"LUZON LIFE"
We have received numbers 1 and 2 of Luzon Life, a weekly journal devoted to American interests in the Philippines. Don C. W. Mueser is editor and proprietor. It is an independent weekly journal, progressive and aggressive, and devoted to the interests of the islands and of Manila in particular. It presents a number of illustrations in a variety of up to the times, and contains a splendid amount of reading matter, local, political, humorous and patriotic. We are pleased to see that Salt Lake finds a place for its exercise in the Orient. Don is a Utah boy born and bred, and we hope he will achieve success in this new venture. His grit and purpose are exemplified in the closing sentence of the leading editorial in the first number of his new paper. He says: "If he finds that conditions in Manila will not admit of his publishing an American sheet according to American principles of light and freedom, he will retire from the field and saw wood until such time as he may do so." Any of our readers who desire to obtain Luzon Life may address the editor at P. O. Box 615, Manila, P. I.

THE OFFICIAL CENSUS.
According to the Census Bulletin just sent out from Washington, the total population of the United States and Territories, on the 1st June, 1900, was 76,303,387. The count includes Alaska, Hawaii, Indian Territory and Indian reservations, but not the islands acquired from Spain. There are several points of interest in the figures reported. The most populous states are New York, with 2,238,861; Pennsylvania, with 5,302,115; Illinois with 4,213,550; Ohio, with 4,137,945; Missouri with 3,106,665, and Texas with 1,847,710. The population of these six states is 25,706,568. Every State but Nevada had 45,561 people then, and 42,355 now, and is the only state in which an actual decrease is recorded. Nevada has not much the advantage of Nevada, for the increase was only half of one per cent, from 1,958,919 to 1,968,665. The largest increase is noted in Oklahoma, where the percentage is 40.7, since 1900. The second largest is found in Indian Territory, with a little over 30 per cent in the same period. The population of our neighbor state Idaho has increased 27 per cent, and North Dakota 27.1 per cent. All other states and territories fall below fifty per cent increase. The most densely settled region of the Union outside of the District of Columbia, is Rhode Island, with 407 inhabitants to the square mile. Next comes Massachusetts, with 348; New Jersey, with 250; Connecticut, with 157; New York, with 152.5; Pennsylvania, with 149.1; Maryland, with 102.5; and Ohio, with 102. Utah has only 34 to the square mile. Alaska has much room to spare, for there is only one-tenth of a person to each square mile. Nevada, Wyoming, Arizona, New Mexico, Montana and Idaho. In all these, there is just about one person to each square mile. The state of Texas has shown quite a vigorous growth. Since 1890 it has risen to the position of sixth, in the order of population. New York and Pennsylvania were first and second then, as they are now. Illinois, which is now third, was then fourth. Ohio has dropped from third to fourth place. Missouri has advanced from thirteenth to fifth. Virginia was fourth in 1890, and is now seventeenth. Tennessee was fifth, and is now fourth. Massachusetts was sixth and has lost but little ground, being seventh. Utah, which in 1890, ranked as the thirty-fifth in order of population, with 11,500 inhabitants, now ranks as the forty-third, with 275,749 inhabitants.

friend maker in the world is commerce. The distinguished editor appears to have caught some of the alarm of the advocates of a European Zollverein. The alarm in Europe is amusing; in America it is absurd. Gen. Fred Grant does not think much of Aguinaldo. At a reception tendered him the other night he said: "Aguinaldo was not as much of a capture in the Philippines as he seems to have been here. To tell the truth, he had lost about all his influence. We do not treat him as if we considered him of some importance. We cannot kill him, of course, but we want to make him feel that he stands on the same footing with any other Filipino. If we should fine him $10 and send him to jail for thirty days, and set him to breaking rock, it would be better for him and better for ourselves. If, when he comes over here, we treat him with contempt, he will be treated with contempt by the natives when he goes home; but if over there they get the idea we have a high idea of Aguinaldo's importance, when he gets back he will have a following which may make us trouble." The statement is a little contradictory. A man whose name has filled two hemispheres for a number of years is not altogether contemptible, and a ten dollar fine and thirty days in jail are scarcely adequate punishment for the crimes he is alleged to have committed.

FLAG DAY.

Tomorrow, June 14th, will be "Flag Day" in the United States. In all the public schools exercises are to be conducted, in celebration of the day on which the flag which Congress enacted, "That the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the Union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a star on a canton." The number of stars on the flag has been increased, one star being added after the admission of each new state, but the thirteen horizontal stripes, alternately red and white, remain in their original number as a memorial to the original thirteen colonies.

COLD SUMMER WEATHER.

It is not uncommon these days to hear the remark made that this is the coldest June most people can remember. It seems as if summer weather had been indefinitely postponed. No one need fear, however, that the present North Polar blasts signify that we are gradually approaching another glacial period. The waves of heat and cold seem to follow one another in succession in rhythmic movements, the cycles of time have their seasons, apparently, as the years have theirs.

THE "AMERICAN FERL."

Hence Russia turns to the great power in the new world, and sets to find in America an ally still to be of use to her, but shall not in turn be made the master of the Bear by any combination, offensive or defensive. Up to the time when Spain was taught, a much-needed lesson, that the United States was regarded at best as a second rate power that had the ability to do great things, but not the time to spare from its money making to do them. This state of affairs was just what Russia wanted. A nation that had abundant resources, but no military ambition, filled all the requirements of an ally to the Russian mind.

BUT THE RAIN DID COME. The rain which has been threatening for many days has come down at last and well moistened the parched ground. The weather clerk must have slipped a cog in his meteorological machinery when he announced on Wednesday "No rain tonight." However, he is usually up to his work, and we are thankful for the showers so will not find fault. There is usually a drawback to most of earth's benefits, and just now when so much lucern has been cut and is lying in the fields, some damage will ensue to the first hay crop, with great loss to farmers who did not take the weather's warning and either burn or stack their hay. Other crops, however, will be greatly benefited by the downpour. When this storm has passed by we may expect the sun to pour forth its rays in a manner suitable to the season. Vegetation of all kinds will receive an impetus that will be exhibited in rapid growth, and grain and fruits and flowers will show themselves in rich abundance. The damage to the lucern crop will be much more than compensated by the increase that will come to other products, to say nothing of the clarifying of the atmosphere which will doubtless be conducive to general health. We are thankful for the refreshing rain and can readily forgive the weather wagger for his one little slip on Wednesday.

CUBA WILL BE FREE.

The Cuban convention came to its senses after perceiving the firm stand of the administration, concerning the terms on which the island might secure its political independence. It is very gratifying to note the rapidity with which the movement for the freedom of Cuba has marched forward toward the objective point. The shackles have been smitten from the limbs of the enslaved "Gem of the Antilles." Spanish oppression is now but a dreadful thing of the past. The hand of the liberator has held the freed islanders gently in control, and will still guide, protect and wisely restrain them until full liberty can be safely enjoyed, with no likelihood of foreign subjugation or internal division of a fatal character. The policy of the United States in reference to the island will gain the support of the vast majority of the people from all groups. Objections will be heard from no quarter, for everything that is done by officials belonging to a dominant party is sure to be criticized by their political opponents, and there are rash people who take umbrage when their hasty notions and impracticable theories are not carried into effect at once, regardless of conditions and circumstances that call for prudent delay. Cuba is on the high road to complete independence, and the liberty loving people of this great nation may consistently rejoice over the influence exerted in the cause of human freedom by this mighty republic. While the situation as in Porto Rico and the Philippines forms a different problem to that now near solution in Cuba, yet the spirit in which our relations with the latter have been governed, indicates the purpose of the United States to extend the blessings of liberty wherever our flag shall float, as fast as the people living under it shall show themselves fit for the duties and responsibilities of self-government. That banner is and must be the emblem of freedom throughout the world.

TRANSFORMATION OF HAVANA.

American life in Cuba has been notably benefited from a sanitary point of view, Havana having been transformed from a notorious pest hole into one of the healthiest cities in the civilized world. This is made evident by the report of the chief sanitary officer of that city for the month of April. He shows that the death rate for that month was 26.6 per thousand per annum, being the smallest death-rate for April with the exception of 1900, that has occurred since 1889. The increase over the preceding month, it is explained, was due to deaths among children under five years of age, which were caused principally by diarrhoeal disorders. This death rate compares very favorably with that of many other large cities. The report shows that Havre, France, with a population of 119,479, had for the week ending March 16, 67 deaths, which would give a death-rate of 29.02; Munich, with a population of 298,445, had for the week ending March 16, 286 deaths, death-rate, 27.29; Dublin, with a population of 246,153, for the week ending March 23, had 243 deaths, death-rate, 26.51; Kingston, Jamaica, with a population of 46,524, for the month ending March 31, 1901, had 159 deaths, death-rate, 47.95. The favorable conditions in Havana have been accomplished by means of persistent and intelligently directed efforts. Not only have streets been thoroughly cleaned up, but "mosquito brigades" have been organized, and set to work cleaning out ditches and streams where stagnant water is found, and sprinkling coal oil in such places. "A little oil," the report says, "is placed in every receptacle containing standing water and about an ounce into every closet and sink in the houses having water connections. Nearly every house in Havana has a cesspool and these cesspools are ideal breeding places for mosquitoes. The oil in this way runs into the cesspools and kills the larvae. I have recently examined several of the main sewers that empty into
