FLOATING FRAGMENTS.

Fifty members were added to the Church by baptism in the London Conference, during the month of August.

President W. Budge, of Bear Lake Stake, left this afternoon for Logan on the way to his home in the north.

The Mrs. Garfield fund has now reached the large sum of three hundred and thirty-nine thousand and ninety-three dollars.

The weather betrays to assume a wintry aspect. There was a light fall of snow in the valley this morning, and a more plentiful one in the mountains.

A Conference was held in Manchester, England, on Sept. 11th. The Elders present from Utah were: Apostle Albert Carrington, President of the European Mission; Elders Moroni Brown, President of, and R. E. Rieh, N. Farr, and R. Kewley, Traveling Elders in the Manchester Conference. The Manchester Conference, held in the Liverpool Conference. Most of the brethren addressed the meetings.

On Tuesday evening, near Bear River, a portion of a freight train parted from the main body of it and was left short distance behind. It caught up again and a slight collision was the result. A passenger named J. C. Van der Fort was thrown against the stove in the carriage in which he was riding, and was injured in his breast and the back of his head. He is not dangerously hurt. So we learn from the Ogden Herald.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Church Authorities.—To-morrow morning President Taylor and a party of leading brethren leave for a trip northward. They will visit the settlements in Box Elder County, and probably Malad and other adjacent settlements in that part of Idaho.

Information Wanted of William C. Kemp, who left Hereford, England, in May, 1879, for Salt Lake City, and who resided for some time in the 19th Ward. Address: Mary Ann Johnson, Scout-Mill House, Ledbury Road, Hereford, England.—Mill Star.

Going North.—To-morrow morning Mr. Richard J. Lambert, an attaché of the business department of this office, will leave for a trip through the settlements of Cache and Bear Lake, in the interests of the News. He goes in the capacity of traveling agent, and we speak for him a cordial reception at the hands of our numerous friends and patrons, which is sure to be accorded to him.

Clemetshaw's Case.—J. H. Clemetshaw, well known in these parts as a very bad man—who was sentenced to 14 years imprisonment in San Francisco, for perjury in the Kallach-De Young murder case, appeared at the Supreme Court of the State of California. The decision was rendered last Saturday. It confirms that of the lower court; so that notorious and unscrupulous character will have to serve out his term. He will have to put in a good deal of time in a place where he will be able to do the least harm, and consequently the "most good."

Married.—Yesterday Mr. Samuel S. Sudbury, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Sudbury, and Miss Alice Sansom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sansom, were united in marriage, Councillor D. H. Wells, performing the ceremony. A large number of friends assembled at the residence of the bride's parents last night, and spent a few happy hours together in a social capacity, in honor of the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Sudbury are an amiable and interesting couple, and have our congratulations and best wishes for their happiness.

Good the News.—We are pleased to note that the number of persons who subscribe for the WEEKLY NEWS to be sent to different parts of the world for what it does, is increasing. Brother Charles M. Leach, of Spanish Fork, does a good deal in that line. He sends us word this morning that he wants two more copies added to the four he has already subscribed for, to be sent for one year to the Georgia portion of the Southern States Mission.

Missionaries Inform us frequently that they are always sure of a cordial reception wherever the NEWS reaches.

Theatre.—A very good sized audience attended the Theatre last evening. "Carl the Emigrant" has many interesting and some exciting features. Its plot, however, is not very deep, but it gives opportunity for some good acting. Mr. Staley sings and plays well. His Tyrolean warbling taking immensely with the audience. Mr. Wilkes proved a very natural and funny drunkard and gained great applause from the upper circles. Mr. Lindley played with his usual care and ease, and all the performers were well received.

Exciting Runaway.—An exciting scene occurred on First South Street, yesterday. A team ran away and sped westward from the Eagle Emporium corner, the tongue of the wagon dragging on the ground. A young man named Albert Unger, one of the men working on the sidewalk in front of the butcher stalls, ran after the horses. The animals were making direct for the buggy of Mr. W. W. Ritter, which was standing near the Continental Hotel. Unger, almost to Mr. Ritter to look out, almost at the same moment springing into the runaway wagon. He crept forward, leaned over, caught the lines and dexterously pulled the team up to a standstill. One of the horses, struck against Mr. Ritter's buggy, but no damage was done. But for the action of Mr. Unger, the affair might have been serious.

BISHOP EDWIN D. WOOLLEY DEAD.

At 12:45 a.m. Bishop Edwin Dillworth Woolley breathed his last, surrounded by the members of his family. From about three o'clock yesterday afternoon it became evident that the end was approaching, and he appeared to suffer considerably for several hours. For some time before he died, however, he simply sank peacefully, and expired as gently as if passing off into a sleep.

Deceased was born on the 28th of June, 1808, at West Chester, Chester County, Pennsylvania. After hearing of the Prophet Joseph, he left his home in Rochester, Columbia County, Ohio, in 1837, and visited Kirtland for the purpose of seeing him. It was a time of trouble with the Saints, and Joseph had been forced to leave that part, and he did not meet him. Brother Woolley, however, found Joseph Smith, Sen., the Patriarch, or, as he was familiarly called, rather Smith, whom he took from Portage, where he was secreted from persecutors, and conveyed him to his home, in Rochester, keeping him that winter. It was at that time, in 1837, that he was baptized and became a member of the Church, Elder Lorenzo Barnes officiating. On the Sabbath following his baptism he was ordained to the High Priesthood, and appointed to preside over the Rochester Branch of the Church, which position he officiated in with the exception of some months in the winter of 1838-9, which he spent in preaching the Gospel, this being his first traveling and preaching mission. At that time, among others, he preached to Bishop Edward Hunter.

He removed from Rochester in 1839 and went to Quincy, Illinois, where he first met the Prophet Joseph Smith and his brother, Hyrum Smith, with whom he was ever after on the most intimate terms until they were martyred. In the Spring of 1840, by advice of the Prophet, Bro. Woolley went to Commerce, subsequently called Nauvoo, and in the fall of the same year went on a mission to Northumberland County, Pa., where he labored a year, bringing quite a number into the Church, some of whom are in Utah now. On his return to Nauvoo he engaged in the mercantile business, and at that time occurred a very noteworthy incident of his life, showing his characteristic devotion to the cause in which he was engaged.

The Prophet said to him, "Brother Woolley, we want all your goods for the building up of the Kingdom of God," or words to that effect. Brother Woolley gathered his whole stock of merchandise, excepting what he received from different houses to sell on commission, and packed them up ready for removal. He then went to Joseph and said: "I wish to know whether you also want the goods I have received on commission, and will pay the houses in St. Louis and other places I obtained them from, and whether you will send them to haul the goods away, or wish me to deliver them?"

The Prophet asked: "And you have packed all the other goods except those you have on commission, and are ready to hand them over?" "Yes," was the answer. "Then," said the Prophet with deep feeling, at the same time placing his hand affectionately on Brother Woolley's shoulder, "take your goods, replace them on your shelves and go on with your business." The Prophet had evidently only been testing him and found him equal to the occasion.

In 1842 Brother Woolley was sent on a mission to Massachusetts and Connecticut, returning in April, 1843. During that year a copy of the "Revelation on Celestial Marriage" was taken to his house by Hyrum Smith, and read to him. S. A. Woolley, his brother, who was then a lad, was in an up stairs room at the time, quite ill, was by a supernatural power enabled to hear and understand the revelation with perfect clearness at the time. The revelation was among the first who adopted the revelation in faith and practice.

It is a fact worthy of note that the residence of Edwin D. Woolley was the last house in Nauvoo visited by the Prophet and Patriarch Joseph and Hyrum before they went to Carthage jail. They dropped in as they were leaving, and as the Prophet stepped from the entrance as he was about to depart, he uttered the words, "I go as a lamb to the slaughter," &c.

Being driven out of Nauvoo, by persecutors, with the rest of the Saints, Brother Woolley left that place on the 5th of June, 1846, and proceeded to Winter Quarters, where he remained two years, coming to Utah in 1848, with President Brigham Young's company. In the fall of 1849 he went east to help Bishop Hunter with the emigration and to buy goods for the Church, both of which commissions he accomplished, returning in the fall of 1850. In 1853 he was commissioned by President Young to take a herd of cattle to California, on which errand he was absent five months. After his return, he was, in November of the same year, ordained a Bishop, and from that time until his death presided in that capacity over the 13th Ward. In 1853 and for several subsequent years Brother Woolley was employed by President Brigham Young to superintend his private business. He served several sessions as Representative to the Legislative Assembly. The deceased has 27 children, 20 of whom are now living, 11 sons and 9 daughters. He has 57 grand-children, all of whom are living, with the exception of 3 or 4. He has 11 great-grandchildren, 9 of whom are living, the aggregate of his issue, in a direct line, being consequently 66, making him a patriarch of a numerous branch of connection.

Bishop Edwin D. Woolley was a good and useful man. It is doubtful if one more industrious could be found anywhere. His life was one almost continuous scene of endeavor. He was exceedingly outspoken, uttering his sentiments sometimes without much regard to consequences. He was what might be termed a plain, honest man, whose integrity to the cause of the Kingdom of God was beyond question. Under his unusual frankness of manner he carried a kind and manly heart, and he goes to the beyond with an excellent record. He was a man who heartily disliked every species of sham, and was greatly esteemed and respected in the community. Bishop Woolley was short of stature, squarely built, and had a good-sized head, the forehead being full and broad. The family have the sympathy of the community in the departure of their worthy head, but they have the consolation of knowing that he fell like the mellow fruit from the tree, fully ripe, both in years and good works.

The funeral services will be conducted at the 13th Ward Assembly Rooms, where often his voice has been heard when he was in the vigor of life. They will begin at 10 a.m. on Sunday morning. The family extend an invitation to all friends to be present on the occasion.

A Furious Enslaved.—A remarkable incident has come to our knowledge, which exhibits the care which should be taken by men engaged in freighting in the north, to protect themselves against the raids of cattle thieves. Mr. J. P. Anderson has a contract for freighting blasting powder from Corlaine to Idaho and Montana, chiefly the latter Territory. Not long since he and seven teamsters, mostly young men from Bear River City, Box Elder County, were traveling north with several wagons. When some distance this side of Blackfoot a couple of mounted men visited them. The appearance of the couple, combined with the inquiries they made respecting where the boys intended camping at night, made the latter suspect they were horse thieves. After they left, Mr. Anderson determined to drive late and be more than usually cautious. They did not stop till late at night and placed the horses in a bend of the river with two men to guard them at the neck of the bend, while the others prepared supper. In a short time one of the guards rushed into camp and reported that two mounted men were among the horses. Presently the other came in and said the two men had dismounted and were in the midst of the animals.

Mr. Anderson, a young man named L. Hansen and two others immediately armed themselves and started for the bend. Two were left at the neck of the bend while Anderson and Hansen ran down to where the horses were. Hansen got close to them first, being young and fleet-footed, while Anderson was lame. Hansen called on the strangers to stand. They responded by firing at him, he replying with his rifle. The shots flew thick and fast for awhile, when the desperadoes, now on their horses, commenced to retreat out of the bend. As they came up to where the two boys were stationed the latter opened fire on them from two sides, they replying with their revolvers. Hansen coming up in the meantime put in another shot or two from the rear, 13 being fired in all. The desperadoes escaped in the darkness. So far as known, no one was hurt. Had not the night been very dark it is almost certain that some one would have been killed. Had the teamsters not being on the alert and ready it is more than likely that they would have lost all their horses.

Not far from the same place, within a day or two of the time of the occurrence narrated above, a couple of mounted men rode up to a man traveling with a wagon and forced him to unharness one of his animals and give it to them. They then rode off with it.
