Elder Rudger Clawson, of the council of the apostles, was the first speaker. He spoke of the favorable conditions He spoke of the favorable conditions and splendid opportunities surrounding young Latter-day Saints, in comparison with that which was the tot of their parents. The pioneers of this common-wealth, both old and young, were of riends, and his wife was with him con-stantly. In sunday, Dec. 5, funeral services were held in an undertaker's chapel, and the classmates of the deceased attended in a body. They showed for their departed fellow student a degree of respect and esteem that greatly surprised and gratti-ned his Utah friends. The casket was buried in a rich and lovely profusion of floral emblems provided by them. Dr. Watt, an instructors of the class. and President German E. Ellsworth of the Northern States mission, were the speakers. The singing was by a quartet of missionaries. The remains were em-blamed and shipped to the home of the deceased for burial. Deceased had greatly endeared himself to the Saints and Elders in Chicago, and was a thorough Latter-day Saint. His class adopted the following resolutions, the signatures being those of all the of-fleers of the class: "Whereas, The Almighty God, in His in-finite wfsdom, has removed from our midst our beloved friend and classmate. joyed. He felt to point with pride to the heir faithful observance of this law

He also called attention to special courses of lectures which were being arranged for by those in charge of the Mutual Improvement work of the stake on subjects especially profitable and fitted for young men and the boys. He also recommended to the patronage of the people the lectures which were to be given during the coming winter un-der the auspices of the Mutual Improvement organizations of this city. Counselor John M. Knight then presented to the congregation the general Church authorities and stake officers, all of whom were sustained by the unanimous vote of those assembled.

Elder Horace S. Ensign then rendered the solo entitled, "The Lord's Prayer." President Young spoke of the reputation we have as a people with respect to our musical attainments, and urged that we support the singing classes now being conducted by Prof. Evan Steph-ons by sending our children to them where they might be instructed in the art of singing and rudiments of music.

art of singing and rudiments of music. In the matter of choosing officers for the various auxiliary organizations. President Young suggested that in all cases the stake boards consult with the bishops of the wards, and that the bish-ops of the wards consult with the stake boards. And in this connection it was suggested that whenever there was a vacancy to fill the stake boards address communication to the presidency of the staks and they would in turn take the matter up with the hishop of the ward and in this manner the proper or-der would be preserved. Elder Andrew Jensen, one of the as-sistant historians of the Church called attention to the system now being in-augurated throughout the Church whereby every record will be catalogued so that they may be referred to at any time desired and information read-ily obtained when necessary. It was, therefore desired that a meeting be therefore, desired that a meeting be held with the bishops of each ward in this stake and all those connected with the keeping of the various records with-in the ward, that these records might be examined and properly labeled, and such instructions given with regard such instructions given with regard to their proper keeping as may be necessary. He desired, therefore, to call meetings in the various wards for this purpose as follows, to convene in the evening at 7 o'clock: Eleventh ward, December 17. Twelfth ward, December 18. Thirteenth ward, December 19. Firsthearth ward, December 19.

Eighteenth ward, December 2 Twentieth ward, December 21. Twenty-first ward, December 22. Twenty-seventh ward, some evening when convenient the week following the above dates. Margaret A. Romney, stake president of Relief societies, pointed out the great and important work required of these organizations. She expressed her aporganizations. She expressed her ap-preciation of the support they receive from the presiding officers of this stake and the hishops of the various wards. She spoke of the diversified labors be-ing performed by the members of these societies, both of a temporal and a spiritual character. In connecteion with the administer-

In connecteion with the administer-ing to the wants of the poor and needy among us the relief societies were doing a great work, and she pointed out that it was not only our duly to attune our hearts to the exercising of charity for the poor but we must open our purses also, and she asked for generous con-tributions from those who are able to

Elder George Teasdale of the quorum of apostles spoke of the dependance of the Church upon its membership, and also stated that the progress we make as a Church depended upon the faith-fuiness of its members.

He pointed out the absolute necessity if living the gospel in our daily lives and thereby fit and prepare ourselves to receive and partake of the blessings it is our privilege to enjoy. of this commonwealth strong and well. ELDER JOHN HENRY SMITH.

Elder John Henry Smith; of the council of apostles, was the conclud-ing speaker. He told of his recent visit to the Transmississippi congress, where he was one of the speakers. There he had testified to the delestates assembled from various states and from five South American repub-lics, that the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints was the only Church to originate upon American soil, and that its founder, under God, was a son of the soil Elder Smith read from the Book of Mormon the declaration that kings should not rule upon this land, and in commenting upon that prediction, he recited the facts of Dom Pedro being forced to leave Brazil, and of the tragic fate of Maxmillian when France sought to establish a monarchy in North America. The latter event raised to the head of the Mexican republic that stalwart of pure Indian blood, Diaz under whose beneficient administration liberty reigns does in the sister republic whi the blessed and inspired Constitution as its guiding star. Elder Smith said that he told the attendants at the Transmississippi congress that the world would yet be ssed by Mormonism.

In conclusion, the speaker declared that no young man or woman need blush for the name or faith of their Mormon parents. Mormonism teaches nothing that is not honest, pure, virtuous and chaste, and it inculcates a love of liberty and patriotism. He testified that Joseph Smith was sent of Göd, and that although his work and his followers were more or less misunderstood and misjudged, the day will yet come when they will receive the kindly consideration that should theirs.

The choir and congregation, sang, "Praise to the man who communed with Jehovah," and President John R, Winder pronounced the benediction.
