

FRAGMENTS.

EDITOR F. J. CANNON came down from Ogden this morning.

JUDGE F. R. CLAYTON, of Beaver, came up on this morning's train.

REMEMBER the conference of the Y. M. M. I. A. to be held in the Assembly Hall to-night, commencing at 7 o'clock. All are invited.

MRS. T. V. CLARK, territorial agent for the Buddington Dress cutting machine, has an office at 118 south First West Street, where she would be pleased to have agents call.

THE Opera House will be opened to-night for the first time (for dramatic purposes) in two years. J. S. Lindsay and a select company appear in "Monte Cristo," and the prices of admission range from 75 cents down.

THE large addition to the premises of Clark, Eldredge & Co., is now complete and makes the establishment about as large as formerly. The extensive addition has been required by the constantly increasing demands of business. They now have enough elbow room.

HENRY DINWOODEY, the pioneer dealer in furniture and house furnishings, has a large advertisement in today's News, inviting the public to call and inspect his immense stock of furniture, carpets, wall paper, etc., which is complete and varied. Call and see for yourself.

IF the Presidents of Stakes and Bishops of the various wards who are attending conference will call at the Presiding Bishop's they can obtain an official list of the Presidents of Stakes and Counselors and Bishops of wards, printed on cards in a convenient shape to hang up for future reference.

ON the 4th inst. a black horse with white strip in face and white feet was taken from the City Livestock Stable, by a young man of medium size, dressed in a dark suit and wearing a red vest. The horse had on a red leather saddle and was ridden by a man. A reward is offered for the return of the animal. See advertisement.

THE PATENT is the title of a monthly journal just issued in this city. The title is the peculiarity, being, as it states, a combination and abridgment of "Atlantic" and "Pacific." It states that it will be "offensively defensive" at times, in which respect it will not greatly depart from the first number. The price is $1.50 per annum.

PRESIDENT ANGELO M. CANNON, of Salt Lake Stake, has arranged to provide, at the homes of the Saints in this city, hospitable entertainment for those visitors from the country unable to make arrangements for their own comfort. A committee, of which Brother C. R. Savage is chairman, has this matter in charge, and are managing it faithfully.

John C. Graham Arrested. A telephone message from Provo this morning announced the arrest there of John C. Graham, editor of the Inquirer, on the charge of unlawful cohabitation.

First District Court. To-day, in the case of the People vs. James Fullmer, who was being tried before Judge Henderson, at Provo, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. The charge was one of larceny. The case of the People vs. Wilbur and Vandugard, charged with larceny, was on trial to-day. Several applications for citizenship were heard and disposed of.

Probate Court. Proceedings in the Salt Lake County Probate Court yesterday: In the matter of the estate of Carl Rosgaard, deceased; order admitting will to probate.

Estate of Thomas Taysam, deceased; order made appointing George A. Alder, Jesse W. Fox, Jr., and David W. James appraisers. Estate of John McGuire, deceased; order confirming sale of real estate. Estate of Arthur Forcher, deceased; order appointing for hearing of petition of Robert Forcher, asking that he be appointed administrator of said estate. The marriage certificate of James Newton and Maggie Grant, Cornelius Dilcock and Margie Riley, Wm. Staley and Rachel Coon were filed in the office of the probate clerk.

A Severe Accident. Mr. John Sanderson, formerly of Soda Springs, met with a severe accident last Friday evening on the road between this place and Provo. He fell from his horse and was thrown to the ground. He was taken to the hospital and is now recovering. The accident was caused by a sudden turn in the road. The horse was killed.

Theatre. A fair sized audience was at the Theatre last evening, to witness the play of "Storm Beaten," by the Home Dramatic Club. The piece is the strongest and best of the series being given by the Club, and keeps the audience closely interested from the opening to the close. The acting last evening displayed even more than the usual care given by the organization to all of its productions. "Priscilla Seifton" and "Kate Christenson," in the hands of Edith Clawson and Blanche Cummings, were given with such truthfulness to nature that they were carried to the sympathies of the audience to a marked degree. Mr. Wells gave additional evidence of his power and versatility, and his "Christian Christenson" of last evening has been the best thing in that line that he has done—and that is saying a great deal. Mr. Young, Mr. Spencer, Mr. Evans and Mr. Taylor played their parts in a manner that would have been praiseworthy in professional actors. The scenery, too, of the piece, was magnificent. There was one thing, however, in which there might be an improvement in the stage effects, and that is, the lowering of the curtains at the close of the fourth and fifth acts; this was too hurriedly done. The play will be presented again on Friday evening. The renowned sensational drama, "The Silver King," will be given this evening.

THE "CONTRIBUTOR."

The Eighth Volume Complete.

The eighth volume of the Contributor, just completed, is one of the best representative volumes of home literature ever issued from the "Mormon" press. Its contents are almost entirely original and cover a range of subjects of unusual variety and interest. Among them are the following:

The historical series—The Rise and Fall of Nauvoo, has amassed an amount of new matter relating to the history of the famous city which at the time of its existence was the center of the interest of the student of Church history. The series would make an octavo volume of nearly 250 pages and is illustrated with twelve full page engravings, embracing over twenty scenes and the portraits of President John Taylor, Sydney Hedges and Lucy Smith. "The Eastern Question"—articles by J. M. Tanner, has proved of great interest and value, containing an account of the political interests involved in the subject and well written descriptions of peoples and places of the East.

Biblical Cosmogony by T. W. Brookbank, is a treatise on the formation of the earth sustaining the theory that science and the Bible agree. It is as complete an exposition of this theory as is found in many large and pretentious volumes. Electricity, by James E. D. Miller, is a well written article, containing simple experiments illustrative of the force and application of this wonderful agent; Chinese Classics, by Apostle Moses Thatcher, presents the choicest quotations from the writings of Confucius and Mencius, for the student of Chinese literature, and the philosopher's commentary by the compiler, of intense interest. These are among the most attractive papers in the volume; the Religions of Christendom—Faith, policy and work of the following churches: Episcopal, by Rev. E. D. Miller; Catholic, by Prof. John J. A. Becker; Methodist, by Rev. T. C. Hill. "Why I am a Mormon"—testimonies of O. F. Whitney and C. W. Penrose; Ten Short Stories by popular local authors; Origina Poems by O. F. Whitney, A. J. Crocker, Lu Dalton and Ruby Lamont; Comments of the Day—Timely Topics dealt upon by President Joseph B. Smith and Apostle F. M. Lyman; Epistle to the Young Men of Zion, by Wilford Woodruff.

Volume Eight will prove a valuable acquisition to every family library.

First District Court, Provo.

The case of the People vs. John Larsen, grand larceny, was concluded yesterday, defendant being found guilty as charged.

The People vs. Geo. Sagera was tried and went to the jury yesterday afternoon (5th); grand larceny.

James Bailey was arraigned on a charge of assault with intent to kill. The Court appointed A. Saxy and Jacob Johnson to defend the prisoner. Defendant took the statutory time to plead.

John Walworth was arraigned on a charge of unlawful cohabitation, and took time to enter his plea.

Henry Nelson was arraigned on a charge of grand larceny, and took time to plead.

E. E. King entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of unlawful cohabitation.

James W. Crisp entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

A motion was made to quash the indictment against Chas. Allred for grand larceny, because the name of a certain witness examined before the grand jury was not endorsed on the indictment, and others who testified on the original indictment were not on the copy; therefore the Court ordered a new indictment be returned.

Allred, implicated with Pratt Allred, Calvert Allred and David R. Koston, for taking 200 pounds of wool, the property of one Andrew Jensen. Defendant took two days in which to enter his plea. The other defendants are not yet arrested.

The case of the People vs. James Fuller was on call at close of mail.

G. A. Miller Pardoned.

Yesterday afternoon George A. Miller emerged from the penitentiary, having been pardoned by Governor West on the following recommendation: "To His Excellency, Governor West: Your memorialists, the undersigned, most respectfully present for your pardon the case of George A. Miller, now undergoing the execution of a sentence of the Second Judicial District Court, of 12 months' imprisonment in the Utah Penitentiary for stabbing Frank McNeil at St. George.

Executive clemency is solicited for the following among other reasons: The before named George A. Miller, unmarried, although twenty-one years of age, is a boy in his development of mind. The young man is fatherless, and his mother and family need his labor to aid in providing for the family's wants.

The defendant, Miller, has now served one-half of the time for which he was sentenced.

A letter sent to his mother, also in letters sent to others, he expresses deep repentance, and makes earnest solicitation to have his Excellency moved to lessen his term of imprisonment.

All of which is respectfully submitted in the interest of mercy. And as in duty bound your petitioners will ever remain, Sir, your obedient servants.

The request is signed by Charles W. Zane, prosecuting attorney; Justice of the Peace Frank McNeil, Judge Boreman and others.

A Forged Check.

Sheriff Turner received a letter from J. W. Jenkins and J. W. Salt Lake City, asking that a check for $100.00 be cashed for him. The check was for $100.00 and was signed by J. W. Jenkins. The check was cashed and the money was sent to Jenkins.

Instead of Canfield coming to Provo, he goes north instead, and plays the same trick with another firm. He was arrested yesterday and will be tried on the two charges of forgery. —Provo Enquirer.

Diphtheria.

There are now seven cases of diphtheria quarantined at as many different houses in the Seventeenth Ward. It is a long time since there were so many children afflicted at one time in the same locality, with the terrible disease, and no cause is known for the sudden outbreak in that neighborhood. Yellow flags are flying at the corner of First West and South Temple streets, and further north at the residences of Messrs. Williams, Taylor, Cannon, Woodruff, Richards and Dowden. Mr. Dowden's child has succumbed to the disease. A case in the home in the family of Mr. Hamilton, at Hyde's Alley, in the Thirteenth Ward.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Frank Goodsell Literally Torn to Pieces.

A horrible accident occurred last Saturday at West & Co.'s saw mill, about twenty miles east of Franklin, whereby one Frank Goodsell lost his life in a most horrible manner. It appears that he was engaged in a job of engine that runs the pump and by some means his jumper caught in the belt and he was revolved around the main shaft of the engine with great velocity until every bone in his body was shattered. A large iron bolt or extra shaft scattered about in the mill in a most horrible manner. His heart was found in one place and his lungs and liver in another. The justice of the peace was notified and it was deemed not necessary to hold an inquest. The fragments were gathered together and placed in a coffin and delivered to his wife, who resides about half way down the cañon. By the way his wife is better known by the name of Ann Swanner and is well known in Saltville. Mr. Goodsell was a good engineer and was well liked by every one who knew him. His employers speak well of him. —Logan Journal, Oct. 5.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING.

Valuable Suggestions From Experienced Workers.

There was a good attendance at the monthly meeting of Sunday school officers and teachers, held on Monday evening, the 31st inst.

The singing exercises for opening and closing were rendered by the Fifth Ward choir, led by Brother George Clark.

Supt. John C. Cutler announced that a number of Sunday school workers would be called upon to occupy about the same places each in speaking on subjects of interest to Sunday schools, instead of a prepared programme being rendered.

Supt. George Clark, of the Fifth Ward school, was the first speaker called upon. He said he considered Sunday school labor a most important, and felt like congratulating all engaged in it. In the school over which he presided it was noticeable that improvement was being made. The teachers were very faithful in their labors, and the students took great interest in the school.

Persons had been sent to the houses of those living in the ward to encourage parents to send their children to Sunday school. This had a good effect, and there were now scarcely room enough to accommodate them all. He regretted that parents did not always show as much interest in the Sunday school cause as the children did.

BROTHER ALBERT EDWARDS, of the Nineteenth Ward school, said he had been interested in Sunday school matters for a good many years, and was desirous of doing all he could to encourage his fellow laborers, and to help in such an important cause. While there were many in our midst who are active in trying to lead the youth from the faith of their parents, it was necessary for our children to be looked after.

Superintendent Paul Elkins, of the Sugar House Ward school, remarked that if many among us were only half as zealous in training children under their care as are some people who have not the true gospel, youth would be better taught. Those who are not willing to labor in Sunday schools have not the love of God at heart. He believed the fruits of our labors would be realized and appreciated in the future, and that they would be very great.

Brother D. M. Ross, of the Nineteenth Ward school, had been a member of several Sabbath schools in this State of Zion in his experience he found some teachers who had very poor methods of conducting classes and imparting instruction to their pupils. Children should be given opportunities to reason upon the principles which it is desired they should understand. Their minds should be drawn out upon the subjects placed before them, by questioning them, and finding out whether they really understood what is intended to be impressed upon their memories. A child should read a book or study a lesson to memory alone, but it was the teacher's duty to see that he understood the meaning conveyed in the words as well as in the definitions of those words. The method of oral teaching in the Sabbath schools was a vast improvement upon the methods formerly used to a large extent. He believed the catechism cards, and such things that have been published for use in Sunday schools, were intended to aid the teacher, and not to take his place.

SUP. W. J. BEATTIE, of the Seventeenth Ward Sunday school, said his experience in Sunday schools was limited. He found it to be an easy matter to plan some method of procedure, but it was often difficult to put it into practice. The Sunday school labor was one of love. No force should be used, but strict discipline in order to get proper discipline. A good deal of patience should be exercised by the teachers. Young people should be encouraged to act as teachers, and be diligent and faithful. He intended to find out how many there were of the children in the ward who did not attend school, and then take steps to get them there by having their parents visited and reminded of the necessity of sending their children to Sunday school.

Superintendent Cutler considered the visit of laborers to the parents, in order to get them interested enough to send their children to Sunday school, a good one, and recommended it to superintendents.

Brother C. F. Wilcox, of the Fourteenth Ward school, said he had been a teacher in Sunday schools for many years, and in imparting instruction tried to profit by his own experience as a pupil. He said he desired to call attention more particularly to what he considered the best method of teaching classes in the Book of Mormon. To many young people the book appeared uninteresting, simply because they were not acquainted with its contents and did not know how to go about studying it. It was so large that several years would be spent in reading it through, by taking one chapter at a time and reading only that. Only one chapter. Before getting through the book the students would lose records from their memories. The order of the book, which the book records, after thoroughly acquainting himself with the book, the teacher should first impart to his pupils the nature of the work, of whom it speaks, how it came forth in this age, etc., all of which would be a part of a particular doctrine, or teaching, and then proceed to a comprehensive manner as a lesson to the students. This should be done by such a teacher as the pupils will remember all the incidents connected with the events which they read about. It is not necessary that the book should be read in the exact order in which it is written, any more than the Old Testament should be read before the class, it might be read by the pupils at home, and the time used on Sunday morning for the study of the matter it contains, and making necessary explanations.

Several places were sung by the congregation during the evening, and also a duet by two little boys from the Fifth Ward Sunday School.

Meeting adjourned one month, to convene at 7 o'clock instead of 7:30 as heretofore. E. F. PARRY, Pres. Sec'y.

Third District Court.

Proceedings before Judge Zane today: F. C. Thurston et al. vs. Herman Hill et al.; order to return depositions for correction.

The People vs. John Taylor and Philip Bond; murder in the first degree; defendants arraigned and pleaded not guilty; two days allowed to change plea.

The People vs. Wm. J. Foster; embezzlement; the Court charged jury, who retired for consideration of verdict.

United States vs. John Pett and another; unlawful cohabitation; verdict of guilty; sentence set for Oct. 12.
