WOMAN'S ADVENTURE WITH A RATTLESNAKE.-George Case, a Preaching .- The following Elders | constable of London, a few days ago, was away from the house at work on the farm, and the mother had stepped out of the house for a short time, leaving a little girl of eighteen months alone. Hearing the child laughing in great appar-ent glee, she looked in and was horrified to see it striking at a large marging or margh ratio large marassaugus, or marsh rattlesnake, and when it would make a lunge to bite, the child would laugh, supposing it play. A pet cat was between the child and the snake, using all its strength by rubbing against it to keep it out of danger. It is the epinion of the parents that they are indebted to the cat for their child's life. In this case the mother seized the child and placed it in the middle of the highest bed in the house; then she, all unmindful that she had

R. Lewellyn tells of the increase of the water supply at Fountain Green, Sanpete, as follows-

"Our crops look well; several patches of wheat, oats, and barley have been cut. I recollect well, in 1859, when we, came here first, we thought there was about enough water for a dczen families, providing we were economical, now there are in the neighborhood of a thousand inhabitants in this place and we have watered, from our main spring, 1506 acres; from Birch Creek, 400 acres; and from Pole Cañon Creek, 120 acres; making a total of 2026 acres. "We are under the strictest discipline in watering. We do not consider that we have a right to waate that element more than any other, and it seems to me that we are blest by the Almighty in our efforts." The increased supply of water in turned last evening from a mission these valleys throughout, since to the Eastern States. He left here their first settlement, is very re- on the 15th of last November, and
