Forehead.—Dr. J. M. Benedict left this morning for Salina, Sevier County, having been telegraphed to attend a young man of Norman Taylor, who the dispatch said, had been shot in the forehead. No particulars were given, but it is presumed to have been an accident, and that the case is not desperate.

Change of Time.—The Dispatch informs us that according to a new time schedule, that went into effect on Saturday on the C. P. R. R., the passenger train that formerly left Ogden for San Francisco at 7 p. m., now leaves at 6:45 p. m., and reaches the Bay City at 11:45 a. m. The 4:10 p. m. freight train now arrives in Ogden at 3:15 p. m., and the emigrant train, which formerly left there at 3:15 p. m., now leaves at 2:45 p. m.

Important Matters.—The State superintendent of the Y. M. M. I. A. have issued a circular letter to the various associations of the county, accompanied by a blank report, which it is desired should be filled out at once and returned to Heber J. Grant, Secretary, in time for the general report to be presented at the Quarterly Conference of the State, next Saturday. The money collected for the Standing monument, should also be sent to immediately.

Water Matters.—Watermaster Wilken desires the citizens of the 18th, 20th and 21st Wards, who obtain their water supplies from the 20th Ward ditch, to meet him at the residence of Robert Patrick, 18th Ward, to-morrow morning, at 7 o'clock, prepared to assist in cleaning out said ditch, which has been filled with snow during the late storms. While it remains as is now, it will be impossible to turn in the water. Side ditches from the main one should also be cleaned, to avoid overflows and extra trouble and expense.

The Last Day.—To-morrow, Wednesday, Dec. 31st, is the last day of the season, allowed by the law, for the killing of deer. The officers of the Game Protective Society, wish to remind hunters and others of this fact as it is their intention to rigorously prosecute any person who is found violating the law in relation to this matter. The recent heavy snows have driven the deer down from the mountains, close to the settlements, where they would fall an easy prey to sportsmen, but it must be understood that the opportunities thus afforded for killing them, will constitute no justification for the breaking of the law. Let all read and understand.

A True Story.

A gentleman living near this office, vouchers for the following: About 2 o'clock, Sunday morning, he was aroused from his slumbers by a terrible crash on the back stoop of his residence, and while in the attitude of listening for further sounds his ears were saluted by a repetition of the disturbance, suggestive of the falling of a heavy body, preceded by a succession of noises like the scrambling and reeling to and fro of a helpless inebriate. Not hearing any voices, but gradually embracing the conviction that a drunken tramp was endeavoring to effect an entrance into his domicile, he arose and dressed with haste, another and more fearful crash, followed by a tumbling sound, occurring meanwhile, to tell him that the intruder, whoever he might be, had broken through the flooring of the porch and rolled down the steps into the cellar. Grasping the fire shovel with a nervous hand, and waking his younger brother, who armed himself with a revolver, the twin sallied out into the night with a lighted lamp and a settled determination to ferret out the mystery. "Say!" was the laconic salutation sent down the cellar steps previous to further movements, and to which no response was rendered, save a low crunching sound from below, such as a hungry bear might make while affectionately gnawing away at its victim's bones. A chill of terror struck to the hearts of our heroes at the bare thought, but being firmly resolved to penetrate the lair of the monster, they cautiously descended the steps. Stopping midway, "Hallo, there!" evinced no better reply than the first exclamation, and after drawing three long breaths, they continued on their way. Arriving at the bottom of the steps, and raising the lamp on high, their surprise and amusement at seeing a large, red cow, complacently munching away at a pile of potatoes, was nearly equalled by their alarm at the creature's wheebling suddenly around and coming to ward them with a speed that threatened instant demolition. Hurriedly stepping aside to let the bovine depredator have her own way, which was all she seemed to desire just then, they were but too well pleased to see her remount the steps she had so unceremoniously descended a few moments before, and lose herself as well as she could in the weird and snowy distance. This piece is, unfortunately, without a moral.

B. Foote. It is the cheapest book in the English or German language: 3000 illustrated pages; just issued on new type for $1.50. Liberal discount to agents. ## Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Dec. 24th, 1879.

Editors Deseret News:

As an offset to the claim of the democrats that they will make a gain of one in the Senate by unseating Kellogg, of Louisiana, comes a story that the English nation is to be offered to Senator David Davis, thus giving place for a republican from Illinois. What the authority for the story is I don't know, but it seems to have gained credence quite generally. Hon. E. B. Washburn is named as Judge Davis' successor. There is one curious fact in connection with the senatorial situation which perhaps people have not noticed. A few years ago the democrats had control of so many northern legislatures that no change could be made by death or resignation without profiting them, and they gained some three. Now it is exactly the reverse. The republican control every legislature in the northern States except Indiana, unless the counting out scheme prevails in Maine, and therefore would gain wherever the other in the senatorial situation which perhaps people have not noticed.

The rivals of General Garfield for the senatorship of Ohio are getting mixed. They say he is too valuable a member to send up from the House, and at the same time that he ought not to go to the Senate because he is a free trader, but the fact is, to express an opinion, General Garfield is not a free trader, having done more to maintain the present revenue system than almost any other man in his party. If General Garfield is so valuable in the House, why would not he be in the Senate? This is a question for men of all parties, if not for the rivals of any particular senatorial candidate.

It is said that prominent members of Congress are organizing a movement to still further reduce the rate of interest to be paid on the national debt to be refunded in the future. Many think it can be reduced to the rate of three per cent. The Secretary of the Treasury does not think so, but many of the democrats suspect him of holding that opinion because so low a percentage will not allow margin enough for the syndicates who are expected to help sell the new issue.

The friends of Senator Cameron say he will make a vigorous leader of the republican forces next year, and I find his selection as Chair of the National Committee is received with great favor. He is a very popular man, and the democrats will have to look sharp for a leader to marshal their forces, with equal spirit and success. The families of Senators Allison, of Iowa, Blaine, Cameron and Representatives Morton, Chittenden and Robeson, and mentioned as to figure most conspicuously in social events this season. KNOX.
