

PORTLAND CO. ASKS BIG DAMAGES.

Sues Gov. Peabody, Gen. Bell and Others Who Assisted in Closing Down the Mine.

BURNS WILL ASSIST MINERS.

Owner of Mine Will Defray Expenses Of Suits Brought in Federal Courts Against Peabody.

Denver, June 17.—Papers in the $100,000 damage suit of the Portland Gold Mining company against Gov. James H. Peabody, Adm.-Gen. Sherman M. Bell, C. C. Hamlin, secretary of the Mine Owners' association, and others connected with that body, as well as Sheriff Edward Bell of Teller county and his deputies who assisted in the closing down of the Portland mine, were served on Gov. Peabody today.

James F. Burns, president of the Portland company, refuses to discuss his plans for publication, but it is reported he has declared to friends his purpose to defray all expenses of suits that may be begun in the federal court against Gov. Peabody and others by Portland miners who were deported from Cripple Creek, former Gov. Charles S. Thomas, Mr. Burns' counsel, was busy engaged with Mr. Burns today in drawing complaints in the Portland company's suit, but he denied all knowledge of suits to be brought by deported miners.

Gov. Peabody this afternoon received notice that on June 22 application will be made to United States Circuit Judge Ames Thayer in St. Louis for an injunction to restrain the governor, the military and all other persons from interfering with the operation of the Portland mine.

Those cited to appear before the federal court at St. Louis are Gov. James H. Peabody, Adm.-Gen. Sherman M. Bell, Sheriff Edward Bell of Teller county and the following officers and members of the Cripple Creek district Mine Owners' association: C. C. Hamlin, Judge Colburn, Charles Walden, F. J. Campbell, A. E. Carlton, L. E. Hill and A. T. Holman.

The petition for the injunction has been presented to the federal court by James Burns, owner of the Portland mine, through his attorneys, Thomas, Bryant & Lee, and Gunnell & Hamlin.

According to the complaint the number of persons employed in the mine was over 200 and these were taken into custody by the authorities and certain ones of them picked out and placed in the bullpen to be deported to the state of Kansas and New Mexico.

The charge is made that the governor gave tacit consent to this measure when he did not countermand any order given and carried into effect by Gen. Bell and outside the authority of the governor to carry into effect.

The jurisdiction of the United States court is asked on the grounds that the complainant is a citizen of the state of Iowa and that he has been deprived of the enjoyment of his property without due process of law and in violation of the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth and fourteenth amendments to the constitution of the United States.

The complaint further alleges that the complainant's property is decreasing in value from lying idle and asks damages against the defendants in the sum of $100,000.

C. C. Hamlin, who is mentioned as one of the defendants, is the firm of Gunnell & Hamlin.

BURNS' ACTION DISAPPROVED.

Colorado Springs, June 18.—Irving Howbert, vice president, Frank G. Peck, secretary-treasurer, and Thomas F. Burns, constituting a majority of the directors of the Portland Gold Mining company, have given out a statement disapproving of President Burns' action in bringing suit for damages against Gov. Peabody for the closing down of the Portland property by the militia. They say he acted without the authority of the board of directors. Speaking for themselves and H. C. Shannon of New York, a fourth director, they went on record as against President Burns' attitude in the Cripple Creek labor troubles.

Justice E. C. Hamburger Dead.

Chicago, June 18.—Justice E. C. Hamburger, for years a magistrate on the north side, died early today of heart disease. Justice Hamburger was a naval officer in the war of the rebellion. He served on the ship "Constitution" from 1856 to the close of the war, being retired as lieutenant.

THE JAPANESE FLAG.

Japan May Make No Protest Against Its Violation.

Tokio, June 18, 3 p.m.—The Japanese government may decide not to make any formal protest through France against the alleged violation of the Japanese flag at the battle of Toluca on the ground of its uselessness. It is believed that Russia will deny whatever the facts may be, creating a discussion of time. Heretofore one disadvantage of the Japanese plan to restrict military observers and press correspondents, for the reason that no matter how flagrant the violations they may charge of the law of nations, they are unable to substantiate them without the testimony of neutral witnesses. The Japanese people are intensely incensed at the Toluca incident, and the press bitterly denounces the Russian army commanders. While the Japanese government desires to wage war in the most humane way, it is improbable it can restrain its men from violations in revenge for atrocities perpetrated by the enemy.

DOCTORS ENDORSE HERPICIDE.

Because Its Formula Is Submitted to Them.

Alexander McMillan, M. D., a prominent physician of Lansing, Michigan, writes: "On three cases I have tested Herpicide for dandruff and the result has been all that could be desired."

Herpicide is made upon an entirely new principle, that is, that dandruff and falling hair are caused from a microbe that infests the hair bulb, and by destroying the microbe one's hair is bound to grow luxuriantly. Herpicide is the only hair remedy, that claims to, and really does, destroy the dandruff germ.

THE TEMPLE OF THE TOOTH.
Reproduced From the Deseret News World's Fair Portfolio.

Delada Maligwa is the native name for the temple after which the quaint building of Ceylon is patterned. It stands in a tea garden where solemn faced Singalese men in skirts, with long hair curled at the back of the head and held in place by large tortoise shell combs, move among the tables, making the surroundings as typical as the building. The interior carries out the character of the structure; it is finished in ivory white. The illumination is from brass lamps, fashioned after the lotus flower, sacred to Buddha, such as are used in the temples of Ceylon. On the inner walls are mural decorations by native artists, depicting the traditions of Buddha's various lives. Buddhist color, yellow, rivals the royal color, white, in the drapery. The furniture is of carved ebony and satin wood. Everywhere are the reminders that Ceylon is at the world's fair to impress the quality of her teas. The tea cups are decorated with pictures of Adam's Peak, the footstool, according to native tradition, of the first man. All day the building of Ceylon is in favor with visitors to the Place of Nations, but late in the afternoon it is especially a center of interest to ladies who flock there for the cup that cheers. The 4 o'clock tea at "The Temple of the Tooth" is one of the fashions of the world's fair. A fine collection of Ceylon gems is shown. There are samples of gold and silver work.

A PIECE OF FILIPINO ARCHITECTURE.
Reproduced From the Deseret News World's Fair Portfolio.

Not only is the reservation of the Philippines an exposition in itself as to exhibits, but it presents great variety in architecture. There are houses in trees and habitations over water. There are bamboo bungalows and palm thatched cottages. There is also the physical reminiscence of the Spanish sovereignty in buildings such as the one shown by the picture. The walls in this case are of staff but they bear close resemblance to the solid and enduring masonry typical of all countries where the Spanish architect has left his impression on the building trades. The roof is of red tiles, so popular to the Latin taste. Projection of the upper story, odd enough in American eyes, tells of a country where even a few inches of shade at the hour of the siesta is a blessing. The windows and the balconies are strongly characteristic of old Manila. They show at a glance that the second floor is the most desirable. The building is one of a dozen of like dimensions, wherein are installed the seventy thousand exhibits of the islands. It is well adapted for exhibit purposes, as the number and liberal dimensions of the windows indicate. The Spaniard never gets away from the theory that his house is his castle. The plan of the lower story suggests possibilities of defense. This exhibit building faces upon the reproduced Plaza of Manila. It reproduces a public building on the original plaza.

NEWS NOTES OF THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The official name of the building used by the board of lady managers at the world's fair is the House of the Board of Lady Managers.

The De La Salle Institute will send a basketball team to compete in the inter-collegiate championships at the world's fair. The De La Salle team is one of the fastest college boy organizations in the east.

The Austrian building is unique among the foreign buildings at the world's fair in that it is installed the art exhibit of that country.

California demonstrates both the wet and dry methods of gold mining and stamping in the mining gulch at the world's fair. In this exhibit is the first stamping machine ever used in gold mining.

At the American Amateur Athletic Senior Championship games held recently at the world's fair the winners received their medals from Miss Alice Roosevelt.

An ear of corn, ten rows of which are white and ten rows red, exactly divided lengthwise of the cob, is a cereal freak in the Missouri exhibit in the Palace of Agriculture at the world's fair.

A model of a native-worked plumbago graphite mine is exhibited in the Ceylon space in the Mines and Metallurgy palace at the world's fair. Ceylon plumbago is world-famous because of its pure, flaky character, and it is at present the island's only mineral of commercial importance.

One of the exhibits in the Chinese section of the Liberal Arts Palace at the world's fair is a collection of plumage of the birds of China. A number of cases are filled with the tail feathers, wings and crests of these birds, making a realistic representation of bird life in China. Feathers from the eagle, vulture, buzzard and the golden pheasant are among those shown.

A plastic relief map of San Bernardino County is exhibited in the California display in the Palace of Horticulture at the world's fair. Small trees indicate where the orchards are planted, and in each tree is an incandescent electric light illuminating the picture. The map shows also how the orchards are irrigated.

A press room for foreign journalists is provided in the German National Pavilion at the world's fair. It is furnished in dull-finish oak.

Missouri's apple exhibit in the Palace of Agriculture at the world's fair covers 500 plates, representing 15 varieties, collected from 15 countries.

Cuba's exhibit in the Palace of Liberal Arts at the world's fair consists of photographs, the products of printing, musical instruments, chemicals, models, etc., in great variety.

Visitors at the world's fair this summer will miss the time-honored signs on the lawns to "Keep off the Grass." For once those dreaded signs will be lacking and the sightseer may roam where he will on the green lawns.

Fine displays of modern pyrotechnics are shown in both British and American sections of the Liberal Arts Palace at the world's fair. All forms of rocket, firework, fireworks for commercial use and other pieces for both display and useful purposes are shown by the largest manufacturers of fire works in the world.

The American Outing Expedition, an organization composed of newspaper men and open-air enthusiasts, with headquarters in New York city, is planning to have a unique outing this summer and at the same time visit the world's fair. The party will follow the trails and the methods of traveling that were in vogue when St. Louis was a blank on the map and will camp along the route in tents. Pack animals and prairie "schooners" will take the place of trains.

English history, as shown by the seals, coins, and medals, that have been used during hundreds of years, is told in a unique exhibit in the British section of the Palace of Liberal Arts at the world's fair. Models of the great seals in use by every ruler, from King Offa of the Mercians, who ruled in 790 A. D., down to the modern monarchs, are shown. Pieces of nearly every gold, silver and copper coin in present use in England and her dependencies are shown and many of the coronation medals, military and naval medals and those given for life-saving are exhibited.

AMERICA LEADS THE WORLD.

Copper has become a great necessity of modern life in the development of mechanics. In the matter of supply the United States leads the world. The total production of copper last year was 1,110,000,000 pounds, of which 714,000,000 pounds were mined in this country. This represents an increased output of about four-fold since 1881. Spain and Portugal come next in line as copper producers, but they are far behind, their total being hardly more than one-eighth of that of this country. Mexico ranks third, but her yield also is small as compared with that of the United States. With the development of electrical science and the growth of applied electricity, a demand for copper arose which only the most tremendous energy has been able to meet. American skill and enterprise rose to meet the demand and the copper output has increased by leaps and bounds and is still forging ahead. The copper mines in Mexico are being worked by American capital and labor, but the output is, of course, credited to the country that produces it.—Portland Oregonian.

LINCOLN AND THE MULES.

Senator Depew of New York, who has carried his prestige as a raconteur into the upper house of Congress, relates a hitherto untold story about President Lincoln. It is apropos of the demand for an immediate strengthening of the United States navy.

"I remember," said the millionaire New Yorker on the floor of the senate, "being in the executive mansion at one time and in Mr. Lincoln's office when a telegram was handed to him which gave the information that a brigadier-general, through foolishness, or of an extreme sort, had been captured down in Virginia. In his command was a long train of pack-wagons and mules. Mr. Lincoln read the dispatch. Then he took up his pen and said:

"With that pen I can make a brigadier-general in a minute, but I cannot replace those mules!"—Harpers Weekly.

VALUABLES TAKEN FROM SLOCUM DEAD

Aggregate Nearly $200,000, One Very Valuable Package Not Being Claimed.

VAN SCHAICK'S STATEMENT.

Beached Steamer as Soon as He Could—Wrecking Company Placed In Charge of It.

New York, June 18.—Of the money, jewelry and other valuables taken from the dead in the Slocum disaster, aggregating nearly $200,000, much has been claimed from the coroner by relatives. There is one package, however, for which no claim has yet been established. It was found on the body of a woman at first supposed to be that of Eva Kruger, but has not yet been identified.

The property consists of eight bank books, showing deposits of nearly $25,000 in eight of the best known savings institutions of New York; two or three life insurance policies amounting in all to about $10,000 or $15,000, deeds to property in New York and elsewhere and a considerable amount in bank notes.

The deeds, insurance policies and the bank books are all in the name of a person who, it would seem, is quite different from Eva Kruger, but the coroner is keeping the name secret for the present and is considerably puzzled because the woman has not been identified by relatives.

As a result of the conflict over the disposal of the wreck, the hull has been taken in charge by the district attorney's office in order to collect all the evidence obtainable. Announcement was made that the authorities would brook no interference in the work.

A wrecking company has been given charge of the hull and probably will be directed to tow it from the present resting place to a point on South Brother Island, where it will be beached at high tide.

This will free bodies which some of the divers assert are imprisoned under one of the paddle boxes of the side wheeler. It also will enable the department to make a thorough investigation of the machinery and the hull and to determine definitely if there are any more bodies in the hold. The vessel in its new position will be vesal and dry at low tide.

Capt. Van Schaick, who is lying at Lebanon hospital with a broken foot and severe burns about the head, has given out an interview replying to the criticisms of his conduct, it having been alleged that he ran the boat two miles past at least eight places where it could have been beached after the fire was discovered. He is quoted as follows:

"I was in my cabin when someone yelled, 'Fire!' through the tube. I ran out, saw the flames sweeping over the boat, ran back, waited five seconds and then gave the order to run ahead to North Brother Island beach, the boat sideways, believing this was our only chance.

"The critics don't know the territory. We were more than 2,000 feet from the buoys of the Sunken Meadows and about 2,000 feet from North Brother Island, and were going at 15 miles an hour.

"I went short distance ahead and to the westward was a large tug. I had no choice but to keep on for the island. If I had stopped and turned round and gone back to the Sunken Meadows the chances were that the boat would have been burned to the water's edge and the passengers with it before we reached the Meadows. Even if it had not have been burned, the boat striking the Meadows would have backed off again, and everybody on board when they jumped off would have been

ABDUL AZIZ, SULTAN OF MOROCCO.

Muley Abdul Aziz, sultan of Morocco, has the reputation of being a most progressive monarch despite the fact that his connection with the brigands who abducted Ion Penderis and his stepson appears to be established. Abdul looks like a man of thirty-five, though in reality he is not yet twenty-five. He is devoted to bicycle riding and amateur photography. His admirers declare that he is a man of great force of character, but Europeans who have visited his country say that whatever of good may have been done in Abdul's name really emanated in the brain of Kaid MacLean, a Scotchman, who was Abdul's father's chief adviser, and since the latter's death has held the same position in the son's court.

THE TROUBLE IN LENDING MONEY.

Work Involved in the Transaction.

When a man or woman invests money in interest-bearing securities, there is always more or less work attached to the transaction. The securities must be thoroughly investigated, notifications must be sent out when interest is due, there must be no flaw in the drawing up of the papers, and there are a hundred other details that must be carefully attended to. McGurkin & Co., the investment bankers, save the party with money to invest any trouble or annoyance to which they would otherwise be put in an attempt to make their own investment. They guarantee the investor six per cent on every dollar he may place with them, and guarantee absolute safety in the securities handled. There would be no use in saving money, no use in investing money unless you could rest secure in the knowledge that your dollars were in safe keeping. McGurkin & Co. allow you to hold your own securities, but they do not allow a client to hold any security that is not absolutely gilt edged. Your own lawyer or business adviser may examine all papers in the transaction, and every dealing they have with you is treated in the strictest confidence. Six per cent money is the kind that counts in the long run. The opportunity to be rich is within the reach of everyone.

Previous statements have been to the effect that the fire was discovered before the boat passed the Sunken Meadows.

A CIRCUS ACCIDENT.

Reserved Seat Section Suddenly Gave Way.

Chicago, June 18.—Nearly 100 people have sunk in a struggling, yelling mass through splintered boards in a collapse of a reserved section of seats during the performance of a circus here. It is known that one man, six women and two children were seriously injured, and it is supposed that scores more were hurt whose names were not reported to the police. During the excitement the panic among the 2,000 people in the tent was intensified by the plunging of two horses that broke from the ring in which they were performing and ran into the crowd. During the excitement the treasurer disappeared with over $600 of the show's money.

It is supposed the accident was due to the removal of the back props outside the tent by boys. The side props were found to have broken off and some of them were rotten.
