IMPORTANT TO THE TRAVELING PUBLIC.

It is the duty of all persons before starting on a journey to ascertain by what route they can reach their destination with the least trouble, and if there are two or more routes leading to the same point, to decide which is the safest and pleasantest to travel.

We take pleasure in stating, that the CHICAGO & NORTH-WESTERN RAILWAY is the oldest, and several miles the shortest, route between Omaha and Chicago. Within the last two years the road bed has been put in admirable condition, and almost the entire line has been relaid with steel rails.

The Depot in Chicago is centrally located, and as their trains arrive there thirty minutes in advance of all other lines, passengers are always sure of making East connections.

These connections are made at Chicago with the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, Michigan Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Pittsburgh & Wayne & Chicago, Kaukauba & Chicago and Pan Handle Routes, for all points EAST and SOUTH-EAST.

If you are going to Chicago, or East, you should, by all means, purchase your tickets on the Old Pioneer Route.

The Chicago and North-Western.

You will find on all through trains Pullman Sleepers, new and magnificent Day Coaches, and the best Smoking and Second Class Cars now on any road in the United States.

Particular information with maps, time tables, etc., may be had at any of the Through Ticket Offices in the West, or upon personal or written application to J. W. Trons, Ticket Agent, Salt Lake City, A. H. Earl, Ticket Agent at Ogden, or to J. H. Mountain, Western Traveling Agent, Omaha, Neb., or to W. H. Stennett, General Passenger Agent, Chicago.

EVENING NEWS.

Thursday, September 23, 1875.

Local and Other Matters.

THERMOMETER 82 degrees F. in the shade at 1 p.m. to-day. Fine.

Arrived.—Col. W. H. Dame arrived in the City, last evening, from Beaver, in custody of deputy U. S. Marshal Stokes. He was immediately taken to the penitentiary.

No Damage.—The flaring up of a blaze from a lighted lamp, on the premises of Mr. Robert First South Street, about six o'clock last evening, caused the fire alarm to be rung and the firemen to be called out. The flame was soon extinguished, without damage.

Terminated Fatally.—A few days since the NEWS noticed the fact that a little boy, son of George Marsh, of the 11th Ward, had his hand crushed in the rollers of a mangle, and that it was subsequently amputated. We regret to learn that the unfortunate little fellow died last night, from the effects of the accident.

Nearly Drowned.—On Tuesday evening a little boy, named Brough, fell into a reservoir on the premises occupied by Col. Sells, in the north part of the 20th Ward, and probably would have been drowned but for the timely aid of a young woman, who rushed to his assistance and pulled him out. The water was eight feet deep in the reservoir at the time.

"Out of the Frying Pan into the Fire."—The notorious, indomitable and irrepressible Ben Tasker is in another fix. Should he succeed in giving bonds in the Utah County horse-stealing case, another charge awaits him in this county, the evidence being said to be very strong, that he stole a plow from the farm of Bishop John Sharp and another from Mr. Willard Snow, also a set of harness from Mr. Leggett. The parties named were found on the Cotton farm, and said to have been taken there by Tasker.

Overturn.—About noon to-day a couple of ladies and a child, with a quantity of peaches, were driving down East Temple street in a buggy. The horse gave a couple of sharp turns, or shies, which dumped the vehicle over on its side, and threw the two ladies, the child, and the peaches out upon the street, and the horse started northward, dragging the buggy along on its side. He was soon caught and a gentleman jumped into the vehicle, gave it a couple of turns, to see if it was alright, got the two ladies, the child and the peaches on board again, and they drove off again without more ado.

On Railroad Business.—Last night W. W. Riter, Esq., returned from a business trip to New York. While there he purchased a locomotive and eight cars for the Summit County railroad.

He met with quite a large number of Salt Lake people in New York City, who generally manage to get together in one place occasionally. He met with so many that he facetiously calls them the Salt Lake colony of New York City.

He had rather a rough time going eastward, owing to the Coon River, in Iowa, overflowing for miles, and washing away portions of the C. & R. I. railroad. The train that the one on which he was traveling expected to meet on the 6th or 7th inst. was wrecked, by the floods, a brakeman was killed and some of the passengers supposed to be lost. The baggage man was taken out of the baggage car, in which the water was so high that he had to stand on top to keep his head above it.

Owing to the bridges being down and the line damaged, Mr. Riter and the other male passengers had to tramp over the hills and through the marshes of Iowa a distance of fifteen miles, which was most fatiguing work in the hot weather.

Deplorable Accident.—This morning, before sunrise, Brigham Clayton, aged eighteen years, son of Bro. William Clayton, was over Jordan hunting ducks. By some means or other his gun was accidentally discharged, the contents entering and passing directly through his left arm, between the elbow and shoulder, completely shattering the bone, and tearing in shreds the muscles, sinews and arteries, besides the part being severely burned by the charge, which shows that the muzzle of the gun must have been close to the arm when it was discharged. The unfortunate youth was conveyed to his home, in the 17th Ward, in a wagon, by Brother Martin H. Peck.

It is supposed that the young man was standing with the butt of the gun on the ground and his arm resting on the muzzle, and that he thoughtlessly touched the trigger with his foot while in that position. Dr. Benedict was immediately sent for to attend him, and it is the opinion of that surgeon that the injured limb will have to be amputated.

Nose Twisting.—About noon to-day a man well advanced in years and another considerably younger, had a quarrel, near the front of Sears' shoe store. They did not get after each other in the ordinary and vulgar pugilistic or rough and tumble style, but each did his best to denude the face of the other of its nasal protuberance. The grip of the older of the two appeared to be the stronger, or else the nose of the younger one was the weaker, as the blood flowed from it in a scarlet stream. The belligerents were separated by a pacific bystander.

"Utah and Her Founders."—We were pleased to receive a visit to-day from E. W. Tullidge, Esq., who reached this city from New York on Tuesday evening. He has been very successful in forwarding the preparations for the publication of his new work, "Utah and Her Founders," which will soon be given to the public. The manuscript has all been printed in sheets by means of a "type-writer," a machine manipulated by means of keys, which puts the work almost in the form of a first edition, in a shape that can be subjected to close revision before its setting in type for the press.

We learn from Mr. Tullidge that Catherine Rogers will place his play of "Ben Israel" upon the stage of the Globe Theatre, Boston, during her present engagement there. She is very sanguine that it will have a large run and rank among the best dramatic productions of modern times.

Third District Court.—The Court met at 11 o'clock to-day, Associate Justice Jacob S. Borenman presiding, for the purpose of drawing a grand and petit jury for the October Term.

The Court stated that after the drawing of the jurors an adjournment would be taken till the 11th day of October, when the October Term would commence. The first thing that would then be done would be the reading of all the cases on the docket, by the clerk, for the purpose of ascertaining which were and which were not jury cases. The first week of the Term would be devoted to cases on the law calendar, and no cases requiring a jury would be taken up till the first Monday in November. On the latter date the criminal docket would be taken up, and after that was disposed of civil cases involving jury trials. The docket would be made out by the clerk, the criminal one under the supervision of the District Attorney. When the docket was arranged and called, each case in its order, the members of the bar must understand that they could not come into court with the excuse that they were not aware when the cases in which they were interested would be called.

To facilitate business, parties wishing a continuance would be expected to make their affidavits and other papers ready at the time the particular case was called, as the Court would not promise to wait for them to make the preliminaries after the calling of the case, and the parties might, by neglecting those matters, be forced to trial against their will.

In order to save time and dispose of business with dispatch, it was desirable that attorneys should submit motions without argument, with or without briefs.

Five civil cases would be called for each day, and each day's cases would be disposed of before others would be called. The District Attorney would arrange about the number of criminal cases to be called.

U. S. Marshal Maxwell drew the following names on the jury list, from the ballot box, the numbers in front of the names indicating their order on the original list, and those after the names the order in which they were drawn.

Theatricals in Sacramento.—After presenting tragedy, low comedy, comedy drama, and drama, and sentimental, sensational and farcical, last week, and playing to poor business all the time, manager Piper got desperate, brought out his reserved gun, long held ready for use, and last evening fired it off dramatically. The result was a house "packed from pit to dome," as the old hills read. And what was it? Neither comedy, drama, tragedy, nor farce, but a variety minstrel character piece, utterly indescribable and away beyond the pale of criticism. It represented three country youths stricken to the metropolis, and followed by their sweethearts, who, in the guise of organ-grinders, tramps, gypsies, and all manner of wretched and low-down characters, guard them from harm and read them a lesson on constancy. The piece is an old one, in which Ads Isaac Menken used to delight.

It has little plot, not a whit of literary merit, is full of slang, and brims with disguises and character acting. It gives Miss Walton and Miss Firmin opportunity to show remarkable versatility and to sing some pretty songs. It closes with a female minstrel performance and a bit of extravagant nonsense, but it seemed to greatly please, and kept the large audience in row of laughter the whole evening. Same bill this evening. The management has invited General Sheridan and party to visit the Theatre on this evening, and has decorated a box for him in case he should accept.—Sacramento Record-Union, Sept. 21.

Our Country Contemporaries. Ogden Junction, Sept. 22—

This morning Thomas Wright, a five year old son of Mr. J. Wright, was talking with another boy near his father's residence, when the latter desired him to go and ask Mr. Terry's son, who was just passing on horseback, for the old break down. He went near the horse's hind legs, and received a violent kick on the nose and brow. Dr. P. L. Anderson was soon in attendance, and found the nose cut through into the nasal cavity, and the eyebrow laid bare to the bone, the wound being about 2 1/2 inches long. He saved it by using four stitches, without chloroform, the little fellow bearing the pain manfully. The Doctor feared at first that the bone was fractured, but thinks now the patient will soon recover.
