ANOTHER WORD OF WARNING WE take from the Rocky Mot Christian (?) Advocate., a sheet pub lished in this city, the following, to which our attention has been called by a gentleman interested in the cause ultah and the success it has already achieved.

"The question was then considered as to what has become of the pupils who have attended and been educated in our Christian schools for the past sixteen years? In reply to this, Frof. Miller. Principal of St. Mark's School of the the Episcopal Church, the oldest and largest school in the Territory, stated that he had lost track of the pupils who were in attendance previous to ten years ago, but since then, to the best of his knowledge, no scholar who had been in attendance for any length of time, had ever gone back into Mormonism, and in support of this, reference was made to a statement of Bishop Tuttle, of the same church, that "never had a boy or girl from their schools grown up a Mormon."

On the other hand it was admitted that many of tnesse have drifted away from directly Christian influences, and have become indifferent to all religion, but it was contended, and the history of Christian work proves true, that it is easier to reach an intelligent, although indifferent, non-Mormon, than one who has fully embraced the Mormon doctrine.

Moreover, it seemed to be the con-mon doctrine.

Moreover, it seemed to be the conviction of all present that it is almost impossible to reach one who is in full sympathy with the Mormon faith, and convert him directly from Mormonism to Christianity. Apostasy is commonly a necessary preliminary step before he can be approached successfully by the Gospel of Christ. One great end of our work of education is to undermine the faith of the Mormon people, and at present this cannot be more effectually accomplished than by the co-operation of school and church."

We think the foregoing worthy of notice by all our leading men in the various settlements of this Territory that they may present it for the consideration of every person within their influence claiming to be a Latter-day Saint. It proves beyond dispute what we have claimed on several occasions namely, that the great aim and purpose of those sectarian teachers here who retend to be simply secular educators, is to lead away the children of "Moron" parents from the faith of their fathers. This has been denied by many of those teachers, and disputed by persons professing to be Latter-day Saints, who have sent their children to be taught in the sectarian schools.

Those teachers have pleaded that they only instruct their pupils in the rudiments of learning and do not attempt to teach Methodism, Episcopalanism, Catholicism, Presbyterianism Congregationalism, or any other ism nor to undermine or say anything against "Mormonism." And the people whom they have deceived remark: Oh, there is no harm done; the school 1, not sectarian, and the teacher has assured me that nothing will be said in the school against the doctrines of our Church." We have repeatedly shown the fallacy of such remarks, and proved from the arguments used by the socieeties in the East that support those sectarian teachers, that the real object in sending them to Utah is to convert the children from "Mormonism."

Now look at the remarks we have ticularly note the concluding para-graph: "One great end of our work of education is to unple." This is the language used when those teachers meet together. When dren they wish to lead astray they have a different tale to tell. Now," mark it, Latter-day Saints! When a teacher, asnt here by any denomination of apostate|Christendom, tells you that he or she has no intent to lead your children away from the parents' faith, the pretence is a LIE. That is the great end of that teacher's mission work in Utah, and all pleadings and arguments to the contrary are so much wilful falsehood and base deception. Not only is this object openly avowed when those teachers assemble, but they boast of their success in this direction. Here is what one of them declared: "No scholar who had been in attendance for any length of time had ever gone back into "Mormonism." Here is the statement of another: Neverhad a boy or girl from their for reflection to those parents claiming to be Latter-day Saints, who place their little ones under the guidance and influence of sectarian teachers. If they are indifferent as to the expulsion by the prople of the servants faith of their children, they should not of God, who carry to them the fulness they desire their children to grow up in the faith of the Gospel, they should keep them from influences designed and used for the purpose of leading that those Christian (?) teachers feel is for each to know for himself the that they have achieved their purpose, if a "Mormon" boy or girl is led en-tirely away from "Christian influenverted from Mormonism." This is the idea: "Undermine the faith of the mind in reference to the Messiah, ever Mormon people by leading their chil-dren away. No matter if they become nations were found prepared in their infidels: so long as they are not Mormons minds for the fulness of the Gospel, our work is accomplished and the mis- | when it was carried in earlier times to sion for which we are paid our sala- various parts of the earth by the ries is fulfilled." Is not this a sweet and lovely labor for "Christian" teachers and plous educators of the

The impossibility of converting to "Christianity" one who is in full sympathy with the Mormon faith" is again admitted by the "pastors of the evangelical churches and principals of the various schools of this city." What is the reason of this? It is because most of the "Mormon" people are familiar with the errors and fallacies of the evangelical denominations, and know their atter lack of divine authority as well as their inconsistency and entire departure from primitive Christianity. A Latter-day Saint who lives his reigion has a divine witness of its truth, and knows modern Christianity to be human and doomed to certain decay. To attempt to "undermine" his faith is labor in vain. But if one professing that faith can be hoodwinked and de-ceived into placing his children under the care of those China tablished by divine commandation, auteachers who have one story for parents and another in convention, there is some chance to lead their innocent thority, gifts and teachings, but we presume that will be at or about the presume that will be at or about the under the care of those "Christian" made over into sectarians they can at time when there has been an entire re-tarian educators have a perfect right to establish their schools and do all they can to turn the young as well as the old a way from "Mormonism." No one who is properly minded will inter-fere with them. They must not be molested in any way. They have as much right to their views as we to ours. But their intentions and objects should be understood. If they lie and deceive they ought to be exposed. When they pretend one thing and act another their true character should exhibited. We shall do part in presenting them as they are before the public. every consistent individual must concede that, believing as we do that our religion is true and divine, and that theirs is false and human, it is our duty to warn people of our own faith against the deceptive efforts of such persons to lead away our youth, undermine our religion and accomplish through the tender minds of children that which they cannot effect by appeals to the mature and responsible.

Once more we say to the Latter-day Saints, Be not deceived! "Beware of them who come unto you in sheep's clothing, but invariably they are ravening wolves." And remember that God will hold you responsible for the little ones given to your guidance, and that it is vain for you to labor to build up Zion and then turn the rising generation away to be led by the influence of Babylon.

and ripen. Christ, in His ministry of this continent, as related in the Book of Mormon, gave it as a sign that the time had come for the "work of the Father" to begin among all nations that the Lamanites would comme to believe in the statements of that book. That work was to be the preparation of the way for the fulfilment of the promise that although Israel should be scattered they would, in the atter times, again be gathered to the unds of their inheritance.

That sign exists, the work of the relamation of the aborigines through the power of the Gospel having been in rocess for several years. Co-existent with that fact agencies ncreasing the feasibility of the gathering of the Jews to Palestine have Among these are the removal many of the political disabilities from the Jews in the various principalities of Asia Minor, and the decay of the Turkish Empire, the outgrowth of the late Russo-Turkish war; the formation of numerous influential societies in Europe for the sole object of promoting the colonization of Palestine by the Jews; anti-Jewish perseculifferent parts of Europe.

These and other conditions can be onsistently esteemed by Bible believers as events precursory of the literal gathering of the Jews, and the re-establishment of a Hebrew nationality, and to those who accept the Book of Mormon as an authentic and inspired record, as being a corrobora tion of the sign given by the Savior.

bye. The event is, however, we believe, close at hand. There is another occurrence that will precede it, as indicated by this from a revelation given through the Prophet, March 7th, 1831: "And when that day shall come, shall a remnant be scattered among the nations; but they shall be gathered again; but they shall remain until the times of the Gentiles be fulfilled."

The gathering of the Jews will not occur yet, for a little while, but by and

The Gentiles, in fulfilment of th saying, "the last shall be first and the first last," have the fulness of the Gospel preached to them, as revealed in these latter times through the instrumentality of a great prophet. Their times will be fulfilled when they have proved themselves unworthy of it, by utter rejection, and it is withdrawn from them in consequence, and the servants of God will turn to the Jews. The revelation is, "to the Gentile first and then to the Jew." So soon as the times of the Gentiles are fulfilled. the times of the House of Israel will set in, and the remnant will begin to gather. It is evident that the Jews will gather artly believing in the Gospel and the expectation of the true Messiah, and partly in a condition of unbelief. This sustains the point of partial belief: "And it shall come to pass that the Jews which are scattered, also shall begin to believe in Christ, and they shall begin to gather in upon the face of the land."

On the other hand the fact that when the Messiah shall appear and exhibit the marks of the wounds received in the "house of his friends," those who have refused to believe that he was the Christ will mourn because of their unbelief, and their rejection of their Redeemer, shows that many will be found to have been previously impervious to the influence of the Gospel.

No surer righ could exist of the approach of the fulfilment of the times of the Gentiles than the murder and expulsion by the people of the servants retend to be Latter-day Saints. If of the Gospel, and a large or widespread semi-endorsement of such inhuman proceedings. An increase of such outrageous procedure and diabolical sentiment until they reached the children astray. Is there any same universality would consummate that person who will attempt to dispute part of the preparatory work. Let the observing Latter-day Samt mark the months and 24 days.

"Professor Franz Deliasch, of Leipzig, is the author of a pamphlet relating to a singular movement among the Jews of Southern Russia, led by one Joseph Rabinowitz, himself a Jew and a lawyer of some distinction. The theory of this man is that Jesus is the Messiah, to be received as leader and brother; that there have been many additions to the teachings of Christ by the Gentiles who have accepted him, and that a return is necessary to the true gospel as Jesus delivered it. It is an interesting question what will come of this movement, but it is clear that it has already taken a deep hold on the minds of many Jews in Bessarabia."

When the proper time comes thos of the House of Israel whose minds are prepared by the Father will comto an understanding of the fact that the Church of the Messiah has been esjection of the Gospel by the "last" who have, in this dispensation, the "first" offer of the glad tidings of

AN IMPORTANT MATTER. A gentleman of this city has inform family were occasionally seized with-various forms of sore throat. They would be recovered but a short time from one attack, when it would be ucceeded by another.

The aid of one of the leading physithat the cause lay in some defect in the household sewerage system. He examined fit thoroughly, and a few alterations were made, besides some additions to the ventilating apparatus

The desired effect was not produce the throat affections continuing wit nore or less severity as before. At a subsequent visit the physician observed on the outside of the wall; close to a partially open window where a sink was situated in a buttery, an open end of a pipe. An examination disclosed the fact that this pipe nmunicated with a contrivance some distance away to which slops were conveyed from the house. The noxious gases from this refuse came up through the pipe, out of the open-ing, was drawn into the partially open window by the warmer air of the interior and inhaled by the inmates of

The requisite change was made at once and the complaints from which the members of the household had heretofore suffered disappeared.

A similar incident with much more serious results, as described by the News of that city, occurred in Chicago. Upon the 1st of last May a gentleman took possession of a house that he had ourchased upon one of the principal eets of the west side, about a mile west of the river. Soon after moving in several members of the famlly began to feel depressed, and one or two experienced slight attacks of sore throat. Within three months one of the elder members had a light attack of diphtheria. A month or so later a child died of the same disease. The family consisted of the father and mother and their daughter, who is a widow with four children between the ages of 6 and 16; there were, also, two boarders. Within the last few weeks two of the boarders have had the diphtheria, likewise the old father and mother. Three out of the four children have died of it, and their mother was at death's door with the same disease Aroused by these repeated outbreaks, the owner had the sewerage system of the house carefully explored. Apparently everything was in perfect order and securely trapped. At length the catch-basin was reached, when it was

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs, none so trified with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting crhaps from a trifling or unconscious excoure, is often but the beginning of a fatal lekness.
