Stung!
On Main street where the cars stop, a weary, worn and sad head of a family was assisting his wife and three children off the car that had just come in from the Buffalo Bill show half an hour before the performance had concluded.

"All off, this car goes back to the Fair grounds!" cried the conductor, and then came the retort from the over-burdened father. "Going back for another load of suckers?" The entire family smiled wistfully and drifted toward the sidewalk.

This actual occurrence reflected the sentiments of a large majority of the 14,000 people who paid their money to see the show last night and some of those who were short-changed, in the sidewalks.

Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show, which recently was acquired by the Ringling brothers' syndicate, is not in the same class with the original show which came west some years ago. A number of the old features are there, with a few new ones in the form of an equestrian football game and a train holdup.

To the casual observer the show lacks an executive head who is master of detail both as regards the show itself and the handling of the crowd. For a time the ushers bore up bravely, but last night against the odds, and then threw up their hands and let the holders of reserved seat checks take any old seat and fight out the issue among themselves.

WILD INDIVIDUALS.

There were some very wild individuals at the Fair grounds last night. For a time the ushers bore up bravely, but last night against the odds, and then threw up their hands and let the holders of reserved seat checks take any old seat and fight out the issue among themselves.

The facilities for seating the large crowd were so poor that many hundreds left the tent before the show was half over. Those who remained found little consolation in examining the spreading Merry Widow hats in front of or in the momentary expectation of featuring the occasion by taking the high dive backwards. The rows of iron chairs were placed so near together that either one must be satisfied with planting one's knees in the small of his neighbor's back, or in moving his own chair half an inch and falling into the mysterious, unlighted part of the tent. This reverses to the reserved seats, in many only for the attaches of the show not only made a slovenly appearance, but created the patrons in a slovenly fashion.

FIRST COME FIRST SERVED.
After all the available seats were sold, they were still apparently sold and sold and re-sold, and those who came to occupy their seats—those who were already there—found that the seats were not reserved. This was a large portion of those possessing tickets for the reserved block, in the 30-foot space directly in front of the reserved block. Unhappily, the patrons discovered that neither are circus goers transparent or are Merry Widow hats interesting, therefore the exodus of many before the show was more than half completed.

TOO MUCH COACHING.
The Wild West show has changed in few of its particulars, but its general character is more in the nature of a circus. The mounted push ball contest was novel, but drew comparatively little enthusiasm, as the spectators could plainly hear the words of direction as to where the huge ball was to go next. It was a new idea, however, and was the most interesting feature of the evening. The only other new feature of the show was the train robbery, which drew well gotten up. The character of each of the wild west acts is in almost every instance the same: Indians and cowboys attacking each other, fast riding and such shooting into the air. The audience last night expected to see something new and they also were led to expect accommodations corresponding with the price of admission. They were disappointed.

HOLMES GOES TO DENVER

Former University of Utah Coach Leaves University of Southern California to Take Better Position.

After an absence of four years, Harvey R. Holmes, coach and instructor at the University of Utah for some years, arrived in Salt Lake yesterday from Los Angeles, where he has been since he left this city. He has been instructor in athletics at the University of Southern California, and says that he has enjoyed every moment of his time and his efforts have met with a continual round of success.

"During my four years' work in California," said he, "I have lost but one football game and one track meet, and I believe that my success there is largely due to my experience here, as both institutions passed through the same period of athletic development during the time I was with them. My work in Denver will consist in instructing a business men's class from 4 until 6 o'clock in the afternoon; it will be a rest, and with no responsibility on my shoulders, I expect to spend a pleasant winter."

Mr. Holmes asked concerning all of his old football associates, and showed great interest as to the present condition of Salt Lake athletics. He looks well and is the same Harvey who could butt over the Temple block wall, were it necessary. Mr. Holmes is stopping at the Kenyon, and will leave for Denver tomorrow morning.

AUTO TO YELLOWSTONE.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wey and Daughter Return from Long Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wey and daughter have returned from an extensive automobile trip extending from this city to the Yellowstone reservation. An attempt was made to enter the park, but this was forbidden by the soldiers. Several times it was necessary to ford streams—twice the Snake, and as the car was under water, it would have been a serious matter if the car had been secured at such times to get the car and its occupants from bank to bank. The tourists slept in their auto, and ate at farm house, as hotels were not available; and had an experience they will not be likely to forget. There were no unpleasant incidents.

If your wife looks tired out, doesn't eat, can't sleep, buy her a package of Hollier's Rocky Mountain Tea. The greatest tonic for mothers; keeps them well and happy. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. Godbe-Pitts Drug Co.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

A brilliant wedding of last night was that of Miss Martha Hansen and Abram H. Cannon, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Hansen, following the marriage which was solemnized in the morning at the Temple. The rooms were decorated with a profusion of flowers, the parlor in pink and white asters and palms, the library in gold and white, and the dining room in red and white asters, while the lawn outside was white with white asters. The bride wore a dainty lingerie gown with trimmings of baby Irish lace and carried bride's roses. She had no attendants.

Assisting in receiving were the brides' parents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Hansen and Mrs. S. A. J. Cannon, the mother of the groom. The groom was served in the library by Miss Nellie Brown and Miss Renee Anderson and a number of the young girl friends of the bride assisted in the dining room. Refreshments were served on the lawn. About 175 guests were present. Mr. and Mrs. Cannon will make their home here.

Another pretty wedding of last night was that of Miss Margaret Dunford and E. A. Clavier, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Dunford, the ceremony having been performed during the day at the Temple. The rooms were beautifully decorated, each in different colors, roses, asters, sunflowers and gold and white being used in the dining room. The dining room was especially pretty in the autumn flowers and fruits, a large basket of the latter forming a centerpiece for the table.

The bride wore a handsome gown of white chiffon over satin and carried bride's roses. Her traveling gown was of navy blue with hat and gloves to match. A number of friends assisted in entertaining and receiving with the bride and groom were Dr. and Mrs. Dunford, and Mr. and Mrs. Gardner. In the dining room were Misses Ada Crane, Della Riley, Ethel Lawson, Rachel and Mary Wille. Nearly 200 guests were present. Afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Gardner left for a trip to the coast but will be at home after Oct. 1.

Rev. C. E. Perkins performed the ceremony uniting Miss Ethel Kelly and J. W. O'Donnell yesterday morning at the home of the bride's parents, which was beautifully decorated for the event, a variety of flowers being used in the different rooms. In the parlor were asters and roses, in the dining room pink and white sweet peas, and in the hall sunflowers and gold and white. The dining room was a picture with its table done in pink and white, with asters forming a centerpiece and pink and white sunflowers and gold and white. The chandelier to the four corners, and pink shaded candelabra aiding in the effect. The bride was groomed in white and carried white roses. A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony and afterward Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnell left for a short wedding trip. They will make their home at Missoula, Mont.

Miss Lillian L. Redman and Clifford Niver, of Los Angeles, were married last night at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Redman, the rooms being prettily decorated and only the immediate friends present. Refreshments were served and later, Mr. and Mrs. Niver left for Los Angeles, where they will reside, visiting San Francisco and the Yosemite valley on their way.

Mrs. John Cain entertained at a bridge tea yesterday, the decorations being in autumn flowers and fruits, and six tables played. Prizes were awarded at each table. A number of friends assisted the hostess in serving.

The party given last night by Miss Katherine Judge at "The Cobble" was a delightful affair, and about 50 were present to enjoy it. Supper was served on the lawn, and dancing was the feature of the evening.

Mrs. R. C. Easton and Miss Nan Clawson leave today for New York, where Miss Clawson will re-enter school.

Mrs. Ledyard M. Bailey entertained at a delightful morning party yesterday for her guest, Mrs. George Matthews, the guest being spent with interesting reminiscences of travel from a number of women present, and other features being a review by Mrs. C. E. Richards, of Mrs. Russell Schuler's novel, "Virginia Russell," and musical numbers by Miss Agatha Berkhoel. A luncheon followed, the table being decorated in yellow marigolds, while the floral festoons throughout were in yellow. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. F. J. Fabian and Mrs. Karl Scheld. About 40 guests were present.

Mrs. Jack Hosmer was guest of honor at an unique affair yesterday, given by Mrs. F. H. Kuckelbrocker, the amusement being a game called "Progressive angling," and all details having marine suggestion. Fish nets, interwoven with sunflowers, stretched across the corners, a bowl of gold fish made the table centerpiece in the dining room, the place cards were kept brownies, the favors sea shells, and the prizes baskets of sea mosses and kelp. About 24 guests were present.

Mrs. J. E. Wells surprised her father, Prof. George Careless by dropping in on him yesterday day, she expected from St. Louis. Mrs. Wells, who left Salt Lake nine years ago, has resided in both Baltimore and St. Louis, her father not having been in the railroad business in the last named city. She will visit here for several week to come.

SALVATION ARMY WEDDING.

At Salvation Army headquarters at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, Miss Frances A. Brown and Arthur Knox Tripp, two members of the local Salvation Army, were united in marriage. The Salvation Army ceremony was performed by Staff Captain Karl Soderholm. This ceremony does not particularly differ from that of any other church service except that it includes a program which occupies about an hour. After the marriage ceremony had been performed, friends and relatives stood up and made testimonial speeches, telling what they knew of the young people and wishing them happiness for married life.

Standing up with Miss Brown and Mr. Tripp during the ceremony were Lieut. Alice Ohs, Miss Margaret Cameron, Roland P. Cox and Everett March. Miss Brown is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brown of 1200 south State street, and Mr. Tripp is the son of Mrs. C. M. Tripp of 358 south West Tenth street.

The pair was engaged in rescue work when they first met each other.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theater.—The final performance in this city of "The Girl and the Governor," by the Salt Lake Opera company, will occur at the theater tonight. It was a decided tribute to the popularity of the company, that in spite of the throngs which attended the "Buffalo Bill" show, the theater still held a handsome audience last evening. The big features of the opera were as vociferously applauded as ever, especially the "Lucia" interpolation.

The farewell performances will be given in Provo Monday next, matinee and night, Tuesday in Logan, and Wednesday afternoon and evening, in Ogden.

The advance sale is now going on for "The Time, the Place and the Girl," which opens at the theater tomorrow night.

Orpheum.—This week's bill is drawing a good business, and the headlines are heartily applauded by the patrons of the house.

Grand.—"Two Little Vagrants," which is being presented at the Grand, drew a big audience yesterday in spite of the counter attractions. Next week's offering will be a revival of "Camille."

Lyric.—"Quo Vadis" is proving one of the most popular bills which the cameraphone has yet presented. The Paris balloon races and other features of the program are also strong features. The usual change will be made Saturday afternoon.

HIGH SCHOOL GOSSIP.

Elmer Beesley has returned to High school to complete his course after spending one year at the L. D. S. university. He was the star pole vaulter of the 1907 High school track team and will be a great addition to the present team.

Wednesday the pupils were assigned to their respective classes and had their lessons assigned for today. It was a busy day.

Twenty candidates reported to practice Wednesday, and Coach McNeely feels highly encouraged over the prospects. The team is now hard at work.

Rex Shores, who was captain of the High school football team, and Reed Wimmer, a guard on the same team, leave this afternoon for Los Angeles, where the parents of the former have moved. Shores and Wimmer will attend the Los Angeles High school and will try out for the team.
