be married this evening at 8:30 at the home of the bride. There will be present only relatives and a few close friends. Rev. Dr. Short will perform the ceremony. The bride will be attended by her sister, Miss Luiu Weaver, while H. C. Weaver, brother of the bride, will act as best man.

One of the most elaborate weddings of the June was that of Miss Belva Fisher and John L. Reynolds, which took place last night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fisher, the ceremony having been performed during the day in the temble, by President John R. Winder. The grounds and porches were illuminated with colored lanterns, and the rooms decorated with a profusion of roses, carnations and other flowers in various hues, the dlining room being in white roses and sweet peas, and the dining room in red with roses and carnations.

Miss Paul was in a white silk gown with lace trimmings, and Miss Reynolds in blue silk, also trimmed in lace. Assisting in receiving and entertaining were, Mrs. J. H., Salmon, and Mrs. W. F. Smith, together with Mrs. Ella Squires and the Misses Rosalie and Pauline Reynolds. Many beautiful presents were received.

NO NEED TO BEG IF OUT OF WORK

City Has Provided Means to Take Care of Deserving Men And Women.

GOOD FOOD AND LODGING

"Lodgers" Are in No Sense Prisoners And Are Free to Go and Come At Their Pleasure,

There is no need for any man, woman or child in hard circumstances to beg on the streets of this city. Not every person knows this, and day after day unfortunates are brought to the police station on the charge of vagrancy. Some are professional beggars, but many are deserving of charity. The latter oftimes suffer for the wrongdoings of the former.

Provision has been made by the police department to render assistance to those who are hungry and need shelter. At police headquarters there is what is called a "lodgers' list." Any person without funds with which to purchase food and a bed may get both free of charge at police headquarters. There is a place in the basement of the old city hall which has been especially fitted up for lodging quarters for the destitute. The cots are clean and free from disease as the place is thoroughly fumigated every day or two. Women and children are cared for in the girls' ward of the jail, as in the case of Mrs. Mamie Grow, who has been cared for at the jail with her little four-year-old boy suffering from scarlet fever. need shelter. At police headquarters GIVEN EVERY CONSIDERATION.

Those who apply for food and lodg-

Those who apply for food and lodgings at police headquarters are in no sense prisoners. They are free to come and go when they please and they are given every consideration possible under the circumstances.

Of course, they are not supplied with feather beds and spotless linen, nor are they given a menu like that served at a first class hotel, but they are given clean beds and good, wholesome food. No hungry man need turn up his nose at a table set with roast beef, soup, beans, bread, brown gravy, potatoes and coffee. That is the kind of food provided at the city jail, and any person without funds may have a bed and food for the asking. They are always there and freeing. They are always there and free-ly given. The applicant is registered in the lodgers' book and when desir-ing to leave, may do so without inter-

This system is not for the purpose of encouraging lazy men to seek bed and board without labor, but is for those who have met with misfortune and need assistance. Jailer Ripley says that the station cares for an average of seven persons every night. If a person is ill and has no means with which to employ medical services, they are furnished by the city, so there is no excuse for any one to beg on the streets of Salt Lake City.

CROOKS' PICTURES HERE.

A number of photographs of Illinois crooks have been received by Inspector Lowe of the Salt Lake branch of the secret service department. The crooks were recently released from the Illinois state prison and it was believed that they came to Salt Lake and worked the money order graft on a number of mer-chants here. Mr. Lowe exhibited the pictures to several of the merchants who were victimized, but they were unable to identify any of them. Mr. Lowe is of the opinion that the crooks have left the city.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

One of the prettiest wedding recep tions of the year was that of Miss Retta Pyper and Harry Shepherd last night, following their marriage, which was solemnized in the temple during the day. The event took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George D. Pyper, which was beautifully decorated with roses and green ly, the parlors in pink, the library in red, and the dining room in pink and green. The bridal party stood in the front parlor surrounded by banks of roses and potted palms, the mantel being a wall of roses, and bowls and jardiniers tilled with them being all about. In the archway between the two parlors hung a beautiful jardiniere twine I with ivy and filled with roses, and the chandelier was smothered in the green vines studded with roses. In the library, dark red roses were everywhere, the candelier was shaded in red, and red roses adorned the table where punch was served. The dining room was a picture with its table done in pick roses with pink shaded candelabra, and pink streamers extending from the chandelier to the corner and caught with roses. The mantel and sideboard were banked with roses and the chandelier twined with them and the green iyy. last night, following their delier to the corner and caught with roses. Whitney, Mrs. John Owen, Mrs. L. Rynders, Mrs. H. G. Whitney, the Misses Rehan Spencer, Sybella Claytop, Lena Moore, Nan Clawson, Marian Whitney, Glen Knowlton and Alice Young. A pleasant surprise was the receipt, during the day, of a cablegram of congratulations from Switzerland, signed by a group of fellow missionaries of Harry Shepherd, relatives of him and his bride. They were: Nat Shepherd, Horace and Frank Whitney, Allam Spencer, Seymour Wells, and John N. Clawson. In a Whitney, Allan Spencer, Seymour Wells, and John N. Clawson. In a room up stairs the wedding presents were displayed, tables, mantel and evewere displayed, tables, mainer and every available spot being filled with the beautiful gifts. An orchestra, stationed on the stair landing, furnished delightful music during the evening. Nearly a hundred guests were present. Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd will be at home after July 15 at 124 Fourth avenue.

Another wedding of yesterday was that of Miss Ethel Druce and Mr. Will Leaver, the ceremony being performed in the evening, with Bishop O. F. Whitney officiating, and an informal recep-tion following. The rooms were trans-formed into bowers of roses, different colors being used in the various rooms. colors being used in the various rooms.
